RADIO HANOI ANNOUNCES PRESIDENT HO CHI MINH IS DEAD
RADIO HANOI Wednesday announced that North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh is dead. In a broadcast monitored in London, Hanoi Radio said the 79-year-old revolutionary leader died in his sleep in Hanoi. The radio broke into a scheduled program to announce the news. Death came to the North Vietnamese President after a day of rumors and reports he lay on his death bed. The immediate cause of death was not announced Wednesday night. North Vietnamese diplomats had earlier confided in various world capitals that Ho was in "grave condition" from a serious illness. The son of a middle class family, Ho was educated partly in Paris but returned to the Indochina peninsula to help organize and lead a revolution against French rule. The nature of his illness was not reported but Ho is known to have been treated for both tuberculosis and heart trouble. He was a chain smoker. Announcements from Hanoi had hinted the end was near for the man whose determination to impose Communism throughout Vietnam has cost nearly 2 million lives in a quarter century of war and terror.

U.S. SUPPORT HURLED INTO BATTLE NEAR SONG BE
U.S. AIR AND ARTILLERY support was thrown into battle against North Vietnamese troops near Song Be Wednesday afternoon, but ground forces were withheld. The fighting 85 miles northeast of Saigon began Sunday when North Vietnamese troops caught a force of South Vietnamese militiamen and tribal mercenaries moving into a Communist regimental headquarters. Field reports said more than 200 South Vietnamese have been killed or wounded in the Song Be action. There was no report of North Vietnamese casualties.

HOPES FADE OF FINDING DR. PIKE ALIVE IN DESERT
HOPES FADED for finding former Episcopal bishop James A. Pike alive Wednesday night when hundreds of troops and Bedouin tribesmen returned to Bethlehem at sundown from a fruitless search of the Judean Desert. Long-time residents of Jerusalem and Bethlehem who know the Judean Desert were pessimistic about the missing cleric's chances of surviving longer than 24 hours in the broiling sands where temperatures climb to above 100 degrees.

NIXON PLANS TO ANNOUNCE CUTBACKS IN FEDERAL PROJECTS
IN A MOVE to combat inflation, President Nixon plans to announce this week, perhaps today, a hefty cutback in starts on new federal construction projects, the White House said Wednesday. The chief executive was expected to hammer out final decisions at his cabinet meeting this morning on the deferral of new projects funded with federal dollars. Full restrictions were expected to take effect April 1. The move could apply to projects solely financed by the federal government and to those in which Washington matches funds with the states.

PATHOLOGISTS FIND SEN. DIRKSEN'S TUMOR WAS CANCEROUS
THE TUMOR removed from Sen. Everett Dirksen's right lung was cancerous, Army doctors at Walter Reed Army Medical Center reported Wednesday. But they said it apparently had not spread and there was no need for further treatment. "The final pathologists' report on the lung nodule removed at surgery indicates that the tumor arose in the lung and was malignant," the afternoon bulletin said. The report said Sen. Dirksen's progress "continues to be excellent and he has not required assisted breathing for several hours."

TEACHER STRIKES CLOSE SCHOOLS IN 5 N.E. COMMUNITIES
TEACHER STRIKES closed schools in five New England communities as soon as they opened Wednesday, while walkouts threatened at several other school systems. Two-thirds of the 705 teachers at Manchester, N.H., failed to show up for classes. All 10 schools in North Providence, R.I., closed for lack of teachers, while East Haven, Conn., and New London, Conn., schools sent students home. Roosevelt Junior High School in New Bedford, Mass., closed for lack of teachers, although the city's 30 other schools remained open. At issue in most disputes were salary and fringe benefit agreements.

PRESIDENT DECIDES TO ESTABLISH OWN DRAFT SYSTEM
PRESIDENT NIXON, giving up hope that Congress will create a draft lottery this year, has decided to establish a random system on his own, it was learned Wednesday in Washington. It was not known when Nixon will issue an executive order directing the Selective Service System to implement a random selection method, but the order is expected soon, as Nixon indicated in remarks to the nation's governors in Colorado Springs Monday. The President proposed last spring that Congress rewrite the selective service law to provide for lottery selection. House and Senate leaders have admitted that chances are dim that draft legislation can be considered this year.

JUDGE REJECTS KOPECHNE FAMILY'S REQUEST TO BAR AUTOPSY
LUZERNE COUNTY JUDGE Bernard C. Brominski, in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Wednesday, suggesting the inquiry surrounding the death of Mary Jo Kopechne in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car was of a "criminal rather than a civil nature," rejected a request by her parents to bar an autopsy. Judge Brominski held that the petition for exhumation and autopsy filed by Massachusetts Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis failed to set forth sufficient facts under Pennsylvania law and give Dinis 20 days to file an amended petition. The motion filed by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kopechne, of Berkeley Heights, N.J., maintained Brominski's Common Pleas Court, criminal division, was without authority or jurisdiction to grant exhumation and autopsy. Meanwhile, in Edgartown, the next step in the case appeared to be up to Dist. Atty. Dinis to provide more details as to why he wants an autopsy performed on the 28-year-old secretary who was killed when a car driven by Sen. Kennedy plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island in mid-July.

MISSING CABIN CRUISER SPOTTED 40 MILES OFF CAPE COD
A 26-FOOT cabin cruiser, missing since Saturday, was spotted by a Coast Guard plane 40 miles off Nauset Beach Wednesday. The crew of the C130 craft, flying under a 400-foot overcast, reported the Cheryl B. Angel was drifting and the three persons aboard were waving "frantically" as the plane flew over. A helicopter was dispatched to relieve the plane and drop food and water to the Cheryl B. Angel. The Coast Guard Cutter Cape George from New Bedford, on search duty off Provincetown left for the scene. Aboard the cabin cruiser were John Maw, 48, the owner, and his son, John J., 16, of Saugus, and James Hanson, 18, of Melrose. They left Nahant on Saturday bound for Barnstable where they were to have met Maw's wife and two daughters.

Belated Medals For 2 Local Air Heroes

Outstanding French World War II awards for two Newton members of a combat bomber group finally caught up with them recently.

In 1946 General Charles DeGaulle, President of the Provisional French Government, awarded the Croix de Guerre with Palm to the 100th Bombardment Group.

Twenty-three years later two Newtonites, Harry H. Crosby and Horace L. Varian, members of the 100th in World War II were among those who received the award recently at a Group Reunion in Washington, D.C.

Major General Jean Garot, Defense and Air Attache, acting for the French Ambassador, presented the award to Varian and Crosby and some ninety other veterans of this famed bombing unit.

Mr. Crosby, who was the Group Navigator and Mr. Varian, who served in the 100th as the Ground Executive, helped mark the Group's 25th anniversary at Andrews Air Force Base.

Often known as the "Bloody Hundredth", this unit of the 8th Air Force flew more than 300 combat sorties against Germany during World War II. The Croix de Guerre citation calls the organization "a remarkable combat unit, possessing the finest military and professional qualities."

In addition to the French award, the 100th earned two Presidential Unit Citations from our own Government.

Mr. Crosby has an individual Croix de Guerre with silver star which was awarded for his all-contributions. Mr. Varian who has recently purchased a home at 1145 Boylston Street is a real estate broker with Auburndale Realty Company in Newton Upper Falls.

10th Annual For Brotherhood

Good Neighbor Night Will Honor Cardinal

On the occasion of the 10th Annual Good Neighbor Night of Brotherhood Temple Mishkan Tefila, to be held on Wednesday evening October 1, at the Temple Social Hall 300 Hammond Pond Parkway, Chestnut Hill, His Eminence, Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, will be singularly honored.

The first Annual Neifilhor Night of Brotherhood Temple Mishkan Tefila, let under the chairmanship of Ben Lipson, was held in October 1960 and with the initiation of this program the Brotherhood wrote a page in community and Temple history.

The guest speakers, for this first affair were the late Dr. Daniel Marsh, Chancellor of Boston University; Father Michael Walsh, the then President of Boston College and now President of Fordham University; and Dr. Israel J. Kazis, Rabbi Temple Mishkan Tefila. Prominent civic and educational leaders were invited as head-table guests.

The success of this meeting can be attested to by the fact that Brotherhood Temple Mishkan Tefila was awarded first prize by the New England Region of Jewish Men's Clubs for the "Best Program of the Year" produced in the New England area, and went on to win the National Federation Prize for "Best Program of the Year".

In the words of Dr. Israel J. Kazis commemorating the 50th Anniversary of Brotherhood Temple Mishkan Tefila, "In an effort to create a climate of better understanding among citizens of different faiths, the Brotherhood has been sponsoring an annual Good Neighbor Night which has served as an effective medium for presenting the views of distinguished religious leaders on the great issues confronting the American people in our time."

22,000 Head For Public, Private Schools

Student Army Marches To Class Rooms Today

The vanguard of 22,000 public, private and parochial school children in Newton — in numbers sufficient to populate a good-sized town — began classroom work this morning (Thursday) for the start of the Fall session.

Officials said the total included 18,000 boys and girls in the city's public school system, 2,200 in private schools and some 1,800 in the parochial grammar schools of Newton.

Because of higher tuition rates established in two of the four parishes, there was a noticeable drop in registrations, and the pupils from these schools obviously were absorbed in the public school system.

At the helm of Newton's educational system was a new Superintendent of Schools, Aaron Fink, former principal of the Scarsdale, N. Y., high school.

Newton's 1,065 teachers reported at their schools on Tuesday and Wednesday for general meetings, prior to the actual opening of classrooms this morning. There are 218 new people teaching in the public school system this year.

All the teacher vacancies were filled in the elementary system; the only vacancies unfilled at the opening of classes was in the secondary level (junior and senior high) for one guidance counselor and one music teacher.

There are 109 new teachers this year in the city's secondary schools, 90 in the elementary schools and 19 in tern teachers, for a total of 218 new faculty members.

In the elementary schools, the new mandatory in-school lunch program begins. Children in grades one through six bring their lunches, to be supervised by special attendants during the 30 minute lunch period.

For the first few days several of the public schools are not operating full kindergarten classes. Children will attend in small groups so that the teachers can get to know each child and parent at the beginning of school.

The first few days also will see first-grade classes in session only in the mornings.

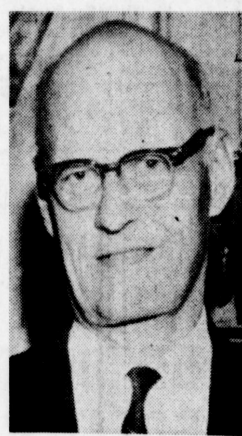

Tuition rates have increased at two of the city's four parochial schools; one remained the same, and in the other tuition rates are being charged for the first time.

The latter was St. Bernard's School in West Newton where the rates are $75 for the first child and $50 for the second, to a maximum of $125 for two or more children, for families within the parish. Outside the parish rates are $100 per pupils up to $200 per family.

The rates at Our Lady Help of Christians increased at least $100 for high school pupils for families outside the parish. The cost for grammar school pupils is $100 for tuition and books; high school tuition for those outside the parish are $250 and $160 for those within the parish.

WILLIAM A. LINCOLN

Wm. Lincoln, Civic Leader, Rites Friday

William A. Lincoln, well known as a civic leader in Newton died Tuesday morning at his home, 340 Hammond S., Chestnut Hill after a long illness. He was 57.

Despite his illness of which he was aware, Mr. Lincoln devoted himself to community affairs to the very last. At the time of his death he was chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee and a member of Newton's Redevelopment Authority.

His long career of public service includes a term as Treasurer of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee and as a member of the Republican National Finance Committee.

This year he was the recipient of the annual award of merit presented by the Newton Republican Club at its Lincoln Day Dinner.

A graduate of Harvard College, cum laude, class of 1935, he earned a law degree at Northeastern University Law School. Though a member of the bar, Mr. Lincoln did not engage in the practice of law in recent years.

His energy was directed to special enterprises and community affairs, one of his most recent efforts being to organize a group which he headed for the construction of

Tax Bills Prepared By Electronics

The real estate tax bills, which all Newton home-owners have received by now, were prepared this year by the modern method of electronic data processing.

It is the first time it was done and Mayor Monte G. Basbas said it wasn't easy and took "considerable effort."

Under the direction of City Data Processing Director Brian Fore, who joined the city staff only last May 19, the source material to develop the basic file was prepared by the Assessing Department staff. An outside service bureau was hired by the city to transfer the source material on to some 133,000 punch cards.

The new city Data Processing Division, through the use of the Newton School Department data processing equipment, converted the information from punched cards to magnetic tape.

College Heads Must Protect Students Who Want To Study

Within a relatively short period of time millions of young men and women in Massachusetts and across the United States will go back to college.

Most of them will be concentrating on the serious business of obtaining an education to equip them for later life.

But a small minority will be motivated by a desire to disrupt programs at the institutions they attend in order to introduce reforms they supposedly believe should be adopted.

If all the reforms they advocate were suddenly put into effect, they would find something else to demonstrate about.

They will speak out loudly and clearly for civil rights and then disregard the rights of everybody who disagrees with them.

From the magnetic tape the tax bills were prepared, as well as the commitment list from the Assessors to the Tax Collector, on the School Department computer.

Mayor Basbas said that all kinds of statistical information can now be derived from the basic file to assist the Assessing, Planning and Executive Departments in decision making.

Basbas said this year the tax bills were mailed 50 days after the setting of the tax rate but next year the bills will be mailed only a few days after the establishment of the rate.

He pointed out that the early mailing of the bills will save the city considerable in interest charges on temporary loan borrowing, "as the city will be receiving its real estate tax payments earlier, relieving the need to borrow in anticipation of taxes."

Headlights And Highlights From Newton South High

By Janice E. Kaplan

Bewildered sophomores walk through Newton South High School's doors for the first time today. They will be joined Friday by the experienced juniors and seniors. After a summer at camps and on the beaches, school days are back.

The faculty and administration started school early. They have been holding meetings and conferences for the past week in preparation for the start of school. The custodial staff also has been working hard.

Parts of the school were repainted, floors were shined, and the grass was cut.

It seems that everyone has been making an effort to assure that the students receive a glowing welcome. Few people realize all that goes into the reopening of school.

The school day this year is shorter than it has been previously. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday school hours are 8 a.m. to 2:20 p.m. Students who do not have a class scheduled for the first block need not come to school until the beginning of homeroom at 8:55.

There is also an early dismissal at 1:25 p.m. for those who have a last period study block. After school is a time for extra help and make-up work.

On Wednesday everyone is dismissed at 12:45 p.m. The afternoon is reserved for department and teacher meetings and conferences. Student organizations also may meet at this time.

The dress code has been revised for this year. Principal William D. Geer Jr. stated the dress regulation as follows:

"The students at Newton South High School are expected to exhibit good taste and cleanliness in their personal appearance. Unusual and exotic fads will be discouraged by the school which has the right to send any students home if in its judgment their appearance does not reflect good taste and cleanliness."

The dress code is similar to last year's rules which worked out very well.

Every student at South has a guidance counselor to advise him in his academic work and future plans. The housemaster acts as the direct agent of the Principal in matters related to the individual.

The housemasters are each in charge of one of the three houses — Wheeler, Goodwin, and Cutler.

Everyone is looking forward to the coming year. My column will appear bi-weekly in the Newton Graphic to keep you posted on all the events and happenings at Newton South High School.

Chief-

Newton Police Chief William F. Quinn:

"The officers, men and women, of the Newton Police Department mourn the passing of their former Chief Philip Purcell. He was less a boss than a teacher and every man who worked with him became a better police officer because of the association."

"I shared his office for the final four years of his tenure and benefited by it every day. His career stands as a beacon for police officers everywhere. We of the Newton Police Department have lost a fine friend, fine police officer and a fine Chief."

Hector J. Pelletier, secretary-treasurer of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association:

"Phil, as we all knew him, was known throughout the entire country, not only as an able chief of police, but as a man who served his country, community and his God with simple sincerity. He was a good neighbor and a good citizen."

Last September, the late Chief Purcell was given a testimonial dinner at Boston College by 1000 persons, among them Quinn Tam, executive director of the International Chiefs of Police. Even then, Chief Purcell was too ill to remain for the entire affair.

Chief Purcell was the husband of the late Lulu B. (Whitford) Purcell who died Feb. 13, 1967. He is survived by two daughters, Miss Alice Purcell with whom he resided; Mrs. Margaret Elder of Brockton; one son, John P. Purcell of St. Louis, Mo.; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Farrell of Norwood and Mrs. Helen Tounsgant of Manchester, N. H.; a brother,

Library Camera Club Is Formed: Follows Many Fine Exhibitions

Picture yourself learning new photographic skills and techniques at the Newton Free Library Photo Club, now being organized under the leadership of Philip Coyne of Newton Lower Falls, a borrower who asked, "Why doesn't Newton have a photography club?"

Mr. Coyne, who was urged by City Librarian Henry E. Bates, Jr., to undertake the organization of a free, library-sponsored club, has agreed to be chairman pro tem, and invites all interested photo freaks to sign up at the Main Library or any of the 10 branches on the bright colored cards provided by the Library.

A number of competent young photographers have recently shown their pictures at the Main Library, 414 Centre Street, and others have been booked for one-man shows in the 1969-1970 season.

Two of the first local photographers whose work was exhibited at the Library are Georgia Litwack of Newton Centre, who has also shown at the Museum of Science and at DeCordova Museum, and Art Wood of Auburndale, a professor at Rhode Island School of Design who is a well-known silk screen artist and photographer.

Art's son, Brad Wood, a Murray Road School sophomore, showed a sociological essay on the North End of Boston in a series of photographs as part of a group display last spring.

Others whose photos have been exhibited in Newton are Na'ama Ansell of Wayland, whose pictures have been published in the Sunday Globe's magazine section; Barry Okun of Oak Hill, a student at Newton South High whose interest in photography was sparked by a course he took at Meadowbrook Jr. High School.

Also, Rob Chalfen of Newton, a Commonwealth School senior whose photos are currently on display at Newtonville Branch Library; David and Joel Siegel of Newton, two young musicians and students at Day Jr. High whose two-man show at the Newton Corner library has just ended; and Elizabeth Becherer, who works in photography at Harvard University and showed studies of children at the Boys' and Girls' Library, 126 Vernon Street, and later at the Main Library.

Two young Newton photographers who will soon be making a national splash, courtesy of Eastman Kodak, are Henry Berran of West Newton and Mark Whitehouse of Auburndale, partners in the photo firm Whitehouse Productions.

The Eastman Kodak Company has assigned a topnotch writer, Stan Englehardt of Westport, Conn., to do a story on the photo activities of Berran and Whitehouse, which the two Newtonites will illustrate with their own photos. The young men have been working his summer with cameras and film provided by the Rochester photographic firm.

Coming up this season will be photo exhibits by Mrs. Robert Faulkner of Auburndale, a housewife and mother who's as much at home in her darkroom as in the kitchen of her Victorian home; Peter Lowy of Newton Centre, a senior at Newton South High who is yearbook photo editor; and Miss Carla Valentine of Weston, a former Auburndale resident who earned her M.F.A. in photography under the Tufts University-Boston Museum of Fine Arts five year program.

City Librarian Henry E. Bates, Jr., and Chairman Philip Coyne invite all local photographers to join now the new Library photo club, and to participate in a group show of photographic works.

It is anticipated that people working with black and white film, with color, and with movies will respond positively to the call for club members.

Ernest Purcell of Waltham and five grandchildren.

Chief Purcell was born July 14, 1903, at 11 Lincoln place, West Newton, and was a life-long resident of the city. He was educated in the Newton public schools and before joining the police force was a clerk in the ticket office of the Boston & Albany Railroad.

He started as a reserve patrolman on May 31, 1929; was made a patrolman April 21, 1931. He patrolled the Chestnut Hill, Newton Corner, Newton Upper Falls and Newtonville areas. He was promoted to sergeant Nov. 19, 1941 and was made a lieutenant on Oct. 1, 1946.

At the age of 46, Lt. Purcell was raised to the rank of acting chief Aug. 13, 1948 and then chief on Sept. 15, 1948 after the death of Acting Chief William P. Mahoney. He had attained the highest mark in the examination for chief, and thus became the youngest chief in the Police Department's history.

Chief Purcell long was active in citywide affairs. He was instrumental in organization and promotion of many safety programs. He organized the first Police Department's Women's Auxiliary; was president of the Municipal Credit Union.

He was a past president of the Kiwanis Club; he was chairman of the Cancer Fund campaign in 1954 and took an active role in such campaigns as the United Fund, Jimmy Fund, Heart Fund and Mental Health. He also was active in the Newton Community Council. He was an incorporator of the West Newton Savings Bank and was active in much of the work of the Chamber of Commerce.

For 11 years Chief Purcell was a member of the International Association of Police Chiefs in 1965. In June of 1966 he was named by then U. S. Atty. General Nicholas Katzenbach to a 15-man advisory panel that worked with the Justice Department reviewing applications for aid under the newly-passed Law Enforcement Act.

The U. S. Census Bureau reports that 12 million women are "heads of households." These are women on their own and frequently many are financially responsible for others — their own children, aged parents or other relatives, the Life Insurance and Health Insurance Institute reports.

The Gourmet Adventures of THE HIGHLANDS

You won't find anything that tastes quite like Mango. This tropical fruit is a blend of several other fruit flavors — apricot, pineapple, peach and banana — and it's truly unique. When the fruit is ripe, the outer skin will be smooth and either red or yellow, and the fruit will yield slightly to pressure. (If still a little green, mangoes will ripen at room temperature). Serve chilled "on the half shell" or use the juicy yellow-orange pulp in desserts. Mangoes are also wonderful for sauces, preserves, or pickling. Watch for them at your favorite food store!

For truly unique food dine at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. You won't find anything that tastes as good as the food we serve. For something different try our Cheese Fondue... "Food for the Hungry" — Drink for the Thirsty.

HELPFUL HINT: Don't salt your roast beef until it is ¾ done. Salt draws out the juices and flavor.

Newton Girl To Train As Nurse

Miss Marilyn Marcy of Newton Upper Falls, will be among the 78 new members of the freshman class at the New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing.

The total enrollment of the School will be in the vicinity of 175 students in the three classes, according to Miss Elizabeth Gould, Director.

Among the students of the freshman class are fifty-five from the Bay State, others representing all the New England states, and several from across the United States.

The new class will include three daughters of alumni.

In addition, there will be three groups of sisters, including one group of three sisters, and two other groups of two sisters each.

SCALLOPED LUXURIOUS DESIGN — The latest in architectural splendor typifies the luxurious new Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton. It graces the attractive landscape on the site of the famed Totem Pole Ballroom in one-time Norumbega Park, overlooking the Charles River, where gala Grand Opening ceremonies will be held today.

Rehearsals Start Sept. 16 At 'Y' Children's Theatre

Rehearsals begin on September 16 for the seventeenth production of the Newton YMCA's Children's Music Theatre. Children between the ages of five-and-a-half and eight comprise the primary company which meets on Tuesdays at 2:30, and youth from nine to 13 are in the intermediate company which will meet on Fridays at 4:00 p.m.

A musical production, complete with colorful costumes, settings, and lighting, is the major goal of the course. It is this exciting production that motivates each phase of instruction with thrilling purpose and meaning for each one as he shares in the memorable stage performance.

Each actor is accepted at his level of ability and the individual talents are fitted into the production. Poise, self-confidence, creativity and encouragement of talent are a natural outgrowth of this kind of stage participation, not to mention the real pleasures and joys of the dramatic arts.

The theatre director is Mrs. Hilda K. Moses, whose experience with the theatre is extensive, especially with young children. Mrs. Moses currently teaches in the Brookline Public Schools. John Duane, choreographer, and Mrs. I. Mady Wolf, musician, assist the director in the twelve two-hour sessions. For further information call the YMCA at 244-6050.

The Centre Art Gallery Opens New Showroom

The Centre Art Gallery, which has been exhibiting paintings and antiques at 57 Grafton street, Newton Centre, recently opened a new gallery at 195 Harvard street, Brookline. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

Gertrude Kovacs, owner of the Gallery, has assembled a variety of art works and antiques priced to meet the modest budget without sacrificing good taste and high standards of artistic merit.

Eugene Kovacs, art director, plans to present, in addition to the continuing group exhibits, a series of one-man shows featuring local and foreign artists.

In the near future, the Gallery will have an exclusive showing of the Spanish artist Yuste, whose works are already in collections here and in New York.

The Newton Centre Gallery will continue to show paintings by appointment only.

Gala Opening Today Of New Motor Hotel

The traditional ties of New England's Colonial heritage with today's fast-paced technological setting will be symbolized at the Grand Opening in Newton today, Thursday, September 4, of the luxurious Marriott Motor Hotel.

Historic personalities such as Washington, Lafayette and General Burgoyne, all of whom marched by the site of the Marriott Hotel during the War of Independence will "revisit" the scenes of their former glory for this one day Grand Opening celebration of the new Marriott Motor Hotel.

They, along with Chief Waban and Paul Revere, will reach across nearly two centuries to join J. Willard Marriott, chairman, and J. Willard Marriott, Jr., president, in a brief pageant highlighted by George Washington's throwing the key to the Marriott Hotel into the Charles River to signify that from that moment on the doors of the Marriott are always open.

Participating in the Grand Opening ceremonies will be Mayor Monte Basbas and Congresswoman Margaret Heckler, who will present the American flag which has flown from the Capital Building in Washington. The flag presentation will be made by William R. Trefel, general manager of the Marriott Hotel.

Master of Ceremonies for the program will be W.W. Grice, vice president of marketing of the Marriott Motor Hotels. Mr. Grice, a former Newton resident and a graduate of Newton High School, was instrumental in selecting the beautiful Norumbega site for the Marriott Hotel.

Greater Boston's most exciting new hotel has been open informally to the public since August 24.

The latest landmark in Greater Boston's fabulous building boom, the Newton Marriott, one of the largest hotels in New England, is situated on the site of the former Totem Pole Ballroom at Norumbega Park.

The Marriott, on Commonwealth Avenue at the intersection of Route 128 and the Massachusetts Turnpike, is just 10 minutes from downtown Boston via the Turnpike and only 20 minutes from Logan International Airport in East Boston.

The hotel has a total of 433 individually climate-controlled sleeping rooms available for guests, including 300 twin double beds.

There is color television in every room, oversized beds set in a fashionable decor, and even an ironing board that can be used for a quick press. All rooms have inset headboards, and the decor is either gold or rust.

Two elegantly designed dining rooms will offer many choice food specialties.

The Sirloin and Saddle Restaurant, with its artifacts reflecting hunting and equestrian themes, is cantilevered to provide hotel guests with a superb view of the magnificent Charles River setting.

The Fairfield Inn, for intimate family dining, features oil paintings of Cape Cod harbors, wood carvings engravings and reproductions of Early American historical events and art. Both table and counter service are provided.

The nautical Windjammer Room offers cocktails, dancing and nightly entertainment.

Unlike most hotels, the Marriott Motor Hotel has its main entrance and Grand Ballroom on the fourth floor of the hotel. The facility was designed to take advantage of the natural contours of the land overlooking the Charles River.

The hotel also has a spectacular outdoor swimming pool on the banks of the Charles, an indoor, all-year-round pool, boutique beauty salon and barbershop, and a physical fitness center.

The Marriotts operate other hotels in Washington, D.C., Saddle Brook, N.J., Philadelphia, Chicago, Atlanta, Dallas, Houston, Acapulco, The Exxex House in New York City and Camelback Inn in Scottsdale, Ariz. On the planning boards are Marriott hotels for New Orleans, Denver, Los Angeles, St. Louis and Toronto.

The response to the corporation's Marriott Inn franchise program has exceeded expectations, and a number of firm contracts have been signed already.

Work on the first one in New England will soon begin in Danvers, Massachusetts, about 20 miles north of Boston on Route 1.

In 1966 he made a bid for election to the Massachusetts State Senate.

Mr. Lincoln had an unusually wide range of interests and he served as a director of the boards of several civic groups, among them, the Newton United Fund whose Chairman he was in 1965, Boys Club of Boston, Faulkner Hospital, Kiddie Kamp, Newton Community Council, the Samuel Francis Smith Homestead Society, and others.

Onetime Chairman of the Newton Redevelopment Authority, he continued as a member after relinquishing the chairmanship. The work of this city agency was of major concern to him and he devoted much of his time to its affairs.

Mr. Lincoln was soft spoken and contemplative, not given to personal aggrandizement. He shunned the lime - light. His reputation for fairness and integrity became something of a legend in the community.

A man of earnest convictions he held the loyalty of those with whom he worked. Typical is the comment of one

The Prime Rate And You

Why are interest rates so high? Who pushed them up there? What's the prime rate and what has it got to do with your budget?

The answers all have to do with inflation.

Simply put, whenever the supply of money grows faster than the supply of available goods, prices go up. That is what has been happening in this country for the past few years — the money supply has grown faster than we have been able to produce goods and services, despite galloping economic growth.

And the money supply has increased for one reason: the government has been spending more money than it takes in and the federal reserve, our central bank, in effect printed the money needed to cover the deficit in 1967 and 1968.

The result was bound to be the higher prices we've all been experiencing. What makes the situation worse is that when prices are rising, people borrow more and more money.

Now the government and the federal reserve are both taking action to brake inflation. As you might guess, the way to do this is to stop printing money so fast.

The government is trying not to spend more than it receives in taxes. At the same time, the federal reserve is slowing the growth of our money by taking money out of the system, making it extremely difficult for banks to get money to lend.

Banks are simply intermediaries, getting money from one group of people and lending it to other groups. When a bank has to pay more for the money it gathers, it has to charge more for the money it lends. Lately, the sources from which banks get their money have been charging higher and higher rates.

If banks held their rates below other rates in the market, their supply of credit would be exhausted quickly.

Those are the reasons why there have been increases in the prime rate — the interest rate that banks charge corporate customers who have the best credit ratings. That's why the home mortgage rates have gone up.

The prime rate increase is only one of the thermometers that measures the heat in the money market.

It reflects the action taken by the federal reserve to make money more expensive — the idea being that the more it costs to borrow, the less borrowing will be done.

Eventually, the theory is, business activity will level off and price increases will slow down.

When that happens, interest rates should also come down.

We hope so.

The Age Of Aquarius

Older newspapermen, who have spent their lives in the profession, are wont to say "there's nothing new. Just the same old stories with different names; different circumstances."

Of course they are wrong. There is always something new in the news, business. Two cases in point in recent weeks were the stories of the sailor who used a sea turtle as a life preserve and the Woodstock Music and Art Festival at Bethel, N.Y.

Veteran newsmen didn't believe the story of the Korean sailor who said he fell off his ship and clung to a turtle until picked up by another ship — but it turned out to be true.

Neither did newsmen believe that 400,000 kids could congregate in one place without the gathering turning into the worst brawl of the century.

When first reports of the fantastic numbers of youth pouring into Bethel came in, the reaction in newspaper offices throughout the land was "Oh, oh! When does the explosion occur?"

Throughout that three-day festival an explosion and subsequent riot were awaited by newsmen, as well as by apprehensive police. Surprisingly, gratifyingly, none came. That great mass of humanity, gathered together in a pasture in that small, rural community had only peace and love on its mind.

Perhaps there was too much drug-induced peace and love to suit the taste of most but it was the kids' "thing" and they showed the world that they practice their creed in this Age of Aquarius.

If all of us doubters would emulate this "thing" of youth and practice "brotherly love," the world might be better for it.

Political Highlights

Brainwashed students will take over university buildings in flagrant violation of the law and push out deans or other officials.

University presidents, who, after exhausting all other means at their disposal, call in police to remove students from offices and buildings they have seized, will be blasted by some editorial writers and columnists for not handling the problem with greater understanding and patience even though it does not seem they could have done anything else.

Students who antagonize and harass police until billy clubs finally are brought into use will draw some editorial support when they protest loudly about brutality by the "police pigs."

Punks and professional agitators, who are not college or university students, will be among those arrested on some campuses. There will be no logical explanation for their presence except that they helped to incite impressionable students to violate the law.

This, unhappily, promises to be a part of the academic picture at far too many colleges and universities this autumn.

No less an authority than FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover summarizes the sad situation with the observation that "with the beginning of the new academic year, it is disturbing to know that a primary concern of many college and university administrators will not be the scholastic achievement of students, but rather how to prevent the seizure and wreckage of educational institutions by would-be insurrectionists."

Hoover predicts that "just as soon as the firebrands can muster a caucus of dissidents, we will witness a continuation of a senseless plunder which caused more than $3 million in damage to colleges and universities in the last academic year."

The FBI head adds that between September, 1968, and April, 1969, one major university alone suffered damage in excess of $1 million, that about 4000 arrests were made in connection with violent demonstrations, that untold numbers of people were injured and that at least two deaths resulted from campus riots.

"Certainly, criminal statistics reflect no credit on the academic community," declares Hoover. "However, unless college and university authorities take positive action to control campus violence, it will not subside in the coming months."

Hoover believes that two factions, each claiming to represent the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), will clash on college campuses for controlling power.

"Since clamor and agitation are proven techniques for attracting new members and support, violent disruptions will come as no surprise," Hoover adds.

He declares that the goal of both factions of the SDS "is the destruction of U.S. Imperialism" and the "achievement of a classless society through international communism."

FBI Director Hoover then makes an observation which points up the extent to which unsuspecting college students are being used as pawns by the trained agitators and trouble-makers in SDS.

"The SDS considers the rebellious youth of our country as part of an international liberation army," Hoover asserts.

"It regards young people, mainly college students, as a means by which the revolution can be accomplished because in general, young people have less at stake in a society . . . are open more to new ideas . . . and are, therefore, more able and willing to move in a revolutionary direction."

Mr. Hoover expresses the conviction that "those who rally to the support of the New Left and participate in activities championed by SDS do so under no illusion."

"The issues are now clear," he states. "Time and internal wranglings of the organization have brought one basic and important truth to the surface."

"The youthful idealism of 'participatory democracy,' so frequently espoused by SDS while striving for student approval, has been cast aside. The Marxist dogma is in full command. SDS now calls for outright revolution," he says.

(If Director Hoover means in the above statement that all the college students, who participate in demonstrations, seizures, sit-ins and riots, realize the significance of what they are doing, this writer would disagree. A great many students are being used as pawns and have no conception of the true objectives of those who are leading and manipulating them.)

Mr. Hoover makes it crystal clear that he believes university administrators should take strong and stern steps to protect both their campuses and the rights of students who want to study rather than riot.

"Inasmuch as breaking the law is a customary part of revolutionary tactics, many enforcement agencies will become involved in campus strife," he asserts.

"In most instances, the nature and degree of involvement will depend on whether school authorities desire to protect their institutions and the rights of the majority of students who would rather study than riot, or forsake their responsibilities and give in to mob rule, 'was the way he put it."

On the basis of Mr. Hoover's comments, it would seem that he may be prepared to assign some of his agents to colleges and universities in view of the real objectives and purposes of the agitators who foment the campus trouble and uprisings.

This situation has sad and tragic aspects in a number of respects.

Hard-working mothers and fathers, who have scrimped and saved in order to send their sons and daughters to college, will be puzzled and confused when the latter tell them they feel they have to do what they think is right to that it then develops they think it is right to flout the law and seize other people's property.

These parents are among the victims when the take-overs occur at universities. The students, who act like punks and hoodlums in seizing buildings by force or in rioting on the campus, are still their sons and daughters, and the average mother and father can't walk away from their own offspring.

They too often are considered squares who aren't abreast of modern day thinking, and their words of counsel to their sons and daughters go unheeded.

Many college students, just out of high school and susceptible to the arguments of hard core agita-

THE BACK TO SCHOOL BLUES

School Article

Editor of The Graphic:

In the September issue of McCall's you will notice on the cover a bright orange reminder entitled "Newton Schools: 'An Educational Paradise' vs. The Brown-Bag Lunch Dispute." I strongly urge you to read this article and I think you will further realize the lack of a responsive attitude of some of the members of the present School Committee toward the citizens of Newton.

This article emphasizes what has been happening in this City for the past three years regarding a simple problem which could and should have been solved in a shorter period of time. The elementary school parents of Newton were subjected to countless, unnecessary aggravations and in some cases insults, when the majority of these people indicated to the School Committee that the elementary school parents of Newton felt a 5 hour school day including a lunch program would be best for their children.

Are the members of the School Committee not elected to their positions to reflect the wishes of the people?

MRS. JEANETTE BRICK

abilities to manage City workers and their supervisors.

We are then told that the one hundred or so City workers who face loss of their jobs and the means to support their families do not have to worry. Other City employment will be provided. Let's look at the economics of this part of the program. Assume that it costs the City from $5 to $7 thousand per man, per year in wages and fringe benefits and that the City's rate of attrition is 10 percent per year.

My quick analysis says that other City departments will have to absorb from $450 to $630 thousand during the first year of this contract to achieve an estimated savings of from $300 to $400 thousand.

Yet another hidden cost in this proposal is the cost of snow removal. Do the taxpayers realize that this proposal would turn over to the private contractor our trash packer trucks that are our prime snow removal force? One can only imagine how much more in snow removal costs the City would pay under this plan.

It would appear that the symptoms of poor management exposed by the Boozie, Allen & Hamilton report are emerging once again in the proposal to solve the problem. If one collects all of the costs of the total effect of the Mayor's proposal it would seem that the solution is more costly than the problem.

I find it very interesting to observe that the greatest savings for the City and the least amount of human displacement would result from the simplest solution: manage the existing workers more effectively. If a private contractor can get a day's work for a day's pay why can't the Street Department of the City of Newton?

Sincerely yours,

ALAN S. KORMAN

LETTERS

Editor of The Graphic:

The recent report on the city's street department issued by Boozie, Allen, Hamilton and the recent action initiated by the Mayor requesting bids by private contractors for trash collection is a clear indication of the current administration's philosophy of managing Newton's affairs.

Calling for a review of the operation of the Street Department by a prestigious national management consulting firm was very beneficial to the taxpayers. Publication of their findings was an eye opener. In my opinion, the report was a condemnation of the present administration's management of this very important city service. The revelation of the degree of inefficiency existent in the collection of trash was appalling.

It was a public service to have this problem brought to the attention of the citizens of Newton. It would seem appropriate to expect a plan to resolve it. There are many alternative available to the Mayor which might be utilized to achieve higher work efficiency.

It is interesting to note that the Mayor's first choice is the option that places the least strain upon his personal administrative abilities. By offering the City's trash collection to a private contractor he is evading his responsibility to be persuaded that they are working for a worthwhile cause. University administrators have a responsibility to see that the lives of these boys and girls are not ruined.

It will be extremely unfortunate if some unsuspecting student, who believes his motives are of the highest, is expelled from college or is seriously injured or will carry the stigma of court convictions through life, but this is almost bound to happen in some instances.

This, of course, can be avoided if the youths involved go to college to get an education and to take advantage of the other opportunities open to them instead of trying to change over universities in accordance with their transitory ideas and convictions or those of the agitators to whom they listen.

Some colleges and universities will be much more strict than others in dealing with the young hoodlums who take over buildings, offices, and classrooms in their ill-conceived efforts to accomplish their objectives.

FBI Director Hoover, of course, is entirely right when he declares that university administrators should protect their institutions and the rights of the majority of students who want to study rather than riot, and not forsake their responsibilities and yield to mob rule.

Too many university administrators will delay and procrastinate until the situation is out of hand because they don't want their student rioters manhandled by police even though there is no other solution open to them.

They should disregard those who by some strange process of thinking argue that rather than have any trouble the university administrators should yield to those who try to achieve their purposes by illegal force and violence.

Some effort also should be made — although admittedly it would be difficult — to protect unsophisticated and unsuspecting students from the arguments of professional agitators.

Under a new law in Massachusetts representatives of the student bodies will serve on the boards of trustees of state-supported universities. But it is anticipated they will be representatives of the student majority, not of the punk and hoodlum element.

A minimum of nonsense will be tolerated at the publicly subsidized universities in Massachusetts where the students are getting educations at bargain rates. There will be too many students waiting hopefully for vacancies they may fill at such institutions.

Ted's Absence May Affect North Shore Congress Fight

An interesting battle is being waged on the North Shore between Republican State Senator William L. Saltonstall of Manchester and Democratic Representative Michael J. Harrington of Beverly for the seat in Congress left vacant by the sudden death of the late Congressman William Bates. Saltonstall is the son of former Senator Leverett Saltonstall.

Once a Republican stronghold, this area is now considered a marginal district. In the recent primary 5000 more Democrats than Republicans went to the polls. Victory in the special Sept. 30 election probably will go to the candidate who does the better job of getting out the vote.

Under ordinary circumstances Senator Edward M. Kennedy would be taking to the political hustings about now to beat the drums for Representative Harrington. Ted normally would promote Democratic excitement and enthusiasm in the fight and would increase the vote which would come out on Election Day.

But Ted is occupied with personal problems. There is no one else in the Democratic party who can take his place. This is certain to hurt Harrington because he is not receiving the help from Ted Kennedy it was expected the Democratic nominee would get after the primary.

This points up what Ted Kennedy means to the Democratic party in Massachusetts and what a blow it would be to the party if it were forced to get along without him.

It may be that Ted will be able to take to the campaign trails in the North Shore congressional district before Sept. 30. At the moment, however, that seems unlikely and — at best — uncertain.

Gov. Sargent Tries To Drop Hot Potato In White's Lap

Republican Governor Francis W. Sargent and Democratic Mayor Kevin H. White have been taking thinly veiled sideswipes at each other as if they already were the antagonists in a knock-down battle for the Governorship.

It all started when the Governor received a bill passed by the Legislature which would grant a $3000-a-year pay raise to Suffolk County Sheriff Thomas S. Eisenstadt if enacted into law.

Governor Sargent, obviously believing he was dropping a hot potato into the lap of Mayor White, penned off a note to White and asked whether the Boston Mayor felt Eisenstadt should get the wage hike.

White, who learned his politics at the knee of his popular and talented father, the late Joseph C. White, wasn't about to let himself be burned by any political hot potatoes.

He dashed off a reply to Mr. Sargent in which he said he hoped the Governor was inaugurating a policy of consulting the Mayor of Boston on all matters relating to Boston.

This was not at all what Governor Sargent had in mind, and he wrote back to White emphasizing that he had no intention whatever of adopting any such policy or of abiding by the recommendations of the Mayor of Boston on all legislation affecting Boston.

The Governor added that he intended to veto the Eisenstadt pay raise bill unless White assented to it since the Suffolk County court officers get a percentage of the salary of the Sheriff.

White responded that he was greatly disappointed by the Governor's letter. "While I remain willing to give you my views on all legislation pending which affects Boston alone, I cannot concur in your request that I limit my remarks to any one bill," declared White. "To do so would be to support the view that the City of Boston's right to be heard on legislation is subject to the Governor's whim, and no Mayor of Boston can agree to that."

Rep. Shea Calls For Saving Open Spaces

A recommendation that the Newton Board of Aldermen enact a special open space ordinance to protect the few remaining open spaces in the Garden City was made Tuesday by Rep. - Alderman H. James Shea Jr. Shea said:

"Recently Newton has been confronted with numerous challenges to our remaining open spaces. Some of these efforts to eliminate open land in Newton include the Lahey Clinic's petition involving the Woodlawn Country Club, the Dolan Pond controversy, last spring's proposal to construct 3500 high rise apartment units on the Chestnut Hill Country Club and a stadium proposal for the Woodlawn Country Club. These issues all point to the need for stronger municipal leadership in protecting our few remaining open spaces in Newton.

"For these reasons I recommend that the Board of Aldermen enact a special open space zoning ordinance and a flood plain watershed ordinance. These two new zoning categories, if properly used, will serve to protect open spaces from private encroachment. Public encroachment should be prevented by our elected city and state officials."

"While it is true that the Webster Estate, the Hunnewell Hill Turnpike parcel and the land between the Myrtle Baptist Church and the Turnpike have been recently acquired by the City, the four golf courses, the Dolan Pond area and other natural open spaces in Newton remain imperiled by private development."

"By zoning these endangered open lands as protected open spaces or as protected watershed areas, Newton will be able to save open spaces without being compelled to continue purchasing them."

"Furthermore, this action will be an impressive statement of policy declaring our municipal intention to conserve our environment. This protection of open areas from private development will preserve Newton's open residential character and prevent further urban sprawl."

"Our city's proximity to the metropolitan core and the consequent severe and increasingly intense land pressures require this stabilization of our land use pattern."

"To accomplish these conservation efforts, the Newton Conservators and I have filed separate resolutions with the Board of Aldermen calling upon the city to enact a flood plain and watershed ordinance. These resolutions were sent by the Board to the City Planning Department. I urge the Mayor and the City Planning Department to expedite preparation of this ordinance.

"Today I am filing another resolution with the Board of Aldermen urging the Mayor, the City Planning Department and the Law Department to prepare an open space zoning ordinance. This zoning could be used to protect all or portions of our remaining golf courses and other properties including the Dolan Pond area. It would also serve as a vivid statement of municipal policy indicating our determination to preserve open spaces.

"By establishing these protective zoning categories, and then by exercising the foresight and courage to rezone remaining Newton open land, we can preserve for future generations some of our seriously imperiled and quickly disappearing natural environment."

Lee Loumos Says:

Labor Day has come and gone, and with it the summer and vacation time. I hope you were luckier than I in getting some relaxing time. All I managed was a three-day weekend and a four-day growth of beard! I finally got a chance to take the boat out sword fishing on Sunday, and as luck would have it, the six-mile visibility weather report turned into one continuous dense fog from dawn until 4 p.m. We could hardly see beyond the bow of the boat all day, so needless to say we were zeroed. The only thing that helped us make a landfall on the return trip was a swarm of bees, so I knew land couldn't be far away, and while I was shooting them away the cliffs of Squibnockett loomed up no more than 100 yards dead ahead. We rounded Gay Head in the same dense fog, and not until we were on home grounds did the fog finally lift. Ah, but it's good to be back, amid the familiar rocks and shoals of my business hazards.

Newton South Gridders Prepare for '69 Season

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Winkler still has three weeks to select a starting line-up from the many hopefuls before the Lions face traditional opening day rival Fitchburg on Sept. 27 at Fitchburg.

A Tough Schedule Faces Cross Country Lettermen

With the greatest amount that they would be a cinch to of lettermen that Newton High capture their third consecutive Suburban League Crown. This will not be the case, however, as a realignment of the league has made it the toughest in the state. This is not to say the harriers are to be counted out of the Suburban race.

It is just to say that the addition of Brockton, who has ruled New England schoolboy for the last three years and Weymouth, State Track kingpin, Newton's test will be infinitely harder than in the past.

IN ADDITION — to Brockton, Weymouth and the four charter members of the league, NHS, Newton South, Waltham and Arlington; Brookline, Rindge Tech and Cambridge Latin will fill out the loop.

Meanwhile, the scramble to make one of the top seven spots on the Newton varsity should be quite difficult with twelve letter winners and a number of sophomores in contention.

Doug Tomb heads the list of experienced performers. Among Tomb's accomplishments last year was breaking the school 2 mile mark and tying the NHS cross country course record. Tomb was also Suburban Cross Country champ and tenth in the Class A. State Meet.

Tomb will by no means go unchallenged though with competition coming from anyone of three or four runners.

Jay Sidman and Mike O'Brien are back and are in shape after training most of the summer. Sidman came on well at the end of last season to finish fifth in the Suburban League Meet. O'Brien did particularly well in outdoor track running a 10:28 2 mile.

Dave Blake and Jeff Grossman return. Blake had a tough campaign last fall with some minor injuries but still turned in some fine times, particularly against Arlington and Medford.

Grossman missed all of cross country and indoor track with a bad ankle injury but he came on well to be a consistent point scorer in outdoor track in the mile.

John Bowles, one of the steadiest runners on the squad also comes back. Other lettermen include Steve Caggiano, Junior Varsity Suburban Champ, Ed Coan, Ed Reilly, Nick Brown, Rick Friedman, and Tom Best.

Besides team strength the Suburban League should feature some top individuals. Mark O'Brien heads the Weymouth team. O'Brien captured the Class A 2 mile title last spring with a 9:40 effort. O'Brien was the only runner to defeat Tomb in a dual cross country meet last year.

Bill Durette and Moe Bordenca are two others to watch. Durette ran a 9:50 2 mile for Rindge last year in his freshman year and is perhaps the best runner in New England for his age. Waltham's Bordenca finished second to Tomb in the Suburban Meet last year.

Indoor Track At Soldiers Field Has Backing Here

Representative Theodore D. Mann joined with Newton's other members of the House of Representatives in supporting the proposal to build an indoor track on Soldiers Field Road.

Indoor track in the Metropolitan area has always depended on the use of the old Irvington and East Newton street Armory which has been torn down. Mann pointed out. And there is the feeling, he continued, that the twenty-four school Metropolitan League involving more than 1200 High School athletes, may be forced to suspend operation next winter because of the lack of a winter training area. "It is apparent that a real need exists for the indoor track and I am glad to give this worthwhile project my support," Mann stated. Rep. Mann thus joined with Newton's three other Representatives, H. James Shea, Jr., Paul F. Malloy, and Irving Fishman in supporting the indoor track proposal.

Parents of high school juniors and seniors:

Can you answer these basic questions about getting your son or daughter into college?

1. Can you name the college your son or daughter wants to attend?
2. Can you name the colleges you think your son or daughter is best suited for?
3. Do you know how much it really costs to send your son or daughter to the college of his choice?
4. Do you know what financial aid (scholarships, loans, etc.) is available?
5. Are you familiar with the aptitude and achievement tests that most colleges require?
6. Can you list the unique programs offered by the college of your son or daughter's choice?
7. Can you name the forms of financial aid available through "college funds"?
8. When are National Merit Scholarship tests administered?
9. When should you apply to college?
10. What do you do after you've received a rejection letter?

This fall, 1,600,000 high school seniors became college Freshmen.

How many hundreds of thousands of those seniors went to the wrong college?

How many other seniors applied, but couldn't get in at all?

And how many didn't apply at all because they didn't have the answers to questions like the ten above?

To help answer all these questions and to simplify what has become "the sophisticated process of getting into college", Houghton Mifflin (one of the most respected names in educational publishing) has put together a package of material called The College Selection Program.

The Program consists of pamphlets that discuss (in depth) college financing, scholarships, testing, curriculum, how to fill out applications, how to choose a college, even how to handle a rejection letter. And a great deal more.

In addition, the Computer College Search (part of the Program) tells you which of the almost 1600 two- or four-year accredited colleges best satisfies the criteria that you and your son or daughter select.

The cost of the entire College Selection Program, including the personal computer study, is only

$10. (About half the cost of the usual college application fee.)

In today's world, where the students interested in going to college vastly outnumber the openings available, we think parents and students alike can use all the help they can get.

For $10, The College Selection Program can supply a lot of it.

See the difference clean electric heat makes

It's almost like turning night into day when you switch to electric heat. That's because modern electricity is flameless. No smoke, soot or fumes to show up on your prized possessions. Nor on your walls, woodwork or drapes.

Other blessings? Quiet operation, and room by room temperature control if you'd like. And there's rarely if ever a repair needed with efficient electric heat.

Does electric heat really make a difference? Ask any of the 75,000 people who are now using it around here. You'll get the picture.

This project represents a contribution to the enhancement of the democratic spirit in our community in that it gives concrete expression to a principle basic to the American way of life, namely, unity in the midst of diversity. Good Neighbor Night has become an annual affair and coincides with the "Festival of Succoth."

The Festival of Succoth, also known as the Feast of Tabernacles, dates back to the early days of organized Jewish worship. It marks the period of rejoicing over the ingathering of the harvest, and the origin is similar in concept to our American Thanksgiving.

For the Succoth festival, huts were decorated with fruits and vegetables — the products of the fields. This was done in accordance with religious tradition, and synagogues everywhere continue the tradition. The Succah erected and decorated by the men and women of Mishkan Tefila, therefore, becomes the Temple's symbol of Succoth.

The framework is attached to the outer wall of the Temple, and the covering of boughs and branches is but temporary — in accordance with the original custom. Also the covering on the roof is so arranged that the sky is visible through it. This also is in accordance with inherited practice.

The fresh fruit and vegetables used by Mishkan Tefila — the sacramental wine and cake — are all donated by members of the Temple, who have been furnishing them for many years.

Every effort is made, once the festival is over, to distribute the remaining foodstuffs to needy institutions. During the festival, which lasts for eight days, certain parts of religious ceremonies are concluded within this Succah, and the Rabbi, Cantor and officers of the Temple greet the Congregation there.

Those attending the tenth Annual Good Neighbor Night of Brotherhood Temple Mishkan Tefila, honoring His Eminence, Cardinal Cardinal Cushing on Wednesday evening October 1, will be able to view the beautiful Succah of Temple Mishkan Tefila. Reservations for Good Neighbor Night may be made at the Temple office 332-7770.

Membership Up In GOP Cub Here

Membership of the Newton Republican Club has increased substantially in recent months, according to Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr. President of the club which is ranked among the largest and most active in New England. Medaglia expressed appreciation to the membership for its loyal support as reflected by the prompt and enthusiastic response to recent dues billings.

"The broad support being given our work," Medaglia stated, "is most encouraging and augurs well for Republican activity in the community."

Medaglia reported that the Club's Executive Committee will soon be convened to initiate the season's programs and to begin planning for the 1970 Annual Lincoln Day Dinner which the club sponsors.

In addition to Medaglia the club's leadership includes Gerald G. Aransky, and Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe, Vice Presidents; Donald P. Quinn, Adm. Vice President; Norman Buchbinder, Treasurer; David A. Lurensky, Corresponding Secretary; and Mrs. David S. Bard, Recording Secretary.

that Alderman Wolf has served with distinction as a member of the Land Use, Public Buildings and Finance committees and Licenses Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

"The past two years have been particularly busy ones for the Board of Aldermen," Mr. Wolf said in announcing his candidacy.

In addition to the increasing volume of routine municipal matters, the Public Buildings Committee has been working on the new Newton High School and new Day Junior High, both of which are expected to go out to bid this fall.

The Land Use Committee devoted a substantial amount of time to the intricate task of fashioning revised restrictions for Newton's newest and largest industrial park (on the former Sylvania land). "The Land Use Committee also has engaged in a pioneer effort to provide scattered low-income apartments in new private housing developments throughout the city," Wolf continued, "thereby hoping to avoid the sociological, financial and political problems caused by government-built housing projects."

Wolf, a practicing attorney for 20 years, is managing partner in the law firm of Mintz, Levin, Cohn and Glovsky in Boston. He served as a First Lieutenant with the 9th Air Force in Europe during World War II, and was awarded the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf clusters, and a Presidential Unit citation.

He is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School. He served for three years as a lecturer on Taxation in the Boston University Law School Graduate Tax Program; is a member of the Boston Bar Association, American Bar Association, the Harvard Club of Boston. He also serves on the board of directors of a number of corporations in the Greater Boston area.

Wolf is married to the former Marjorie Cohn, who grew up in Waban. Their children, Charles, Thomas and Elizabeth, attend the Newton public schools.

Election-

of our citizens feel alienated from City Hall.

"They are concerned, and rightfully so, about immediate problems facing them now and the lack of long range plans for their community."

"What are we going to do, for instance, about the increased traffic congestion, badly littered streets and shopping areas, and sorely neglected services such as snow removal and street cleaning? Noise pollution is still another problem; yet we have no single ordinance governing unmuffled sports cars and motorcycles."

These problems must be tackled immediately, Judy states, before they are allowed to develop in magnitude and become unsolvable. "For most of us, our homes and our neighborhoods are a refuge from the dizzying pace of everyday living."

"Who among us," she asks, "has not put large amounts of time, work and money into making our homes more comfortable, and who among us does not want to protect this investment?"

This protection will come, Judy feels, only with involvement in the issues. Everyone must be heard and there must be better communication between the people and City Hall. Neighbors must work together if there is to be an improvement in the quality of suburban living.

Newton Soccer Team Prepares For First Test With Medford

By Jeff Grossman

Last year a very experienced group of seniors led the Newton High soccer team to 8-4-1 record and a third place finish in the Suburban League.

But after a year in which seniors are played almost exclusively, the unavoidable result for next year's edition is inexperience.

"We have an entirely new squad this year but a lot of spirit," Coach Gordon Elliot commented.

Actually there are three returning lettermen in the persons of Abe Oros, Emilio Mazzola and senior Steve Scrimshaw. This is the least amount of returning sweater winners since the inception of soccer at Newton High School.

Oros, only a sophomore last year stood out as he led the team in scoring and also had four game winning goals. Mazzola also did some scoring while Scrimshaw operated from the halfback position.

There are also some of last year's junior varsity performers who saw limited varsity game time. Tom Donovan, Dave Goodman, Neighbors working in concert can make a difference. The system can be moved. But we must use all our expertise to humanize technology, for it must be made to work for us and provide us with the best possible living conditions, she maintains.

Judy has been a resident of Newton for 16 years, and has witnessed both its growth and the resulting problems. Her own concept of progress for the 'Garden City' centers around building a more pleasant environment, one which would offer a measure of beauty and serenity, and one free from neglect. "As with any garden, I properly attended a pattern of deterioration swiftly follows."

Taking an example from youth, Judy sees a need for action in her own generation. Her goals for her constituents are to insure that maximum services are provided for an already heavily taxed community. Monies must be spent with greater efficiency than ever, so that each individual will reap the benefits.

Judy is the wife of Charles Shapiro, a shoe manufacturer, and mother of two teen-age daughters. Mrs. Shapiro is the daughter of two lawyers active in city affairs and she grew up in an atmosphere of community involvement. She graduated from Colby Junior College in 1949 and now is working toward a degree in sociology and government at Simmons College.

Judy's varied interests include service on the boards of Brandeis and C. J. P., a reader for many years for the Catholic Guild for the Blind, life memberships in the NAACP and BARC, Women's Scholarship Association, Kidney Foundation and Brandeis.

Because we live in a time of rapid change, Judy says she feels that the community needs people who are aware and sensitive to new problems and issues arising daily, those who are not afraid to introduce innovative ideas into city government. She has the time, enthusiasm and the dedication to focus effectively on solving the problems of the community. It is toward this goal that she dedicates her candidacy.

school's open - so slow down! protect our children's lives

On the first days of school you can expect to see our youngsters running across streets without looking, forgetting to obey the traffic signs and signals. That's why we must be a little extra careful, slowing down near schools, watching all traffic signals and obeying school safety patrolmen. Our kids' safety is our responsibility.

Those attending the reunion were: Mrs. Ward Boland and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph MacRitchie of Squantum; Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb Ladd of Winchester; Mr. and Mrs. George Rockwell, Susan and Cynthia, of Wellesley; Mrs. Raymond Newcomb and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harris of Concord; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Vibbert of Worcester; Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Emde of Katoana, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Newcomb of Norwich, Vermont; and Dr. and Mrs. Earle Davis, Edwina and Matthew, of Waterville, Maine.

Coming from the greatest distance was Mrs. Henry Weller, Jr. (the former Elizabeth Newcomb of Newtonville) and her daughter Elizabeth of Memphis, Tennessee.

Elected president for next year was Dr. Earle Davis, who with Mrs. Davis (the former Mary Newcomb of Newtonville) will be hosts to the ninth reunion at their summer home in Kennebunkport, Maine.

Messiah Rector Writes on Sex In the Movies

Rev. Robert W. Golledge, since 1960 Rector at the Church of the Messiah in Auburndale, is the author of the lead article in the third issue of "the new renaissance" a quarterly magazine emphasizing literature and the arts. The article is "The 'Anything Goes Cinema' — A Clergyman Looks at Sex."

In his article, Rev. Golledge examines the problems that the "liberated cinema" presents to the person professing to live as a Christian. Today's youth are "over-taught and under educated," he writes, and their sexual life and reverie bring them "less joy than jitters."

After examining certain recent films, Rev. Golledge remarks that the Puritan mores our society is laboring to liberate itself from, would "have stifled much . . . of classical art," and concludes by discussing Christian life as "an adventure in freedom."

Basbas Proposes Council on Aging

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has for two years and the remaining members for three years, and annually thereafter all new members shall be appointed for a three-year term, but no member may serve for more than two consecutive terms. Each member shall continue to serve after the expiration of his term until his successor has been appointed and has qualified.

The proposed ordinance spelled out four basic purposes of such a Council on Aging:

1. It shall be the purpose of the Council to identify the total needs of the community's elderly population;
2. To educate the community and enlist support and participation of all citizens about these needs;
3. To design, promote or implement services to fill these needs, and;
4. To coordinate existing services available to the aging, both public and private.

"Due to the great, constantly on-going advances in the fields of medicine, science and technology, our life-span has been and is being lengthened significantly," Mayor Basbas' letter pointed out.

"Over 10 per cent of the Newton population finds itself in the over 65-year age bracket today and this percentage will keep increasing markedly."

"These aging citizens are aware that, as they grow older, they will face problems of adequate income, housing, health care, home care, recreation and other troubles, but particularly the need for recognition and concern by their community toward them as whole individuals."

"The present administration of the City of Newton is determined to meet this challenge confronting the elderly with a responsible and comprehensive program for their betterment."

"In consonance with the recent legislation and policies enacted and promulgated by the Commonwealth as well as with recent Federal legislation, and after exhaustive exploration and study of this entire subject, I hereby now recommend the Board of Aldermen to consider and approve the adoption of an ordinance setting up a Council on Aging for and within the City of Newton, in the spirit and tenor as contained in the proposal hereto attached."

"For the purpose of conducting programs dealing with problems of the aging and to promote facilities for their health, adult education, welfare and recreation by a community council, the original enabling legislation permitted such a council to receive appropriations from the municipality not in excess of $500 per annum. This has been variously amended as to amount until Chapter 184 of the Acts of 1966 removed the restrictions on amounts which a municipality may appropriate."

"With the creation of the Administration on Aging (The Older Americans Act of 1965) in the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare, there are for the first time funds provided to assist State and local communities in establishing and carrying out programs specifically designed for older people's needs. The funds are available to local communities through the Department of Community Affairs, Aging Bureau on a matching grant basis of $3,000.00 to $5,000.00 for the immediate needs, up to a maximum of $25,000.00."

"In the light of my view to commence such an undertaking on a modest financial basis, I recommend an initial appropriation for the balance of the fiscal year of such council in the amount of $500 to be matched by grants from the Massachusetts Aging Bureau as aforesaid."

"It is my earnest desire to launch this worthwhile activity without delay and pray the Board's favorable action."

The proposed ordinance follows:
Chapter 2 of the Revised Ordinances of Newton, Massachusetts, 1965, is hereby amended by adding the following Article:
Article XX Council ON AGING
S. 2 - 132.

(a) There is hereby established within the City of Newton a Council on Aging consisting of nine members to be appointed by the Mayor with the approval of the Board of Aldermen, and who shall serve without compensation. Such members shall be residents of the City and shall serve for terms not exceeding three years. Three of the original members shall be appointed to serve for one year, three for two years and the remaining members for three years, and annually thereafter all new members shall be appointed for a three-year term, but no member may serve for more than two consecutive terms. Each member shall continue to serve after the expiration of his term until his successor has been appointed and has qualified.

Vacancies shall be filled for the period of the unexpired term in the same manner as original appointments. The chairman of the Council on Aging shall be designated by the Mayor, and may be reappointed for three consecutive terms.

(b) It shall be the duty of the Council to carry out studies, initiate programs designed to meet the problems of the aging of this community in co-ordination and consistent with programs of the Massachusetts Commission on Aging established under section seventy-three of Chapter six of the Massachusetts General Laws, as amended, and in consonance with the enabling legislation in Chapter 40, Section 8B as amended.

(c) The Council shall have the power and authority to employ such professional and clerical assistance which it may require for the proper discharge of its duties; and to incur liabilities consistent therewith, but, in no event, in excess of the sum or sums which may from time to time be recommended by the Mayor and authorized and appropriated by the Board of Aldermen for such purposes.

It may, with the approval of the Mayor, establish its own rules and regulations to assure the greatest effectiveness in its organization and function consistent with the purposes of this chapter and the provisions of the aforesaid section 73 of Chapter 40 of the General Laws of Massachusetts, as amended.

(d) The Council shall meet as such not less often than once in every month, excepting July and August, and shall submit a written report of its doings and planning to the Mayor with such frequency and at such times as he may request but not less often than annually; a copy of such annual report to be also transmitted to the Board of Aldermen and to the Commission on Aging of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

(e) The Council shall keep informed and remain cognizant of all State and Federal legislation concerning funding and program planning for the aging to the benefit of the community as a whole. Any Federal or State grants for these purposes received shall be reflected by the Council in its annual budget to be approved by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen as above described.

S. 2 - 133 ADVISORY BOARD TO COUNCIL ON AGING
(a) The Mayor shall appoint, with the advice of the Council, an unpaid Advisory Board to the Council on Aging consisting of not more than 20 members, each appointed for a term of two years, to include so far as practicable persons representative of the following groups or organizations: service clubs, social agencies, clergy, veterans, housing, health, education, law and law enforcement, recreation, medical, city government and others, as he may deem advisable, whose duty it shall be to advise the Council and offer recommendations in respect to problems of the aging. This board shall meet at least six times each year.

It shall meet with the Council at least twice a year for the purpose of communicating to it the results of its deliberations and to present any recommendations.

(b) One-half of the initial appointments to the advisory board shall be for a term of one year and remaining half for a term of two years with all subsequent appointments to be for a two-year term. The Mayor shall appoint one member of the board as its chairman for a term of two years, who may be reappointed as chairman for a second two-year term only. Regular members of the board may serve for not more than three consecutive terms.

Check Polaroid Rubbish Burning At Incinerator

Perplexing problems continue to plague Newton's $2 million, two year old Rumford Avenue incinerator, with one of the two furnaces inoperative and complaints persisting of fly ash. These are coming from Waltham's South Side and from Auburndale residents.

A spokesman for the Metropolitan Air Pollution Control District said this week that there have been many complaints, but that the City of Newton is complying with a court order banning emission of fly ash. The order was issued two months ago.

He said all the complaints have not been resolved, but said the Control District is "on top of the situation." He added "we are doing our best to control the problem."

Willard S. Pratt, director of Public Works for the City of Newton, said one cause of the fly ash emission may have been the burning of colored paper from Polaroid Corp. plants in Cambridge and Waltham. Polaroid pays Newton $6 per ton for burning its refuse, as do other private companies.

Several truck loads a week have been dumped, and each load contains several tons, Pratt said. Polaroid has been dumping since April, but this has been suspended pending a determination if this material is responsible for the fly ash.

Gordon Chair In Judaic Studies At Andover Newton Honors Rabbi

The establishment of the Rabbi Albert Isaac Gordon Chair of Judaic Studies at the Andover Newton Theological School in Newton Centre was announced today by Dr. Roy Pearson, president.

To endow this chair, a drive to raise $450,000 has been launched, the funding to come primarily as memorial gifts from the Jewish community as well as from Rabbi Gordon's friends and associates nationally.

The Andover Newton Board of Trustees, at its annual meeting in May, unanimously pledged $50,000 toward the Chair in Judaic Studies, to be contributed when the initial $400,000 is reached.

The Gordon chair honors Rabbi Albert I. Gordon, who at the time of his death on November 5, 1968 had been Visiting Professor of Judaism at Andover Newton for 16 years. From 1947 to 1968 Rabbi Gordon was spiritual leader of Temple Emmanuel in Newton Centre, and served with distinction both the Jewish community and the larger community of which it is a part.

friend of mine. I had the privilege of knowing Albert Gordon not only as an outstanding spiritual leader but as a personal friend.

"His brilliant mind was matched only by the breadth of his understanding and the kindness of his heart. Truly this man was a scholar with compassion, a community leader whose life exemplified the virtues of enlightenment, tolerance, and understanding."

Mordecai M. Kaplan, Professor Emeritus of the Philosophy of Religion, Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and one of today's outstanding Judaic scholars, says of the chair, "Jews and Christians together are the beneficiaries."

In this complex, fast-moving revolutionary world, we need the enrichment that comes from inter-religious dialogue. A chair of Jewish studies enhances the Andover Newton curriculum.

It also strengthens the Jewish people through the wisdom this Jewish professor will gain in contact with both students and faculty and then apply to his life within the Jewish community."

The Rabbi Albert Isaac Gordon Chair of Judaic Studies is seen by both trustees and faculty of Andover Newton as both broadening and deepening opportunities for research and study in Judaism. Studies in Judaism are seen as an integral part of Christian theological education, both in terms of extending the Jewish/Christian dialogue and of strengthening understanding of the basis of faith common to both traditions.

Andover Newton is the oldest graduate Protestant theological school in the country, founded in 1807. Although the seminary has traditional ties with the American Baptist Convention and the United Church of Christ, its current enrollment of 600 includes students from twenty Protestant denominations and a number of Roman Catholics and Jews as well.

It is a founding member of the Boston Theological Institute, an affiliation of four Protestant and three Roman Catholic seminaries; Andover Newton Theological School, Boston College Department of Theology, Boston University School of Theology, Harvard University Divinity School, Saint John's Seminary and Weston College.

In the final concert Saturday, Sept. 27, Dr. Newman plays selections from F. Couperin's "Messe Pour Les Couvents," in addition to J.S. Bach's "Toccata and Fugue in F Major" and preludes and fugues in e minor, b minor, and G Major.

Creative Art Program Plans Announced By Director Here

Plans for the 1969-70 Creative Art Program for Children ages 5-13, Mothers and Children (ages 2 and up), and Adults have just been announced by Art Director, Linda Janower.

Classes will begin the week of Oct. 6, but registration blanks and information sheets are available now at the Newton Community Service Centers, 429 Cherry St., West Newton. 969-5906 or 969-5907.

For Elementary School Children, Kindergarten through Grade 6, and Jr. High students a unique offering is planned.

The Center's experienced art staff, many with unusual backgrounds is geared to building a child's awareness of himself and the world around him.

The aim is a wide-open experience for all youngsters participating. With this orientation the staff draws on natural sciences and experimentation, improvisation, body movement, feelings — all culminated in the art experience.

The atmosphere is one of discovery, as children are challenged to solve problems in new ways. Under consideration is the use of light and shadows, discovery of environmental space, natural life forces (water, wind, air) the art of sound, etc.

Color, design and appreciation of aesthetic concepts will permeate all of these areas. A wide variety of two and three dimensional media will be used. Also materials from the Children's Museum, E.S.I., Film libraries, etc.

However, it should be noted that the emphasis is not on the media, but rather on the interests and needs of the individual and the group. The goal is not the finished product, but rather the total experience within the child.

If your youngster is drawn to projects which tap the intellect, the senses, the emotions, the body — indeed involve him totally as a person, he or she will find this program very exciting and lots of fun. This is a continuing program. Second term builds on the experiences introduced the first semester with the understanding that has been gained of your child.

For the greatest individual growth the Art staff urges parents to plan on a year for their youngster. (Two twelve session blocks). Registration for the first semester (12 classes) is open now.

The first session for all groups is designed for parents and children. Everyone is cordially invited to participate.

Interested parents may wish to make note of the extra section added for Kindergarten children on Wednesday afternoons. Also, an Experimental Workshop class open to students in Grades 3-6 and 7-9 on Wednesdays from 3:45 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. (This class has been formed to accommodate children in Hebrew School and other Tuesday and Thursday afternoon activities, or for those in Junior High School who wish to participate.) The Schedule is as follows:

Tuesdays, beginning Oct. 7— 9:30-10:30 a.m. — KIDGARTEN — Avis Jacobson, Instructor; 2:00-3:00 p.m. — KIDGARTEN — Marilyn Bever, Instructor; 3:20-4:30 p.m. — GRADES 1-3 — Marilyn Bever, Instructor.

Wednesdays, beginning Oct. 8— 12:45-1:45 p.m. — KIDGARTEN — Avis Jacobson, Instructor; 2:15-3:20 p.m. — SPECIAL ED. — Avis Jacobson, Instructor; 3:45-4:45 p.m. — GRADES 3-6 — Nicole Murphy, Workshop Instructor; 7:00-9:00 p.m. — GRADES 1-3 — Marilyn Bever, Instructor.

Thursdays, beginning Oct. 9— 1:45-3:00 p.m. — GRADES 1-3 — Marilyn Bever, Instructor; 3:15-4:45 p.m. — GRADES 4-6 — Marilyn Bever, Instructor.

A word about the instructors: Marilyn Bever comes to the Center with extensive art experience at the Children's Museum, Museum of Fine Arts, and Isabelle Gardner Museum. Avis Jacobson is an experienced teacher and social worker from Chicago who taught Creative Art at the Center last year. Nicole Murphy comes to the program from Wellesley College; she assisted in the Art program last year.

For mothers and tots and mothers and children several classes are offered. This program offers young children, age 2 years old and up their first introduction to "creative" work through the special efforts of mother and teacher. Children will expand their sensory perception by experimenting with many forms of art media (visual and tactile) in an atmosphere free of restraint and worry about mess.

Mothers gain ideas for home use with children, as well as a new perspective for themselves on the potentialities for an adult of the so-called "children's media."

Seeing mothers and children involved in mutual creative efforts, like puppet making, splashing in paint with bare feet to music, building "things" from boxes, etc. has made it clear to use that the values of togetherness and creativity make this venture doubly meaningful.

This group was so successful when started last year that two additional class sections were added. Parents are asked to register early and indicate a second choice on their application. A detailed information sheet is available.

Also added is a new class this year entitled "MOTHERS AND CHILDREN" to allow youngsters in the Elementary School group to work in this satisfying way.

The schedule is as follows: Mondays, beginning Oct. 6— Jackie Lewis, Instructor; Bea Lewis, Asst.; 9:20 a.m. to 10:20 a.m. — MOTHERS AND TOTS (aged 2 years and up); 10:40 a.m. to 11:40 a.m. — MOTHERS AND TOTS (aged 2 years and up); 1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. — MOTHERS AND TOTS (aged 2 years and up); 3:14 p.m. to 4:15 p.m. — MOTHERS AND CHILDREN (Kindergarten or older).

About the instructors: Mrs. Mellissas is a graduate of the Rhode Island School of Design and an experienced art teacher from the Brookline Jewish Community Center, and Lexington Montessori School. Jackie, mother of 4, will be assisted by Beatrice Lewis, mother of 3, and designer for Photo International, Inc. in Newton.

For adults this year, new programs are offered with babysitting available at the Center. The first class: Wednesdays, beginning Oct. 8— EXPERIMENTS IN NEW MEDIA, 9:15 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. (except as noted).

Opportunities are provided in the program for major in the Electronics, Executive, Legal, and Medical areas, and provision is made for cooperative work experience. This new program balances courses in secretarial subjects with courses in the Humanities, Natural Sciences, Mathematics, and Social Sciences, and is open to both young and older adults.

THE DATA PROCESSING PROGRAM, leading to an Associate in Science Degree, is a sequence of courses to prepare students to careers in Data Processing. Both the general education and technical training necessary for competence in the basic areas of machine operation, and programming are provided.

THE ELECTRONICS TECHNOLOGY PROGRAM, leading to an Associate in Science Degree, is designed to prepare graduates for various branches of basic electronics and to qualify them for upgrading within the industry. This program provides understanding of electronic principles and applications, including general design work and scientific report writing requisite for the Junior Engineering status.

Painters Workshop is a course in painting geared especially to the beginning and intermediate painter. Carole Lipsitt, teacher from the DeCordova Museum and M.I.T. emphasizes that no previous painting or drawing experience is necessary to join. If you have painted and would like to develop a personal style that expresses what you want to say, this course will help you.

The focus will be on how to use space well, create a good composition, use color expressively and freely, and make a unique personal statement rather than a photographic representation of reality. Students will progress at their own rate. Acrylic paints will be supplied by the students as these are easier to paint than oils. A complete list of materials will be sent to each student before the first class. This will be a two-semester program, if registration is filled; for the maximum benefit we suggest you plan on a year with Mrs. Lipsitt.

Body Mixup Case Involves Local Girl's Husband

The body of an Army private, buried in New York because of a passport mixup, will be sent to Newtonville.

Funeral arrangements for Pvt. Joseph Rosario Spampinato Jr., will be made by the Valente Funeral Home, 697 Washington St., Newtonville. Spampinato was the husband of Anne Marie (Wombolt) Spampinato, of 28 Lyons Ct., Newton, from whom he had been separated for a year.

The mistaken identification was made by French authorities when they found the passport of John J. Savago, 21, of Westchester County, N.Y., on the body of a man killed in an auto accident Aug. 1 in France.

Following the accident, the body was shipped to Kingston, N.Y. in a sealed coffin which was not opened before burial. However, Savago's parents received letters from their son dated after the accident. They contacted him and he returned home.

The body was exhumed, taken to a morgue and identification was obtained through fingerprints checked by the FBI.

Spampinato was assigned to Camp Derby in Italy but had been listed as AWOL since June 18, Pentagon officials said.

Spampinato's parents live in Watertown.

Another Day For MBTA Cards Requested Here

Mayor Monte Basbas has requested yet another day of registration in Newton for MBTA fare cards for our older citizens and notes the enthusiastic response here during the two days already granted in the following letter to Mr. Philip G. Mead, Superintendent of Private Carriers for the MBTA in Boston.

Dear Mr. Mead: First, let me thank you on behalf of the City of Newton most sincerely for the great cooperation and assistance given our older residents in obtaining their fare cards. I think that this is one of the most appreciated aspects of MBTA service yet devised, and it goes a long way toward eliminating some of the sting created by recent developments in fare increases, service cuts, etc. I have heard only universal praise among our older residents for this MBTA service.

As you know, Newton has the third largest community of elderly residents in the Commonwealth. On the first day of distributing these fare cards, we had over 980 persons and on the second day, over 1000. I am informed. There are still countless numbers of residents who come into my office, stop me along the street, and generally contact the Administration, wondering if Newton will be able to have just one more day of granting these cards.

May I officially request of you such a day? I know that this service is being continued at the Boston office, but many of our elderly persons have little transportation to get in and are not in sufficient health to make the long trip. As I say, this is invaluable public relations to the MBTA, and for this reason alone, I would respectfully request one more day for Newton. May I hear from you on this matter?

Again, thank you, Monte G. Basbas Mayor

PARIS TALKS OFF 'TIL SATURDAY AFTER DAY-LONG WRANGLE

THE 33rd SESSION of the Vietnam peace conference was postponed Wednesday until Saturday after a day-long procedural battle between allied and Communist delegations. The squabble erupted when both U.S. and Saigon delegates termed offensive a Viet Cong request to delay the session, scheduled for Thursday, until Friday. They countered with a proposal to move it to Saturday on grounds Friday was "not convenient" for the Saigon delegation. At 7 p.m. Wednesday the Viet Cong delegation announced it accepted Saturday. U.S. delegation sources immediately confirmed the new date. The Viet Cong announcement added the Hanoi delegation "does not see any inconvenience" in meeting Saturday, meaning the conference would take place then. The 33rd session already had been postponed one week at Hanoi's request because of the death of Ho Chi Minh.

2 ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH KIDNAPING OF AMB. ELBRICK

A MILITARY SOURCE in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, reported Wednesday the arrest of two persons "directly connected" with the kidnappers of U.S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick, but not involved in the abduction itself. The two persons, identified as Elbrick, kidnapped by leftists last Thursday, was released after 78 hours confinement when the government freed 15 political prisoners and allowed them to leave the country. None of the active participants in the kidnapping has as yet been found.

PROTESTANTS JEER BRITISH TROOPS REMOVING BARRICADE

PROTESTANTS Wednesday jeered British troops who removed the first barricade to fall in the religiously divided city of Belfast, Northern Ireland. Soldiers moved slowly and methodically, as promised by their commander, Lt. Gen. Sir Ian Freeland, to shove back barricades in the Protestant Shankill and Catholic Falls Road, area and begin a barbed wire and wood "peace line" to separate the religious factions. Northern Ireland Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark Tuesday ordered the feuding religious groups to remove their barricades or the troops would do it for them. Freeland said Wednesday, "We are not going to come charging into Belfast with a great military operation and armored cars and lots of troops." Protestants and Catholics alike sang, "We shall not be moved," as troops pushed back barricades with bulldozers. "Go home, you bums," a few shouted.

NUCLEAR BLAST RIPS HUGE CAVERN IN COLORADO ROCKIES

A NUCLEAR EXPLOSION with the power of 40,000 tons of TNT ripped a huge cavern a mile and a half deep beneath the Colorado Rockies Wednesday to get at the $1.2 billion in natural gas scientists hope is trapped there. The Atomic Energy Commission's Project Rulison blasted off at 5 p.m. EDT after six days of delay waiting for the wind to blow in the right direction. The explosion raised dust around battlement mesa with one giant shake of the ground. Several minor tremors followed. An AEC official said the explosion shook rocks loose about three miles from ground zero. Protesters carrying signs warning that the blast might contaminate air and water supplies, stood out of range of the blast. AEC scientists insisted the nuclear test explosion 200 miles west of Denver would further prove that man could use nuclear energy for peace.

ALASKAN OIL LAND BIDS RUN UP TO $12,000 PER ACRE

STATE OF ALASKA officials opened apparent high bids running up to $12,000 an acre Wednesday for the first nine parcels of 450,858 acres of Alaskan oil land. Estimates on the final bonanza to the state were revised upward to between $2 billion and $3 billion. With bids on about 23,000 acres opened — about 5 per cent of the total — bonus payments already totaled about $100 million. This was more than all the revenue the state had ever received from all previous oil lease sales. Four stolid Eskimo pickets protesting the sale marched outside the Anchorage auditorium where oilmen had submitted more than 1,000 bids for the land along the fabled North Arctic slope.

NIXON CONFERS WITH NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL

PRESIDENT NIXON met with the National Security Council Wednesday and made plans to hold a comprehensive review of the Vietnam War at the Camp David presidential retreat on Friday. Nixon conferred at the White House with his top foreign policy advisers and scheduled another meeting today. White House spokesmen would not disclose the subjects of the discussions. However, they did say the talks did not deal with Vietnam or the latest hostilities between the Israelis and the Arabs.

RAILROAD CARS IN MASS. UNINSPECTED FOR LAST 7 YEARS

PASSENGER AND FREIGHT railroad cars in Massachusetts had not been inspected for the last seven years, an executive of the Department of Public Utilities said Wednesday. Joseph A. Copenrath, director of the DPU's Railroad and Bus Division, told a House Committee investigating the DPU that since the retirement of a locomotive and equipment engineer seven years ago, none of the rolling stock has been inspected. He said he believed that increased derailments have been due to a lack of inspection and not because of defective roadbeds. A new locomotive and equipment engineer has been requested by the DPU. Copenrath said, "but at a salary of $172 a week there is little hope of attracting a qualified engineer." He said his department has inspected 4,400 buses three or four times a year, but that the inspection of railroad cars "is probably the most important thing that the DPU should be doing." Copenrath said he has only 12 inspectors in his department, down from a high of 17 in 1936. The workload has increased almost 500 per cent.

SOLOM ASKS NAVY REVIEW FORE RIVER REJECTION

REP. JAMES A. BURKE, D-Mass., asked the Navy Wednesday to review its decision to eliminate the Fore River shipyard in Quincy from competition in a destroyer shipbuilding program. In a separate letter, Burke asked Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, to find out why the shipyard was excluded from the $1 billion program. Burke said the program to replace World War II destroyers was the largest shipbuilding package in Navy history. "This is a deplorable situation and the Navy has yet to come up with any explanation at all," he said.

Douglas recently reaffirmed his belief in the need for a School Committee which is both "strong and responsive" — strong in the quality of its commitment to high standards in curriculum and

Kiwanis Club Joins Effort In Cancer War

The Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society and the Newton Kiwanis Club announced this week a joint project to encourage all men to have regular health checkups, particularly cancer tests.

The Kiwanians will implement the project by taking their own advice and reporting to their doctors for complete physical examinations.

This phase of the one year project is aimed at protecting the health of the Kiwanians themselves and starting them on a lifetime program of regular checkups.

It is expected that they will set an example for the entire community.

Hold Joint Worship

Protestants Hold 'Cluster' Service

In the first such service in Massachusetts, three of Newton's seven Congregational churches worshiped together last Sunday as part of a pioneering new concept of joint cooperation within Protestant churches.

Sunday's service was held at the Eliot Congregational Church in Newton Corner. Next Sunday, a similar service will be held at the First Church in Newton Centre and on Sunday, Sept. 21, at the Second Church in West Newton.

Last Sunday's sermon was delivered by the Rev. Harold R. Fray, Jr., minister of the Eliot Church. Entitled "When Love Breaks Through," the sermon explained why churches should work together.

After the other services are held at the First and Second Churches, there will be an evaluation of the new cluster development, which is aimed at a "working relationship between various churches to allow them to share programs, staff and budgets and various other features of Protestantism."

Three other ministers aided the Rev. Fray at last Sunday's services. They were the Rev. Newell H. Curtis, Jr., of the First Church, the Rev. Ross Cannon, of the Second Church, and the Rev. Charles A.

Teachers and students in Newton's public school system were embarked this week on a well-defined track as outlined by the new superintendent of Schools Aaron Fink, as he urged greater participation by both groups in policy and curriculum planning.

Mr. Fink, former principal of the high school in Scarsdale, New York, appeared at the Newton High School auditorium last week at the first general meeting with the teachers of the city's school system.

Acting as meeting chairman was School Committee chairman Manuel Beckwith.

At the outset, Sept. Fink stated:

"Perhaps the most important fact of life is the increased involvement of teachers and students in the political and decision-making apparatus of the school.

"Faculties will no longer tolerate the paternalism which for so many years characterized the relationship with the administrative and policy-making bodies of the schools," he continued.

"Across the country students, too, have shown increasingly that they will not accept the arbitrary authority of teachers and administrators who have given them little opportunity to affect the quality of their educational and personal lives within the institution."

Supt. Fink stressed that such involvement can be healthy, but he pointed out that those who share in policy-making affecting the conduct of schools must assume a share of the responsibility of carrying out the decisions made.

Lower Falls Ire Roused At Urban Renewal Hearing

By SHIRLEY GOLDWYN

Some 175 Newton Lower Falls residents crowded the Aldermanic Chamber at Newton City Hall on Monday night — most of them to express vehement opposition to the proposal for urban renewal for the area.

At issue was a resolution presented by the Newton Redevelopment Authority to the Board of Aldermen asking approval of the plans for the federally aided portion of the Newton Lower Falls urban renewal project.

The resolution was the subject of a public hearing which sparked intense emotion and sometimes bitter words in a session that lasted more than five hours, forcing the aldermen to postpone the regular business scheduled for their meeting until Tuesday night.

Irving Fishman, state representative and candidate for Mayor of Newton this year, called for "members of the Newton Redevelopment Authority to resign from their positions in the interests of the city."

Fishman maintained that if the city of Newton can't humanize urban renewal no city can do it. "The people no longer trust the Redevelopment Authority," he declared.

In a reply later in the evening Robert Casselman, a member of the Authority, pointed out that the Board of Aldermen had created the Authority to do a job that is not always pleasant.

He also noted that the Board voted a year ago to support the state-aided urban renewal project which adjoins the proposed federally aided area and is already underway.

"It boils down to a question of trust," Casselman said. "Can the Authority be trusted to deal with the people?" He insisted that there has been no action on their part to warrant a charge of a lack of trust.

School Enrollment Here Down Slightly

By JAMES G. COLBERT, JR.

Superintendent of Schools Aaron Fink, who appeared Monday night at his first School Committee meeting, reported that figures taken on the first day of school showed Newton's School population down slightly.

This year's enrollment totaled 17,808 as against 18,011 at the end of the first day of school last year. Fink pointed out that there are usually a few late registrations.

The enrollment figures include 115 METCO children bussed in from Roxbury. Last year 100 children took part in the METCO program.

Some schools, however, showed increases in pupil population. Fink singled out the Williams School which has risen by 14 per cent to 378 children and the Franklin School which has grown by some four per cent to an enrollment of 570 pupils.

Schools which have requested additional personnel include the Beethoven, Bowen, Davis, Franklin and Williams. In most cases the request was simply for an

Msgr. Granville Is New Pastor Of Sacred Heart

Rev. William A. Granville, a native of Dorchester, was named last week by Richard Cardinal Cushing as Parish Priest of Sacred Heart Parish in Newton, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Most Rev. Eric F. MacKenzie, Auxiliary Bishop of the Archdiocese of Boston.

Cardinal Cushing also announced the appointment of Msgr. Paul V. Harrington, vice-officials of the Archdiocesan Matrimonial Tribunal, as officials.

This also was a position filled by Bishop MacKenzie, who died Wednesday, Aug. 20 after a long illness. He held both positions since the mid 1940s.

Msgr. Granville, who was born May 9, 1918, held the positions of Vice President of the Liberal Arts College and Vice Rector of St. John's Seminary, Brighton. He studied at St. John's Seminary and was ordained Oct. 28, 1943 at Holy Cross Cathedral by Cardinal Cushing.

Msgr. Granville served in parishes in Lowell, Arlington and Marblehead and also studied at the University of Toronto. In 1950 he became a professor at St. John's Seminary and rector of Cardinal O'Connell Minor Seminary in Jamaica Plain, until it became the college division of St. John's last year. He was elevated to Domestic Prelate on Nov. 5, 1964.

Msgr. Harrington, who is 49, also is a native of Dorchester. He was ordained in 1956 and served in parishes in Boston.

additional teacher aide to help cope with specially large classes.

In answer to a question by School Committeeman Edwin H. A. W. R. I. G. E., Assistant Superintendent of Schools for Personnel, James Laurits, explained that he hoped to take care of the "trouble spots" with existing personnel without creating new positions.

In a routine vote, the School Committee set tuition fees for out-of-town students for 1969-70. They will be $763.01 per year for elementary school pupils; $1021.23 for junior high school students; and $1114.93 for high school boys and girls.

That averages out to $19.56 per week for elementary school children.

Evans Enters Ward 2 School Board Contest

John T. Evans, Ph.D., of 85 Gtis St., Newtonville, this week announced his candidacy for the Newton School Committee from Ward 2.

Evans said, "I am running for office because I am just as dissatisfied with the School Administration as many citizens, teachers, taxpayers and parents. I feel that my background and qualifications lend themselves to such an important and responsible position as committeeman."

Community Center Offers New Painters' Workshop

The Newton Community Service Centers, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, has announced a new class for beginning and intermediate painters to be called Painters Workshop. This class is a part of the Creative Art Program for adults and babysitting will be available or art classes. For information phone 969-5906.

Painters Workshop is a course in painting geared especially to the beginning and intermediate painter. Carole Lissitt, teacher from the DeCordova Museum and M. I. T. emphasizes that no previous painting or drawing experience is necessary to join. If you have painted and would like to develop a personal style that express what you want to say, this course will help you.

The focus will be on how to use space well, create a good composition, use color expressively and freely, and make a unique personal statement rather than a photographic representation of reality. Students will progress at their own rate.

Acrylic paints will be supplied by the students as these are easier to paint than oils. A complete list of materials will be sent to each student before the first class. This will be a two-semester program, if registration is filled; for the maximum benefit we suggest you plan on a year with Mrs. Lissitt.

Painters Workshop will meet Wednesdays, beginning Oct. 8 from 12:15 p.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Also slated for an October 8th opening is the popular Experiments In New Media class. The scheduled hour is 10:15 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. except as noted.

Experiments In New Media is a program which was started 2 years ago. By popular demand, three areas have been picked from last year's most successful sessions to be repeated this year: Batikue, Weaving and Paper Sculpture. This course gives women a chance to explore new creative techniques or develop more skill in areas already introduced. The classes are taught by professional artists and teachers, each in their own field of specialization, and will be geared to the beginner of intermediate.

Mrs. Van Buskirk's batikue classes will meet for three sessions, 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. on Oct. 9, 15 and 22. Mrs. Marcoux's Weaving classes will meet 9:15 - 11:15 a.m. on Oct. 29, Nov. 5, 12 and 19. There will be no class Nov. 26.

Mr. Bottomley will teach Paper Sculpture on Dec. 3, 10, 17 and Jan. 7 also at the regular hours.

If you have never tried a wax resist technique on fabric, an off-the-loom wall hanging, or a construction from cardboard and paper, now is your chance. If you want more advanced techniques in these three areas, take advantage of the individual instruction you can receive now.

These teachers may not be available again. Students share in the cost of supplies. More information available at the Newton Community Center, 969-5906.

to be tested ourselves, we can then stress the importance of an annual physical checkup to the other men in the community."

Dr. Eugene Laforet, a member of the American Cancer Society, added: "We applauded the Newton Kiwanis for joining us in what has proved to be a very difficult area of public education to save lives. It's a matter of coming to grips with two attitudes prevalent among men. The first is indifference. The second is a vague notion that a man who goes for a checkup when he is feeling well is somewhat less than "manly".

He continued: "The Society turned to Kiwanis International and its 250,000 members when a statistical study revealed that only 13 American men get regular health checkups to every 40 women. It is significant that 55 men die of cancer in this country to every 45 women. "We believe that early detection, which can be a result of regular health checkups, can be very beneficial in helping us to save lives."

Piano Teaching Hints Given by Arthur Medoff

In today's permissive atmosphere, says Brookline's Arthur Medoff, noted pianist and teacher, parents frequently leave the responsibility of practicing to the youngster. Unfortunately the ability to start a project and carry it thru for several years is a characteristic of the mature adult. The child does not have this ability. It must be taught.

In fact, piano study and parentally supervised practice are excellent ways to build this necessary and admirable ability into the child's character.

Parents can help in other ways also. They should be genuinely interested in the child's playing and show it often by listening and complimenting him. They should expose the child to good music thru recordings and concerts. Choosing a competent teacher is very important also.

To those parents who shy away from the idea of teaching 'pop' music to the beginner, Mr. Medoff says that, properly taught, 'pop' music is the best way to teach keyboard harmony and give the student a real feeling for how music is constructed.

The devices the pupil uses in 'pop' music are exactly the same as 'classical' music. Thus the child develops an empathy for the 'classics' while the 'pops' lure him on to further study.

HARPSICHORDIST IRMA ROGELL has returned to Newton from Lausanne, Switzerland, where she has resided since 1965 between concert tours in Europe. Miss Rogell will be heard on her first LP recording by Ars Nova, Ars Antiqua, to be released this fall and will return to teaching at the Longy School of Music in Cambridge. She will take a limited number of private pupils at her studio in Newton.

Famed Harpsichordist Irma Rogell Returns to Lowell

Internationally acclaimed harpsichordist Irma Rogell has returned from her most recent European tour to take up residence in Newton Centre once again for the coming year.

Since 1965, Miss Rogell has resided for the greater part of each year in Lausanne, Switzerland, making annual concert tours throughout Europe. Her appearances were everywhere greeted with the warmest enthusiasm of press and public. For example, the prestigious Neue Zürcher Zeitung of Zurich led off its review of her concert in that city with the words, "harpsichord art, the like of which we have not experienced since the time of the unforgettable Wanda Landowska." The equally influential Gazette de Lausanne said of her, "Irma Rogell is an artist, profound and inspired. She lends to the composers who she presents to the public a lyrical breath, a spell of enchantment that is rare indeed." Copenhagen called her "a superb musician, presenting an absolutely impressive, artistically masterful harpsichord performance." In Amsterdam she was acclaimed as "an extraordinary artist," and in Yugoslavia she had the distinction of being the first artist to give a solo harpsichord recital in cities such as Rijeka, Sisak, Skopje, and Zagreb among others, and these were praised as "concerts of the highest magnitude."

She has recently been signed to a recording contract with Ars Nova, Ars Antiqua, who are bringing out her first LP this fall, which will feature her 1960 debut recital in Jordan Hall, Boston. During the coming year she will be occupied with editing her many concert tapes for other recordings for Ars Nova, Ars Antiqua.

She also plans to return to Financial Aid To Army Nurse Anesthetists

Registered nurses specializing in anesthesiology are the latest nursing specialist group to benefit from the expanded Army Nurse Corps financial assistance program, according to Maj. Maureen Crowley, Army nurse counselor for the Boston area.

Under the new Army plan, a registered nurse can receive a monthly pay and allowance of $500 or more, while enrolled in a school recognized by the American Association of Nurse Anesthetists, provided the course will be completed in 24 months or less.

After successful completion of the program the anesthetist will serve at least two years as an officer in the ANC, if financial assistance was received for 13 to 24 months, three years must be served.

An applicant for this program must be a registered nurse, male or female, between 20 and 32 years of age, single, (if female), and meet high professional, physical, and moral standards to qualify for a commission in the all officer Army Nurse Corps.

Complete details on the new Army Nurse Corps financial assistance program for nurse anesthetist can be obtained by contacting SSG Fuller at Waltham Recruiting Station, phone 894-9289.

Scientists at Bell Laboratories have fabricated almost a million components on a silicon wafer the size of a postage stamp. The components, which make up integrated circuits, will be used in future Bell System switching equipment and telephones.

Lee Loumos Says:

Have you stopped to realize that in spite of the spiraling inflation we are experiencing, with wages and prices of most items constantly increasing, television is still the one product that has held the line. As a matter of fact, even with new improvements incorporated such as Total Automatic Color (Magnavox calls it TAC) and many other features, prices have remained firm. I really don't believe this can continue for long. As a matter of fact, one large company has advised of a substantial price increase that is imminent, so Christmas prices are bound to be much higher. So my message is, buy your color TV now — it probably will never be any lower in price — in the foreseeable future.

Editorial . . .

Exhibition of Sea Power

When the astronauts returned to earth after landing on the moon, a large area of the Pacific Ocean was turned into a landing sanctuary by the Navy.

What few people seem to realize is that with each pickup of returning astronauts we are witnessing an exhibition of sea power — the capability of going where we wish, when we wish on the earth's seas.

Mobility at sea is a heritage that we cannot afford to lose. The American people must understand that the life of our nation still rests with sea power in its broadest sense.

Recently the magazine U.S. News & World Report devoted a lengthy feature to the rise of Soviet sea power and called it the "Latest Threat to America." It reports the increase of Soviet naval forces all over the world, and the threat they pose to the maritime supremacy of the United States.

However, in describing the development of Russian naval power, the magazine article told but half of the story. The other half involves the soaring growth of the Soviet Merchant Marine, not to mention their large, globe-girdling fishing fleet.

No one knows better than the Soviets that participation in global commerce requires merchant ships — and Russia is building them by the thousands. For years, spokesmen for our maritime industry have sought to awaken the nation to the growing peril of an inadequate merchant marine. Their efforts are underscored by the dramatic expansion of Soviet sea power.

At last there appears to be general agreement that the time has come to put the United States back on the sea-lanes of the world with a merchant marine second to none.

The marine industry has made it clear that we have the technological know-how to do the job. They now await necessary policy and legislative decisions that have been pledged by governmental authorities at the highest level.

Our spaceship landings have demonstrated the meaning of U.S. sea power. The lesson should not be lost.

Good for The IRS

Any failure on the part of police or other law enforcement officers to follow proper procedures in informing lawbreakers of their legal right can result in light penalties or no punishment for perpetrators of the most vicious crimes.

It now appears, at long last, that the poor, battered taxpayer is to be accorded a little more official concern for his rights under the law.

The Internal Revenue Service has announced that an agent investigating alleged tax evasion must now advise the taxpayer at their first meeting that anything he says may be used against him, that he cannot be compelled to incriminate himself by answering question or producing documents and that he has the right to seek assistance of an attorney before responding.

Certainly, taxpayers should receive as much or more official consideration of their legal rights as do criminals apprehended by the police.

The Internal Revenue Service is to be commended for its action.

HO'S LEGACY OF DEATH - AND HOPE

It is possible, of course, that not as much money could be made from an occasionally operated lottery as from a regularly run beano game, but there is no certainty that is the case.

What the lottery measure obviously is intended to do is to give the cloak of legality to illegal fundraising activities by respectable groups, among them religious, charitable and patriotic organizations.

Even though they were prohibited by law, they were kept within moderate limits. Law-enforcement officials closed their eyes to them. Racketeers, who were not desirous of being scooped up and sent to prison, stayed away from them because they were in open and flagrant violation of the law.

Last year the Legislature, with its own display of inconsistency, stiffened the penalty for violating the lottery law, making the offence a felony instead of a misdemeanor.

In order that no religious leader or commander of a veteran post might wind up in the hoosegow, the Legislature this year enacted a bill permitting religious, veteran, fraternal, educational and civic organizations to conduct lotteries and run bazaars.

An emergency preamble was written into the bill so that it became effective upon being signed by the Governor instead of 90 days after his signature, as would normally be the case.

The reason given for making the law effective at once was that it was needed for the preservation of the public convenience, whatever that means.

Nobody will be disturbed if some church, which is having a difficult time making both ends meet, runs a bazaar once in a while or conducts an occasional lottery to raise some much needed money.

In fact, nobody paid much attention when that was done in violation of the law.

The big concern now is whether the gamblers, racketeers and underworld characters will ease their way into the picture and begin operating lotteries, using legitimate and respectable organizations as fronts for their activities and giving them only a small share of the profits, as was done when the beano racket flourished three decades ago.

This is done with smooth talk, not with strong-arm tactics.

A clergyman, who doesn't know how to run a lottery and wouldn't have time to do it if he did know how, is approached by a glib racketeer who outlines an attractive proposition.

He'll run an occasional lottery and guarantee $100 for the church each time he does so. The church won't have to do any work, go to any trouble or put up any money. He will handle everything.

That sounds good to the clergyman whose collections at times are thin and who could use that occasional $100. The unsuspecting churchman has no idea whatever he's sponsoring a racket which may explode at a later time.

It's one thing for a church to conduct a bazaar or hold a raffle in which a color television set or even a new automobile are offered as prizes, with everything being done in an honest and above-board manner.

But it's something else when racketeers operate a controlled and crooked lottery, with a few small prizes being spread around to stimulate interest and the big amount going to shills who are members of the gang.

It is highly probable that the event pictured above and numerous others similar to it will occur at various locations across Massachusetts.

Dirksen First in Spotlight In Dramatic Plea For Taft

The first time Senator Everett M. Dirksen came in forceful fashion to the attention of this writer was at the 1952 Republican national convention in Chicago.

He was leading a losing battle for Senator Robert A. Taft over the seating of two southern delegations — a test of strength that was to point the way to the victory of Dwight D. Eisenhower over Taft for the Republican nomination for President.

Even in defeat Dirksen was at his golden tongued best.

He appealed in dramatic fashion to the various state delegations to stand by Taft, reminding members of the Pennsylvania contingent that he had spoken at their Dutch suppers, recalling a night he had lain awake in a hotel on the Maine coast, listening to the surf pound in on the shore.

Dirksen perhaps reached his height in oratory when he pointed down to Thomas E. Dewey in the New York delegation and declared: "We followed you before, and you led us down the road to defeat."

His speech provided some of the most exciting moments of that convention, but Dirksen was unable to hold the line for his colleague, Bob Taft.

Two delegations favorable to Taft were thrown out and two backing Eisenhower were seated. That settled the Presidential battle.

Again we met Dirksen early on the morning after Richard Nixon was nominated for President at the 1960 GOP national convention, also in Chicago.

"Who would make the best candidate for Vice President, in your opinion?" we asked Dirksen.

"Modest forbids me to reply," the colorful Solon answered with a grin.

Postal Workers Discussing Possible Christmas Strike

Word from Washington is that postal employees are discussing the possibility of staging a strike at the peak of the Christmas card mail rush in December unless they get another pay raise on top of the wage hike given them in July.

Members of Congress probably will vote the salary boost for the postal workers rather than risk the danger of a mail delivery slowdown or complete stoppage just before Christmas.

But President Nixon is vigorously opposed to giving the postal employees their second raise in a few months and might veto any bill which would do that.

If Mr. Nixon and the postal workers both stand firm, the threat of a strike before Christmas will assume grim proportions. That would be just a dandy development at the Yuletide.

Sarge Is Against Slogans But Adept At Coining Them

Beacon Hill observers are chuckling over some of the statements contained in Governor Francis W. Sargent's recent report to the people of Massachusetts on his service as head of the state government for a seven months period.

"Slogans will not serve us," was the key pitch by the Governor in a speech taped before he left to attend the Governor's Conference at Colorado Springs but shown on television after he arrived there.

The amusing aspect to that observation was that either Mr. Sargent himself or one of his speech-writers is quite adept at coining slogans.

Governor Sargent, for instance, has referred to the "crisis in confidence," which is not a bad slogan.

On the basis of just about everything he has done and said since he assumed the Governorship and even in the prior two years when he was Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Sargent is an amateur in politics.

That is not necessarily bad from his standpoint. He might just have greater appeal to the voting public as an amateur, who occasionally trips over his own words, than he would as a polished professional.

An accomplished politician, Sarge is not.

Miss Ayache To Conduct Adults' Course at YMCA

Miss Ernestine Ayache, formerly of Centre Street, Newton, is returning to Newton to conduct an adult course at the Newton Y. M. C. A. in American Literature. She was educated at Boston University, where she received her degree in English Literature in 1961.

Her work in retail the past eight years has been supplemented by teaching at Project Headstart in Cambridge, and other community activities.

Often a traveler in Europe and a member of the business community, her background in literature has caused her to become interested in the literary and aesthetic side of America.

The course which she has prepared will begin with the earliest American writers, the early settlers and extend to Walt Whitman.

"I feel," she tells us, "that one must answer to the often expressed criticism of America as a materialistic nation. It is true that from early times, material success has been an American way of life, but America also has its examining side, its humanistic and spiritual side. In this course, I hope to explore the interesting literary produce of this nation."

This course will be given in eight one-hour classes, meeting on Tuesday, at 8:00 p.m. beginning Sept. 16, at the Newton Y. M. C. A.

For further information on this or any of the other new and interesting adult education courses presented by the Newton "Y," call 244-6050 or stop by at 276 Church street, Newton.

High Holy Day Message 5730-1969

Crisis has become a popular and sometimes over-used word in our everyday vocabulary. We speak of the crisis in Black-Jewish relations; the crisis of youth; the Middle East crisis, not to mention the continual crises on a political level. But what should concern us most is a crisis of the spirit. As we approach the beginning of another year we ask the eternal questions - What are we? What is life? What is our purpose and destiny?

The feast of reaching out to the moon may have given man a temporary uplift of the spirit. He was made aware of his power and intelligence when directed toward a defined goal. What direction is given that same intelligence and power to solve the problems of war, poverty, hate and sickness? For the Jew the search for answers begins in the synagogue, with the High Holy Day theme of repentance and re-turning. The synagogue can provide the spiritual renourishment which we need to face the crises of the year ahead.

The Associated Synagogues of Massachusetts extends to its affiliated congregations and supporters, to the Jewish community and to our fellow Jews in Israel and throughout the world, its best wishes for a New Year of joy and fulfillment, of peace and contentment, of spiritual renewal and achievement.

President Nixon's Policy In Southeast Asia Emerging

Opinions as to the effect Ho Chi Minh's death will have upon the war in Vietnam differ sharply among observers who are supposedly experts on the subject.

One school of thought is that Ho's death will make it easier to negotiate a peace in Vietnam. A contrary reasoning, however, is that it will do just the opposite and prolong the war.

Officials in both the State and Defense Departments, who should know something about the matter, are proceeding on the assumption that Ho's death will have no effect on war developments and that nothing will be changed.

President Nixon, according to highly reliable sources, is planning to withdraw between 200,000 and 250,000 men from Vietnam during 1970, cutting our forces there in half.

Mr. Nixon's goal, persons close to him say, is less U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia.

The President does not believe we can pull out of that part of the world. He feels we should aid countries who are hit by Communist power grabs, but he thinks we should help them defend themselves, not fight their wars for them.

That, apparently, will be our policy in Southeast Asia for the remainder of the Nixon administration.

Sunday Services At 1st Church of Christ, Scientist

All are welcome at services at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 391 Walnut St., Newtonville, on Sunday (Sept. 14) at 10:45 a.m.

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in this Sunday. These verses from Proverbs are included: "He that hath a bountiful eye shall be blessed; for he giveth of his bread to the poor... Rob not the poor, because he is poor: neither oppress the afflicted in the gate."

Related passages read: "To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God... The objects we pursue and the spirit we manifest reveal our standpoint, and show what we are winning" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy).

Mini-losers And Maintainers Now At Diet Workshop

A new type of weight reduction group specifically designed for the person who has only 10 pounds or less to lose or who wishes to "maintain" a weight reduction has been organized at The Diet Workshop.

The new group — to be called Mini-Loser Maintenance Workshop — will be held at the office of the Diet Workshop at 317 Washington St. in Newton Corner. This group will run for six weeks and will begin on today (Sept. 11) at 7:30 p.m.

Many people who only have a few pounds to shed feel a bit out of place joining a regular class of Diet Workshop because their main problem doesn't involve losing a large amount of weight, but rather it centers around being able to eat the so-called "forbidden foods" in controlled amounts. These people can benefit from the discipline used by such a group as this and they can learn how to compensate for "cheating" when they are on "maintenance." Most people who have had a weight problem of any sort need the incentive this group can provide to "keep on the straight and narrow" where food is concerned.

Committees Prepare For Hope Cotillion and Ball

A Massachusetts committee has been formed for the first time for a very important social event — the Hope Cotillion and Ball to be held the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf - Astoria, New York, in December.

Governor and Mrs. Francis Sargent and Mrs. William Ziskind of Newton head the committee and co-chairmen are Mrs. Peter Fuller, Mrs. Curt E. Gowdy, Mrs. Chase Kimball, Mrs. John C. Pappas and Mrs. Henry E. Snell.

Nine young ladies from Massachusetts, whose names have not been announced, will be presented at this 8th annual Hope Cotillion which is for the benefit of Project Hope.

This ball is but one instrument to publicize the program and accomplishments of Project Hope — a floating medical center which has captured the imagination of the world over.

Staffed by highly competent medical personnel, the hospital ship S. S. Hope has brought teaching and medical treatment programs to the people of many developing nations. The ship has conducted programs on three continents upon request of the governments involved and these programs have remained after the ship has left. This project, while improving the health conditions of many developing nations, contributes immensely to the bonds of friendship between the United States and the countries visited.

About five million dollars annually in needed to sustain the operation of the S. S. Hope and Project Hope's land-based programs. The continuance of these services depends primarily on private resources.

Thousands of individuals and groups, including organized labor, business and industry have made tax exempt contributions. The U. S. Government has also rendered financial assistance to the project.

The Massachusetts Committee is requesting local citizens to contribute to this most worthy project. Contributions of cash, advertisements, etc., are in no sense a "give-away," a most effective means to help other to help themselves. These contributions are a symbol of compassion on the hundreds of thousands of people who have, and will, benefit from the voyages of the S. S. Hope.

For additional information please contact Mrs. William Ziskind of 83 Oak Hill St., Newton, Mass. 02159 (527-4664 or 527-9285). Donations may be sent to the same address.

Mrs. Charkoudian To Staff Of The Thirteenth Year

A former member of the guidance department of the Newton public schools has been appointed Director of Guidance for the new Boston school called "The Thirteenth Year".

Mrs. Bethel Charkoudian of Boston has joined the staff of the school which offers a new educational program offering personal counseling, college preparatory, tutorial assistance and career orientation to high school graduates seeking to choose between college and career.

Mrs. Charkoudian was graduated from Radcliffe College, earned a Master of Arts degree in English at Yale University and a graduate degree in counseling from Columbia Teachers College in New York. She taught at Lexington High School in Massachusetts prior to her appointment to the Newton Guidance Department.

"The Thirteenth Year", said Mrs. Charkoudian, "is designed to reverse the pattern of failure the student has experienced in the high school classroom."

"Our program will concentrate on helping students develop their own interests, helping them develop insights into their own strengths and weaknesses and helping them find relevancy in their lives, whether their ultimate decision be to proceed to higher education or to seek employment in a career which will provide them with personal satisfaction."

faculty, and at the same time responsive to the changing conditions of the schools and the community alike.

"A school committee which allows itself to become isolated from the complex world of today's students — not to mention the concerns of their teachers and their parents — will jeopardize its capacity for judgment and leadership."

"Each of these three groups have not only a direct stake in the character of public education, but also a new determination to be heard in their views about what education should accomplish, and about what a school should be."

"A good school committee must combine accessibility and a willingness to listen and learn, with the courage to be decisive in the presence of conflicting demands and viewpoints."

"The search for the superintendent," he continued, "was extremely instructive. As a result of discussion, correspondence and interviews with school people throughout the country, we were able to gain a number of new perspectives on Newton itself."

"Visitors to Newton were consistently impressed by the quality of the faculty as they were critical of the physical condition of the older school buildings. With some consistency they agreed that Newton is now regarded nationally less as an 'innovator' school system than as one which remains especially attractive to good teachers."

"Many high-quality systems, we were told, have now gone beyond Newton in experimental programs, though some claim to be more successful in their procedures for assessing and evaluating experimental curricula. But all of them share with Newton certain basic problems: growing resistance to budget increases together with unmet needs for space, personnel and equipment; the complexities of collective bargaining; student unrest and the issues of authority, governance and discipline; and the critical problem of meeting the variable needs and talents of all kinds of

Miss McCorry Married To Mr. Cincotta

Miss Lilith Joanne McCorry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. McCorry of 30 Shute path, Newton Centre, and Michael John Cincotta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cincotta of Port Washington, N.Y., were married recently at Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Newton.

The Rt. Rev. John Keilly officiated at the double ring three o'clock afternoon ceremony. A reception was held at Pier four in Boston.

Mr. Cincotta and his bride will make their home in Port Washington, N.Y.

The bride is a graduate of the Leland Powers School and the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York. She is now associated with Capital Cities in New York.

Three Enroll At Kenyon College

Among the students who began classes at Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio, this week are three from the Newtons. They are Roger H. Medoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Medoff of 44 Park Lane, Newton, a graduate of Murray Road Annex of Newton High; Joan Gail Silverman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrold Silverman of 78 Wauwinet Rd., West Newton, a graduate of Newton High and Linda L. Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Gross of Pennsylvania, also a graduate of Newton High.

students, not simply the ablest.

"The School Committee can no more afford to be isolated from the several constituencies it is expected to serve in Newton than it can from good school systems elsewhere which are meeting similar problems in different ways."

"I have already proposed a simple plan by which the Newton School Committee can develop contacts with a variety of superintendents, principals, teachers and specialists from other cities as a means of keeping up with the best thought available to us. The fact that Mr. Fink comes to Newton from another good system is in itself a considerable asset. The experience gained in finding him should not be lost."

Before his election, Douglas participated between 1962-1967 in the development of the Newton Social Studies program for the high schools. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Social Studies Curriculum Project of the Educational Development Center (formerly EST) and in 1968 was elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas and their three sons live at 97 Hillside Avenue, West Newton. Mrs. Douglas will enter the Graduate School of Social Work at Boston University this fall.

"The issues are critical yet they are basic. High tax rates and education are two of the most important concerns of our time. Both problems need immediate attention in Newton and both have not received adequate emphasis over the past several years."

"The time is now to face these problems head-on. The ever increasing tax rate is a direct result of a sky-rocketing education bill. Here are the issues that need quick attention:

1. Better financial control, a good cost accounting system, and communication of school expenses directly to the tax payer.
2. A concentrated plan of action for safe schools free of violence, vandalism and drug abuse.
3. Independent evaluation of so-called 'innovations.' Indiscriminate experiments at the child's expense must be discontinued. Programs which prove their value should be retained and augmented.
4. Equality of education in all schools so that children going from several elementary schools to a junior high school and from several junior high schools to a high school will be equally prepared.
5. A curriculum plan at the level of the Superintendent's office and NOT the principals' office. This is of great importance for uniformity.
6. Open enrollment? Yes, if necessary to even the load and make maximum use of every school... NO, if one school is considered better than another. All schools must be upgraded to the best possible level.

7. Single session? Yes! The child benefits from regular school hours, particularly in elementary schools. And the working mothers are benefited which is of further benefit to the children.

Parents of high school juniors and seniors: Can you answer these basic questions about getting your son or daughter into college?

1. Can you name the college your son or daughter wants to attend?
2. Can you name the colleges you think your son or daughter is best suited for?
3. Do you know how much it really costs to send your son or daughter to the college of his choice?
4. Do you know what financial aid (scholarships, loans, etc.) is available?
5. Are you familiar with the aptitude and achievement tests that most colleges require?
6. Can you list the unique programs offered by the college of your son or daughter's choice?
7. Can you name the forms of financial aid available through college funds?
8. When are National Merit Scholarship tests administered?
9. When should you apply to college?
10. What do you do after you've received a rejection letter?

This fall, 1,600,000 high school seniors became college Freshmen.

How many hundreds of thousands of those seniors went to the wrong college?

How many other seniors applied, but couldn't get in at all?

And how many didn't apply at all because they didn't have the answers to questions like the ten above?

To help answer all these questions and to simplify what has become "the sophisticated process of getting into college", Houghton Mifflin (one of the most respected names in educational publishing) has put together a package of material called The College Selection Program.

The Program consists of pamphlets that discuss (in depth) college financing, scholarships, testing, curriculum, how to fill out applications, how to choose a college, even how to handle a rejection letter. And a great deal more.

In addition, the Computer College Search (part of the Program) tells you which of the almost 1600 two- or four-year accredited colleges best satisfies the criteria that you and your son or daughter select.

The cost of the entire College Selection Program, including the personal computer study, is only

$10. (About half the cost of the usual college application fee.)

In today's world, where the students interested in going to college vastly outnumber the openings available, we think parents and students alike can use all the help they can get.

For $10, The College Selection Program can supply a lot of it.

All Newton Music School Begins 59th Yr. Sept. 29

The All Newton Music School at 321 Chestnut St., West Newton, will begin its 59th season on Monday (Sept. 29). The school offers individual instruction in all string instruments, woodwinds, brass, harp, piano, voice, classical and folk guitar, recorder and percussion. Every instrumental and voice student is eligible to enroll in the musicianship classes at no extra cost.

The All Newton Music School is a non-profit organization founded in 1911 by Elizabeth Fyffe. She, together with a group of public spirited people of Newton, believed that music study of a high quality should be made available for all children and adults.

For younger children, the All Newton Music School offers pre-instrumental music classes, which give the child the necessary ear training, elements of sight singing, rhythm, and melody. For those who have had eurhythmics a piano-eurhythmics course is being planned.

The school also offers a wide array of courses for adults. A sight-reading class for adults offers an opportunity for learning to read music by sight and developing the power of perceptive hearing. It should be a help to both singers and instrumentalists. An adult recorder beginner's class and more advanced recorder workshops are offered two evenings a week. This year a creative dance and eurhythmics for adults program will be added to the curriculum.

The school's dance department consists of creative dance for children age 6 and

Art Classes For Mothers And Children Resume

The Newton Community Service Centers, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, (969-5906) has just announced a new offering for Mothers and Children to participate in Creative Art class together. Mothers and Children class is an outgrowth of the very successful Mothers and Tots program which was started last year and will also be offered this fall. Classes will begin Oct. 6, but parents are asked to register early by requesting a detailed information sheet from the Center.

This program offers young children, age 2 years old and up their first introduction to "creative" work through the special efforts of mother and teacher. Children will expand their sensory perception by experimenting with many forms of art media (visual and tactile) in an atmosphere free of restraint and worry about mess. Use with children, as well as a new perspective for themselves on the potentialities for an adult of the so-called "children's media."

Seeing mothers and children involved in mutual creative efforts like puppet making, splashing in paint with bare feet to music, building "things" from boxes, etc. has made it clear that the values of togetherness and creativity make this venture doubly meaningful.

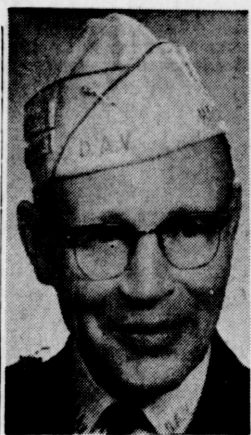

The schedule is as follows: Mondays (beginning October 6) Jackie Melissas, Instructor; Bea Lewis, Asst. 9:20 a.m. - 10:20 a.m. Mothers and Tots (aged 2 years and up); 10:40 a.m. - 11:40 a.m. Mothers and Tots (aged 2 years and up); 1:00 p.m. - 2:00 p.m. Mothers and Tots (aged 2 years and up); 3:15 p.m. - 4:15 p.m. Mothers and Children (Kindergarten or older).

About the instructors: Mrs. Melissas is a graduate of the Rhode Island School of Design and an experienced art teacher from the Brookline Jewish Community Center, and Lexington Montessori School. Jackie, mother of 4, will be assisted by Beatrice Lewis, mother of 3 and designer for Photo International, Inc. in Newton.

P.C. JOHN BOUCHARD

P.C. MRS. BOUCHARD

Past Commanders, DAV And Auxiliary, Meet Again-Wed

A story-book romance that began when they met and courted at Camp Devens many years ago was climaxed by the recent wedding of Past Commander Margaret E. Sharron of Gardner to Past Commander John E. Bouchard of Newton (of the Chaplain William J. Farrell Chapter, Disabled American War Veterans and its Auxiliary). Mr. Bouchard was stationed at the then Camp Devens when he met Mrs. Bouchard.

Following their early romance, each went their individual ways, married and raised families.

They met again, 47 years later, when visiting patients at the V.A. Hospital in Jamaica Plain while doing volunteer work.

Mrs. Bouchard, the former Margaret (Gallagher) Sharron of 35 Mayfield Road, Gardner, chose an aqua ensemble for her wedding at the Holy Spirit Church in Gardner on Sunday (Aug. 17). She wore a corsage of red roses.

The Rev. Edward Gully performed the double-ring ceremony.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Wanda Zetkowsky of Gardner and Mr. Raymond Bouchard of East Greenwich, R.I. was best man for his brother.

A wedding dinner was held at Fox Run in Phillipston and the couple combined a honeymoon with the National Convention of the D.A.V. in Miami, Fla., where both were delegates.

Mrs. Bouchard, a graduate of Fitchburg State Teachers College, is a retired teacher from the Natick, Gardner and Winchendon Schools. She is Past Commander of the Chap. William J. Farrell Chapter, D.A.V. Auxiliary, past president of the Catholic Women's Club of Gardner and is now Hospital Chairman and Adjutant-Treasurer of the D.A.V. Auxiliary of Newton.

She is the mother of Cornelius Sharron of Worthington, supervising principal of regional schools; Frederick Sharron of Manchester, N.H., engineer with Fisher-Pierce of Rockland; and Staff Sergeant Charles Sharron of the Bedford Air Force Base and is grandmother of eight children.

Mr. Bouchard, a graduate of Technical High School in Providence, R.I. and of Gage-Davis School of Advertising in Chicago; is Past State Commander of the Disabled American Veterans; Past President of Commanders and Adjutants of the national organization of D.A.V. and local Past Commander of the Chaplain William Farrell, D.A.V., and is present Adjutant.

He is the father of Mrs. Claire P. Blake of Minneapolis, Minn.; Lt. Commander Paul J. Bouchard, U.S.C.G. of Alexandria, Va.; Eugene A. Bouchard of Wapping, Conn., sales manager of GE Hotpoint Division; and has seven grandchildren.

The Past Commanders will make their home in Gardner, and upon return from the National Convention in Miami, will doubtless settle the issue as to who ranks who.

Gets Master's Degree

Former Newton resident and graduate of Newton High School, Michael Fischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fischer of South Miami, Fla., has received a master of education degree from the University of Miami.

Fischer and his wife will reside in Colorado while he teaches and continues in graduate school at the University of Colorado at Boulder in preparation for his doctoral degree.

Pottery Exhibit at Library To Continue Until Sept. 25

Those who missed the August exhibit of the splendid ceramics of artist Maria Bonanous-Papayannaki at the Boston Public Library, should visit the Newton Free Library this month and inspect the 500 pots of this prolific young Greek sculptor and scholar.

Mme. Papayannaki, professor of theology at the University of Athens as well as professor of ceramics at the Royal Provident Institute, has spent seven years laboring over her definitive collection, which includes 250 miniatures and 250 scale pots spelling out the history of pottery in glorious Greece.

The tiny replicas represent table and cooling ware used through the ages by the Greeks; and the remaining 250 pots range from reconstructions of potsherds found in digs on Crete and elsewhere to modern creations in native clays by Mme. Papayannaki.

Every viewer will find his favorite among the pots — the brilliant blues, yellows, greens, lustrous glazed vases, earthen — colored bowls, heavy stoneware giants, even a pair of unglazed hens which signify love.

Mme. Papayannaki, who has previously exhibited her work at Northeastern University (1967) as well as at other American and Canadian universities, is accompanied on this trip by her husband,

Midget Gridders To Open Season Here Next Sunday

The Newton Athletic Association teams will launch their current gridiron season when they play host to the young footballers from Norwood at the season opener next Sunday, September 14, at Monsignor Daley Field, Nonantum road, Newton.

The Midget Tigers will take to the field at 1:30 p.m., with the Junior Midget Lions getting into action in a game immediately following.

These games will be the first for the Newton Athletic Association sponsored teams.

Norwood packs a powerful reputation in the South Shore Division of Pop Warner Football. However, the Norwood club was thrown for a 20-15 loss last weekend at the hands of the gridders from Staten Island, N. Y.

The Newton Tigers were impressive in their exhibition opener with a 20-8 win over Randolph. The Newton Lions concluded their exhibition efforts with a 0-0 tally. The rosters of the two Newton clubs are as follows:

NAA Tiger In Opening Win, 20-8

The Newton Tigers played their first game and won their first victory by defeating the Kelleher Club of Randolph 20-8.

The Newton Lions were impressive in the game holding the Randolph Junior Midgets 0-0.

John Vizakis scored two touchdowns on runs of five and 27 yards and brother Jim Vizakis chipped in a score with a jaunt from the 2-yard line.

Left halfback Kevin Hoban scored the only conversion in addition to picking up 53 yards for the day.

Bob Cohen On Varsity At Brown U.

Bob Cohen, former Newton High School gridiron standout, is a member of the Brown University (varsity) football squad, moving up from last year's freshman team.

The 5-10, 195 pound sophomore brings impressive credentials to the varsity from last year's 5-1 Cub team.

As the team's fullback, he gained 136 yards in 49 carries, but more importantly he served as the lead runner in the backfield, running interference for the Cub's fleet halfbacks.

Third year coach Len Jardine realizes Cohen's potential and expects to use him often because the Newton native is a hard, pile driving runner and excellent blocker.

Not only will Jardine use Cohen, but he will also use many of the outstanding sophomores from that distinguished freshman team in combination with his twenty returning lettermen in the hopes of producing a winning season at Brown.

The former All-League selection at Newton High is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cohen, of 62 Sheffield Road, Newton. With the intention of continuing to medical school, Cohen is obtaining a liberal arts degree at Brown.

Alderman Barkin In Big Bike Race

Alan S. Barkin of 540 Parker St. Newton, participated in the Annual League of American Wheelmen Century Run last Saturday.

Mr. Barkin, a member of the LAW affiliate bicycle club Charles River Wheelmen, completed the 100 mile bicycle ride in eight hours and 25 minutes.

The ride began and ended at club headquarters at 131 Mt. Auburn St., Cambridge, and included Fitchburg, Townsend, Groton, North Chelmsford, Bedford, and Lexington.

His only mishap on the ride was a flat tire outside of Fitchburg. He was accompanied on the ride by Dr. Ralph Galen of Lexington, the newly elected president of the LAW.

Mr. Barkin is Ward Alderman from Ward 8 in Newton.

South Cross-Country Team Has Good Balance, Depth

By Lewis Freedman

Six of nine varsity lettermen return plus the entire squad from a 5-2 JV to give the 1969 Newton South Cross-Country team excellent balance and depth.

However the Lions will need a very strong contingent just to survive in the recently realigned Suburban League.

The league's new look features "expansion franchises" in Brockton, Weymouth, Cambridge Latin, Rindge Tech, and Brookline, plus old standbys Newton South, Newton High, Arlington, and Waltham. Meanwhile, Everett, Malden, Medford and Revere have moved to the Greater Boston League.

These teams are not exactly like major league baseball's new additions, however. They are all established teams. Brockton is the reigning three-consecutive-year New England Cross-Country champion. Weymouth is a perennial powerhouse and was fourth in Class A last year.

Newton, as always, and Arlington, are both exceptionally strong this fall. Newton was league titlist in 1968, but will really have to battle to repeat.

South, with a fairly strong team will have to struggle to finish even at 4-4.

Leading the returning varsity lettermen is Junior Dick Dickinson who owns a 14:42 clocking over Mt. Ida Junior College's grassy course and also earned a 20th place medal in the league meet plus a 16th place medal in the huge 200-man Catholic Memorial Invitational sophomore race.

Chuck Pottey, a junior, exhibited fantastic improvement during the second half of the '68 season. His fastest time was 14:55.

Another junior who finished strong, Mike LeBlanc, returns with a 15:13 timing on the South home course.

Larry Junda raced to a 15:36 last season and he too is only a junior.

Senior Dave Glaser charted a 15:37 and has worked hard all summer to lower his time. This, strictly according to fastest times, then, is the top five. However, only the top three spots seem safe as many experienced runners are waiting to grab at any opening.

Captain Steve Sahl, who competed only infrequently last year, still found time to run a 15:42 and capture a 17th place award in the league meet. Sahl has been sidelined with a back injury. He ran only once indoors and not at all outdoors, but has been working himself back into shape over the tail end of the summer and should be ready for the team's first competition.

Mike Oshima, a junior, also grabbed a (20th place) medal in the Suburban League race. His fastest effort in 15:46. However, Oshima may go to private school.

Steve Reef, a junior who had mononucleosis in '68 will surely be a varsity runner.

If Ron Schneider can ever shake his injury jinx then he will most likely move into the top three, but he is a question mark.

Three more runners attempting to jump to the varsity are juniors John Seler, who enjoyed a successful outdoor season in the 440 as a sophomore, Howie Berman and Dan Barkin. 880 man Jim Glazier will also try Cross-Country this fall.

One unusual factor about this year's team is that no sophomore has emerged as a contender for a varsity spot during early practices. In fact, in direct contrast to previous years, no soph have even showed up. And in 1968 four of the team's top five were sophomores and six earned varsity letters.

Coach Richard Geist, now in his eighth year, is approaching the coming season with optimism and envisions a high finish for his squad.

However, it seems that the league is just too powerful for the Lions and that they will probably end up with a 3-5 or 4-4 slate.

tary schoolers and $26.19 and $28.59 per week for junior and senior high school students.

By State law the School Committee must set its rates for tuition for out-of-town students attending Newton Schools according to the average cost per pupil for the preceding year. Administration and transportation costs are not counted.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas, who is an ex-officio member of the School Committee, commented that he has been fighting the Massachusetts laws on rate setting for several years.

He explained that in computing Newton's assessments for Middlesex County as well as in out-of-town tuition costs, previous year's figures are employed, although taxpayers must, in fact, meet the expenditures of the current year.

The mayor urged that the School Board support legislation modifying the existing rule.

School Committee Chairman Manuel Beckwith suggested to Committeeman Francis P. Frazier that he raise the issue at the forthcoming convention of School Committees.

In answer to a query by Frazier, Committee member Alvin Mandell said he calculated that the total expenditure per pupil in Newton is approximately $1210. Mandell added that while the $1210 figure shows Newton's "tremendous will for quality education" the actual cost to the city is somewhat less since Newton is partly reimbursed by Federal and State Governments.

Mandell arrived at his $1210 cost by dividing the total school budget of $2,457,813 by the enrollment of 17,808 pupils.

In an attempt to defray a portion of these expenditures School Committee member Hawkridge proposed an increase in the fee charged organizations which use school buildings in the afternoons and evenings.

Hawkridge's motion, seconded by Mayor Basbas and passed by the School Board, provides that an additional $2 per hour be charged all organizations other than the PTA's which use school buildings. Previously, the only charge has been for custodians' overtime. Monday night Director of School Business Services John E. Gilleland said he estimated that heat and electricity for light and ventilation both cost an additional dollar.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Norma W. Mintz, School Committee member for Ward 2, the increase in fees will not be effective until January 1, 1970. Mrs. Mintz said she favors the use of buildings by civil organizations and that, although she accepted the increased fee because of a general rise in educational costs, she was afraid that a sudden hike in fees might hurt small organizations with tight budgets who depend on school facilities for their activities.

Mayor Basbas recommended that a schedule of rates be set up which would give different treatment to different classes of organization. The Mayor suggested that groups applying for use of school buildings be divided into three categories: local civic, non fund-raising; secondly, local groups which are fund-raising or admissions photography classes set at local 'Y'

The Newton YMCA announces two programs for the creative and artistic children who have interests in photography. Any child owning a camera may wish to further his knowledge and skill by taking these courses.

Class content will include the workings of the camera, correct picture taking, developing, and printing. Beginners' class will be on Saturday mornings. Mr. Mark Nelson, a free-lance photographer, will be the instructor for this class.

Mr. Nelson has extensive creative ability and knowledge, and is able to bring out the child's creative ideas.

A class in creative photography, for junior and senior high students, will be held on Monday evenings. Class content will include the technical aspects of picture taking, workshops, and picture critiques.

Classes will run for ten weeks beginning late in September. Further information may be obtained by calling the Y at 244-6050.

charging; and finally, outside groups.

Both Committee men Frazier and Mandell expressed concern over the possible use of school buildings by organizations from outside of Newton. Frazier voiced surprise about a ruling by the City Solicitor that such use is legal. Mandell proposed that an additional 25 per cent be charged such groups to meet general maintenance and depreciation costs.

Mrs. Mintz countered that no groups using school buildings are completely without Newton membership.

She added that suggestions made by Committee members about percentages of Newtonites which turn an organization into a local group are not workable criteria.

No action was taken on Mandell's proposal.

Police-Bankers Softball Classic Due on Saturday

The softball game between what promised to be a hotly-picked teams from the Newton Police Department and the Newton Bankers Association, which had been scheduled for the Albermarle Recreation Centre field at 7 p.m. last Tuesday night was postponed until Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, September 13th at the same field.

The respective coaches have announced that their athletes will be able to retain the peak of physical and competitive perfection attained for Tuesday night's classic.

It was felt that the heavy rain would have dampened the enthusiasm of prospective fans to the point of not showing up at all. The fast and snappy type of game being prepared by both clubs hardly would have survived a muddy and forcing a cancellation of track.

"SAFETY for SAVINGS"

Down Front

by RAND SMITH

Boston held its own miniature Woodstock Music Festival last week, August 28th on Boston Common, and Beacon Hill is still shaking from the impact.

One of the most popular current rock groups, the Chambers Brothers, held an audience of fifteen thousand young people literally in the palm of their hands for nearly two hours. There were no accurate figures because half way through the show a portion of the flimsy snow fence which surrounded the area fell down and thousands of those who were outside suddenly became inside.

The only incidents or accidents were not produced by the audience but as a result of carbon monoxide fumes in and from the Common Garage. The list of credits would be too long to run but I should say that Mayor White must be very proud of his "Summerthing" staff headed by the indefatigable Kathy Kane, and supported by George Davis and Erich Kelley.

The performance itself nearly defies description: it is partly loud music, partly good showmanship, partly exciting and sometimes inciting. But the sumtotal is at least interesting and at most revealing as to the quality and trend in public entertainment being fostered by the younger generation. A Beethoven Quintet, rock is not; their music, it most definitely is.

From the mail box:
We at the Conservatory were very glad to hear you will be editing a newspaper column, "Down Front" and we want to wish you the best of luck.

We would like very much to place your name on the list of Boston critics to whom we send complimentary tickets to Jordan Hall Concerts. Again, best of luck with your new column.

Sincerely,
Mary Jean Kappa

Dear Mr. Smith:
For some time I have been thinking about sounding off about today's movies. For the most part they are not fit for the clean-minded people to see. Most of the people I know feel the same way.

I have young children (teenagers 13 & 14 years) and wouldn't think of letting them see a picture until I have checked it out and because the titles are often very misleading.

As far as the nakedness bit—there is a place for everything, plays and pictures are not it. Even the people who enjoy this sort of thing must get tired of it. Have you ever taken a look at the people who visit these shows down on Washington Street, Boston? They are a sorry, sick and mixed up looking people. Why should they be catered to? Their life is already messed up. Why start on the kids and drag them down too? I could go on and on but you must get the idea.

Sincerely,
Roslindale

PLAN CAMPAIGN — Mayor Monte G. Basbas, left, looks over organization plans with Rep. Theodore D. Mann, director of the Basbas' campaign for re-election as Mayor of Newton.

Re-election Drive Basbas Names Mann Campaign Director

Mayor Monte G. Basbas today announced the appointment of Representative Theodore D. Mann as Director of the Basbas campaign for re-election to a third term as Mayor of Newton.

In making the announcement, Basbas said he asked Mann to take this position, and that he is pleased that the Newton Representative will play an active and important part in formulating plans and policies.

Rep. Mann said that Basbas Campaign Headquarters soon will be opened on Washington street in Newtonville, and that he will carry on his duties as Campaign Director from the office.

Mayor Basbas noted Rep. Mann's "long and effective service in behalf of Newton and its residents." Mann is serving his third term as representative after four consecutive terms on Newton's Board of Aldermen.

In the Legislature, Rep. Mann has been prominently identified with a number of important bills, including those dealing with the employment of women as control officers, Medicare and other benefits for those over 65; insurance protection, assistance for retarded children and others dealing with social and educational needs.

Long active in Newton's civic affairs, Rep. Mann currently heads the city's United Fund drive. He has been chairman of the Heart Fund, trustee of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies, president and treasurer of the Massachusetts Cancer Fund, and president of the Temple Mishkan, Tefila Brotherhood, among others.

Rep. and Mrs. Mann and their five children reside on Littlefield road in the Oak Hill section of Newton.

In accepting the appointment as campaign director, Rep. Mann stated: "I am undertaking this post in the interests of good government in our city. I feel strongly that Mayor Basbas is giving our community the dynamic leadership it needs and that we must have the continuing benefit of his intimate knowledge of the city's requirements and his executive capabilities in order to meet the serious problems of our times."

"Mayor Basbas has shown remarkable ability and initiative in meeting the challenge of the past several years and despite generally spiraling costs he has managed to keep the tax rate at a level considerably lower than expected. Basbas' dynamism

Have you ever invented a "pantry-shelf" specialty using canned soups or dry soup mixes? Your favorite standby might be a quick chowder, made from frozen soup and seafood, or a spicy broth served in mugs. Soups made from "scratch" are eligible, too. Perhaps your famous for your version of old-world made dish soup. And don't forget your own special blend of soup seasonings. Do you make old-fashioned soups from convenient "foods"? To start you thinking, how about... mushroom chicken soup, noodle frank soup, tuna vegetable medley, corn potato chowder? There's no end to the list. Try them, won't you?

You'll never forget the special dishes cooked by the chef at THE HIGHLANDS RESTAURANT, 1114 Beacon Street, Newton, 332-4400. For all occasions at your office, plant or home try our unique Gourmet Catering Service. "Catering to the Discriminating". Phone for information.

Temple Reyim Fall Program Is Now Underway

A full program of activities at Temple Reyim is planned for the fall season according to an announcement by Temple President H. John Silver.

The first major activity will be a leadership dinner on Thursday evening, September 4th. The purpose of this program is to acquaint the congregation with the program of Temple Reyim for the coming year.

On Saturday night, September 6th, the annual Selihot service will be conducted under the leadership of Rabbi Philip Kieval and Cantor Manuel Zymelman. A major feature of this service will be the High Holiday Institute — an opportunity for congregants to become better acquainted with the meaning and purpose of various aspects of the High Holiday services.

On Friday evening, September 12th, the High Holiday season will be ushered in. In addition to the service for the congregation, conducted by Rabbi Kieval, Cantor Zymelman and Rev. Hekler, sexton of Temple Reyim, three additional services will be conducted.

High School age services will be conducted in the chapel under the leadership of Robert Weiss and Hillel Kieval. Two services will be conducted by the Religious School department under the direction of Principal, Ury Rath. These services will provide for the needs of both the primary grade students and the students of the Hebrew School department.

Once again Temple Reyim will participate in the combined Adult Education program to be held this year at Temple Mishkan Tefila, commencing on Tuesday evening, Oct. 21, 1969. Other participating congregations are Temple Emanuel and Temple Emeth.

Temple Reyim Brotherhood, under the presidency of Seymour Smoller will open its active season with a "kick-off" breakfast on Sunday morning, Oct. 12th. Feature speaker at this breakfast will be Mr. Aaron Fink, superintendent of schools for Newton. In addition to a vital program of activities, Brotherhood has traditionally provided the ushering service for both High Holiday and Sabbath services.

Sisterhood president, Rhoda Levin, announced that their outstanding chapter in New series of monthly meetings England for the 1968 - 69 will commence on Wednesday season.

The Parent - Teachers Association, under the presidency of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Fruman, are busily engaged in arranging car pools for the students of Temple Reyim's far - flung congregation. Major P. T. A. activities include providing Kiddush following junior congregation services, working with brotherhood and sisterhood in the erection and decoration of the sukkah, and conducting special programs for the religious school students at Chanukah, Purim and Passover.

The newest addition to the Temple Reyim family is the Couples Club. Although still in the organizational stage, this group, under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kaufman have already conducted a successful cook - out in which more than 60 temple couples participated. It is the purpose of the couples club to provide activities for those members, especially younger couples, who desire to participate in temple activities as couples rather than as individuals.

The United Synagogue Youth program, under the leadership of Daniel Desatnick, who is returning for his fourth year in this capacity, and Steven Litwak, advisor to the junior division promise another outstanding year of activities. The senior U. S. Y. chapter of Temple Reyim received the award as

As chairman of the Boston Branch's fellowships efforts, she is concerned with the national AAUW program which awards approximately $300,000 a year to nearly 100 gifts women scholars. periods of time: 10, 12 and 16 years or more. While experience is certainly a good thing, there is too much conplacency, too much of a tendency to maintain status quo.

"For nearly 50 years Newton has had one of the top school systems in the country. However, we can not rest on reputation. Our schools must keep up with the times. We can't solve today's problems with the thinking of 12 or 16 years ago."

Mr. McCarthy was born in Newton, attended Newton schools and is a graduate of Boston College and of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

As the father of five children who attended Newton schools, McCarthy has long been interested in civic and school affairs. He is a past president of the Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association, and at present is on the its Board of Directors.

He is president of the Beacon-Washington Neighborhood Association and has worked to maintain zoning standards in Newton. He has been a member of the Warren PTA and Newton High PTSA, as well as a Red Feather Drive solicitor.

In his campaign for a School Committee berth, he is opposing School Committee Chairman Manuel Beckwith.

"Al McCarthy pointed out Newton has a new superintendent of schools, and added "he will have many new ideas. We will need a progressive school committee to work with him in maintaining excellence in education. Parents are becoming more interested in the schools and this involvement should be encouraged."

"With a continually raising tax rate citizens who do not have children in school will be scrutinizing school budgets more and more closely," McCarthy stated. "This means that pressure will be on the school committee to see that full value is received for each dollar expended."

"Every new and exciting program must be examined to see whether or not it is contributing something of positive value to the students, the parents and the citizenry at large."

"The problem of replacing a large segment of the school plant including a new high school and a new Day Junior High has been left to the new administration," McCarthy continued. "Delays in starting construction have increased costs. An entirely new look is needed here to see what can be done without creating a severe financial strain on the much overworked taxpayer."

"In spite of new elementary schools built within the past few years we hear complaints of school overcrowding. This situation, if true, is puzzling because the total school population has been relatively stable since 1962. Again, a new look is in order to see if we are making the most appropriate use of school space available.

"Within recent weeks we have seen reports of student drug abuse and of students being physically assaulted and beaten on school premises. Those reports are incredible but all too true. Something is wrong when these events take place in Newton."

"The school committee, through its policies and the school administration through it, acts must demonstrate that violence has no place in our schools and that parents have a right to expect that their children will not be subjected to attack."

Mr. McCarthy stressed that "the time is ripe for changes in the school committee. Today's problems require new ideas and fresh approaches. I appeal to all citizens who are concerned for our schools for support in the coming election."

He received his AB degree from Boston College and MBA degree from the Harvard Graduate School. During World War II he was a member of the U.S. Coast Guard, Temporary Reserve. He has been chairman, Cub Scouts Pack Committee; Troop Committee member, Boy Scouts; Member Warren PTA, member State Reemployment Rights Committee.

Also, Council Member, Newton Citizens for Education; instructor, Boston University School of Social Work, Boston College Inten Division, University Extension, Department of Education; training director, War Manpower Commission.

McCarthy is a member of the Boston College Alumni Association, Harvard Business School Alumni Association, Boston College Varsity Club and the Harvard Club.

Hearing-

The public hearing began with explanations of the proposed project by Redevelopment Authority Chairman Mario DiCarlo and Charles Downe, planning consultant to the Authority.

DiCarlo said: "The implementation of the plan will require the removal of 27 structures and the relocation of 25 families, 7 individuals and 20 non-residential uses. Of the 25 residential occupants to be displaced, 7 are owner-occupants. The Authority has set aside ten house lots in the state-aided portion of the Lower Falls project with preference to be given to the owners and tenants to be relocated from the project area."

"The major portion of the area on the north side of Washington St. will be developed to include a minimum of 60 and a maximum of 75 housing units. All rental housing to be constructed in the area will be within the means of the present residents."

First preference will be given to those families and individuals who are residing in the area at the time the project is approved by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Construction of the new rental housing and the single family housing is expected to be done in sections so that some units will be ready for occupancy before some of the old housing is vacated and removed," DiCarlo stated.

Downe pointed out that the selection of the project area was the result of an overall survey the city made several years ago. He said it was determined that the only sensible way to resolve a combination of complex problems in that part of the city was through urban renewal.

The urban renewal plan has the advantage of setting up strict controls over the use of the land to make sure that the use is desirable and in accordance with an overall plan, Downe explained.

Alderman Harry Walen made a plea for the preservation and restoration of the Lucy Jackson Chapter of the DAR House on the corner of Concord and Washington Streets which has been designated as having historical significance.

Downe responded that he had it on "reasonably good authority that the DAR House can be moved back on the property to allow for the widening of Washington street," thus making it possible to save the home.

When the subject of the proposed widening of Washington Street came up, Alderman Sidney T. Small said that since the street is narrow in Wellesey a bottleneck will be created by a backup of cars forced to slow down before leaving Newton and entering the narrower line.

Downe agreed this was possible but said that it shouldn't prevent Newton from improving the portion within its limits. "We should look to the future," he asserted.

Joel Leighton, chairman of the Newton Lower Falls Urban Renewal Study Committee, reported the favorable vote of his committee for the proposed project "conditional on the Authority's working out a satisfactory relocation solution for those to be displaced."

He also said that the committee agreed that if satisfactory arrangements cannot be made with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Colantuono, whose property has been taken for the state-aided portion, the lines of the project should be redrawn to exclude their property. The Colantuono's have been fighting the taking, saying they want to remain in their home at 61 Moulton St.

Leighton also called for an understanding of the fears of many whose homes are slated to be taken. "You can't expect people to cheer about or support a plan when they don't have answers to questions concerning the possibility of moving their present homes or of how much money they can expect to get for their property," he said.

Nathan Krasnigor, president of the Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association, reported that group's action last week in decisively voting to oppose the proposed federally aided urban renewal project.

He also reported that the Improvement Association voted to oppose the taking of the Colantuono property unless satisfactory ar-

Sgt. Hathaway's Unit Awarded Group Citation

U. S. Air Force Sgt. Howard C. Hathaway Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Hathaway of 264 Melrose street, Auburndale, has been recognized for helping his unit earn a best - of - its - kind citation.

Sgt. Hathaway is assigned to the fuel's management branch of the 72nd Bombardment Wing at Ramey AFB, Puerto Rico, that was named the best such organization in the Strategic Air Command.

He is a graduate of Newton North High School and his wife, Janice, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kegan of 121 Allenton road, Newton Highlands.

Refer Renewal Project to Study

The Newton Redevelopment Authority plans for an urban renewal project in Newton Lower Falls were referred Tuesday night by the Board of Aldermen to its City Planning Committee for study. A Sept. 30 deadline has been set by the federal government for local approval of the project.

rangements can be worked out with the people. In addition, the Association recorded itself as favoring the return to Martin Roach of the property taken from him for the state-aided portion of the project.

The Improvement Association, instead, called for stricter enforcement of existing city codes to upgrade substandard property.

John Young, a Lower Falls resident whose property is slated for taking, opposed urban renewal, saying it is "unjust, unfair, discriminatory and takes from the poor to give to the rich."

"I am fighting for my survival and for my way of life," Young pleaded.

Robert Sweet of 35 Grove St. asked "Why can't the state take care of improving Route 16 since it's a state road?" He also asked why existing laws can't be enforced so that parking regulations are adhered to and condemned houses are demolished.

Martin Roach of Wellesley claimed that a developer, Arnold Haynes, offered him $1,124,000 for his property which was taken by eminent domain for $191,000 the day after the plan was filed with the city clerk.

A Grove St. resident said "nobody really wants to talk about the real issues." He expressed the opinion that the plan has good and bad elements in it and that instead of approving or rejecting it the aldermen should take another look at it to iron out the wrinkles so that when it's completed the people can feel a trust in their city officials.

Blacketts Attend Nat'l Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Blackett, 97 Eliot Ave., West Newton, attended the week-long national conference of the Danforth Foundation Associates at the University of Chicago in late August.

Blackett, a professor of mathematics at Boston University, was among some 370 educators from colleges and universities in 40 states gathered to take a critical look at the American college, its functions and its structure.

The professors and their wives are part of a program of the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis designed to recognize and encourage good teaching and to personalize the educational process.

He said all have a responsibility "to state our objectives as explicitly as we can in ways which will be subject to examination and to design ways of determining whether we are indeed as successful as we say we are."

He continued: "If we are concerned about our traditional authority, if we are easily upset by the loss of authority based on status for the prerogatives and title, then we have much to be concerned about."

"If our concern, however, is the development of a viable educational community in which authority is viewed in terms of competence, then we are much more likely to view increased involvement of teachers and students as extremely healthy."

Whether or not a school system continues to serve its students in the 70s as it has in the past, Supt. Fink stated, depends on how well it preserved its flexibility, its integrity and its sensitivity to needed change.

Other speakers at the meeting last Wednesday in the crowded high school auditorium included Robert T. Weiser, president of the Newton Teachers Association, and Thomas P. O'Connor Jr., assistant to the director of personnel.

Mr. Fink will be honored at a reception by the Newton Community Relations Committee on Sunday evening at the home of CRC commissioner, Mrs. Proctor Houghton at 152 Chestnut street, West Newton. Invited guests include city and school department officials and members of CRC's advisory board.

Flabby Executives Get Fit At New 'Y' Built-Up Class

The Newton Y. M. C. A. is announcing its new series of executive fitness classes starting October 4. This dynamic program is based on a scientifically prepared and proven, progressive program of intermittent periods of jogging, walking, and calisthenics.

To a large extent this program is the culmination of the work of Dr. Thomas K. Curetin, a prominent figure in the field of physical fitness, of the physiological effects of exercise on the body.

Now that more people are realizing that the need for physical fitness is a fact of life, or should I say a "factor for life," rather than an eccentric fad, cardiovascular fitness is becoming a prevalent concern. The efficient functioning of the heart and blood vessels is essential for a healthy body.

It is not too late to regain youthful vigor lost through inactivity. You will once again abound in energy and probably be able to perform your job more efficiently and enjoyably since the effects of

Nash Twins Of England Visit Newton Scouts

Lawrence E. Rogovin, winner of the Marston and the Warren B. Manhard Memorial Cups for outstanding service to Troop 311 of the Boy Scouts of America, and his brother, Andrew Rogovin were hosts last week at their home on Shorecliffe Road, Newton, to Malcolm and Martin Nash, identical 13-year-old twins, who are among 10 English scouts who visited with Norumbega Council members in Newton and Weston.

The Nash boys are second-class scouts in the 4th Dartmouth Scout Troop from the West Bromwich section of Birmingham.

The Marston Cup honors Dr. Warren Marston of Newton and the Manhard Cup (both won by young Rogovin) honors the late Maj. Manhard (USAF), a BSA commissioner.

The Bigelow Junior High School PTA sponsors Troop 311 of the Boy Scouts, one of the oldest in the New England region.

Newton Gallery Launches Third Season In City

The Berman-Medallie Gallery, Newtonville Square, has re-opened for its third season, according to an announcement by Gallery Founders Frances Berman and Sylvia Medallie.

Known as a suburban Boston's largest graphic arts center, the Berman-Medallie Gallery specializes in the original works of contemporary American printmakers.

Among its most distinguished artists are: Seong Moy, Dean Meeker, Naoko Matsubara, Johnny Friedlaender; Rudy Pozzatti, Sigmund Abeles, Harold Altman, Norio Azuma, Yoshihara Higa, Clayton Pond, Gerson Lieber, and David Bumbeck.

Since its inception two years ago, the Gallery has continued to expand its horizons to include artists from Mexico, Guatemala, Chile, Japan, Italy and France.

Many of the above have received awards, grants and prizes and are represented in the permanent collections of major museums and libraries throughout the world.

For example, Seong Moy, Norio Azuma, Harold Altman, Gerson Lieber, Rudy Pozzatti and Yoshihara Higa have all been recipients of annual Society of American Graphic Artists Purchase Awards; recently, the Smithsonian Institute commissioned Naoko Matsubara to produce a work for the Geneva Peace Conference. (Miss Matsubara is also presently working on prints for a Boston Kyoto sister-city project.)

David Bumbeck, Clayton Pond and Rudy Pozzatti have all received Purchase Awards from the Boston Printmakers, Museum of Fine Arts.

Located in Newtonville Square, the Berman-Medallie Gallery, Center for the Graphic Arts, is open Tuesday through Saturday, 10:30-5:30, and evenings by appointment.

Health Dept. Sets German Measles Program for Tots

The Newton Department of Public Health will institute a rubella (German measles) program early this school year for children from kindergarten through grade three according to the advice from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Department of Public Health as printed below:

The live, attenuated rubella (German measles) vaccine was licensed on June 9, 1969. It is now possible to prevent rubella and eventually eliminate it from the community.

Rubella is usually a mild disease. It assumes tremendous importance when a pregnant woman contracts the disease during the first trimester of pregnancy because of the possibility of congenital defects in the newborn. There is a 20 percent risk of a dead or deformed infant.

Thus, the most important objective of a Rubella Control Program is the prevention of maternal rubella. This can best be accomplished at the present time by reducing the reservoir of rubella virus in the community through the immunization of children.

Children, particularly in the early grades of school, are the biggest source of infection to mothers who are still susceptible. They are also the major source of transmission of the disease in the community.

Although less communicable than measles and chickenpox, eventually nearly everyone contracts rubella. In Massachusetts, 80 to 95 percent have had rubella by the age of twenty. In 1968, 91 percent of all reported cases of rubella were in patients below the age of twenty.

Unfortunately, the clinical diagnosis of rubella cannot be made with certainty because this disease is often mimicked by other viral infections. Therefore, a history of rubella is not reliable enough to exclude children from immunization.

Thus, to reduce the reservoir of rubella virus in the community, to prevent the transmission of infections to others and particularly to still susceptible adult women, rubella control programs initially will be aimed at the immunization of children of both sexes in the early grades of school.

The rubella vaccine may be administered to boys and girls from age one to puberty. It is not recommended for infants less than one year of age because of possible interference from persisting maternal rubella antibody. For the fiscal year 1970, the Legislature appropriated $400,000 for rubella vaccine. This money will buy slightly more than 230,000 doses. The U.S. Public Health Service, National Communicable Disease Center, has agreed to contribute an additional 150,000 doses.

With about 380,000 doses of vaccine available, the objective this year will be to immunize both boys and girls from kindergarten through grade three. Since a previous history of rubella is not considered sufficiently reliable, these children, too, should receive the vaccine. No vaccine will be given without written consent of parents.

Children from the fourth grade through junior high school will not be included in the State-provided vaccine program until the lower grades are covered and unless additional supplies of vaccine become available.

In preadolescent children, there are practically no reactions at all.

Sensitivity to chickens, ducks, chicken or duck eggs, feathers or neomycin. Febrile illness — vaccination should be postponed until the patient has recovered. No rubella vaccination should be administered until a month after tuberculin test. Both may be given simultaneously.

Newton Couple Elected As Belmont Chorus Presidents

The Belmont Chorus announces that Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter of 16 Stafford Road, Newton Center, have been elected co-presidents of the seventy-member chorus.

Other Newton residents singing with the group include Mr. and Mrs. Edward White of Newton Center, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rothrock of Newtonville, Mr. David Lee of Chestnut Hill, Mrs. Lucy Foster of Newton Lower Falls, Mrs. Holly Zalinger of Newton Center and Dr. Kenneth Wolf of Newton Center.

The chorus, which often sponsors the original music of Boston area composers, will be performing a work by Dr. Kenneth Wolf during the coming year. The first concert will take place early in December and will include a Bach Cantata and a Double Choral by Schutz.

The Belmont Chorus is conducted by John Baviachi of Brookline. Newton's younger set may know Mr. Baviachi best by his connection with the Newton Center for Creative Arts. He is also on the faculty of the Berkeley School of Music and serves as Registrar of the Brookline Music School.

A composer of note, Mr. Baviachi is now published by the Oxford University Press and is currently awaiting the release of his "Three Preludes for Unaccompanied Trombone" (a Coronet Recording).

The Belmont Chorus will have its first rehearsal on Tuesday, September 9th at the St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Belmont at 8 p.m. Welcome is extended to all Boston area residents interested in singing with the chorus. No auditions are required. For further information contact Mr. or Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter at 244-2117.

A League spokesman pointed out that this is an exciting year to join the League of Women Voters of Newton. The League of Women Voters is celebrating its 50th anniversary and this is an election year for the citizens of Newton.

GOP Seeks To Find Chairman Of City Comm.

The Newton GOP is faced with the need to elect a new City Chairman to fill the vacancy created by the untimely death of the late William A. Lincoln who filled that office since 1966.

It is generally acknowledged that it will be difficult to find anyone as uniquely qualified but the group is fortunate to have several men and women active in top leadership who can be called upon to undertake the top job.

The procedures for selecting officers of the Newton Republican City Committee are prescribed in the organization's by-laws. Julius I. Maslow, First Vice Chairman, and acting Chairman pointed out that a Nominating Committee must be created to fill vacancies because of death and other reasons.

Maslow stated that at an appropriate time within the very near future each of the eight Republican Ward Committees will be instructed to elect a representative to serve on the city-wide Nominating Committee.

The Nominating Committee will canvass the field of available leadership and will bring its recommendation to the full City Committee. Other nominations may be received from the floor Maslow noted.

Marriott Hotel Will Help Defray Local Tax Burdens

The new Marriott Motor Hotel will be assessed for "at least $3,000,000" in 1970, making it the third largest taxpayer in the city, Edward A. Fahey, chairman of the Newton assessors' department, said last week.

The largest taxpayer is the Boston Edison Co. ($8,582,000) followed by the New England Telephone Co. ($6,304,000). The Marriott will have the largest assessment of any single piece of property, Fahey said, far ahead of the second largest, the Chestnut Hill Shopping Center at $1.3 million.

In the construction of the new motor hotel, the largest item of cost to the city was the improvements to Commonwealth Ave. Willard S. Pratt, director of public works, said the figure was about $50,000. He said the hotel paid for a portion of other necessary improvements, such as the laying of a bigger water pipe, signs and extra roadway lighting.

HAYNESWORTH URGES SENATE KILL NOMINATION IF IN DOUBT

JUDGE Clement F. Haynesworth Jr. urged the Senate Wednesday to kill his nomination to the Supreme Court if it doubts "the propriety of what I did" in a controversial 1963 court case. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., meantime, accused Haynesworth's supporters of trying to twist the meaning of a letter his brother, Robert, wrote about the case when he was attorney general. Kennedy said his brother cleared Haynesworth of an allegation he took a bribe but did not even consider whether the judge had a conflict of interest in the case. Both statements came during a stormy confirmation hearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee, whose members closely questioned the 56-year-old South Carolina jurist a second day. Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., told the judge, "You'll go back on the stand" after other witnesses testify.

NIXON TO ASK CONGRESS FOR 10% HIKE IN S.S. BENEFITS

PRESIDENT NIXON, in a surprise announcement, said Wednesday he would ask Congress to increase Social Security benefits by 10 per cent effective next April 1. Nixon, who earlier had said he would propose a 7 per cent increase, made the announcement with little elaboration as he signed a law extending for three years a federal assistance program for training elderly persons. He said he would spell out his program in a message to Congress next week. Nixon said that social security beneficiaries have been hard hit by the steady rises of the last five years. "Those who suffered the most are the older citizens living on fixed incomes," the President said. He made no mention of how he proposed to finance the increased benefits, but in the past they have been paid for by increased social security taxes deducted from paychecks.

REP. RALPH SMITH NAMED TO SUCCEED LATE SEN. DIRKSEN

ILLINOIS House Speaker Ralph T. Smith, a veteran legislator and middle-of-the-road Republican, was named Wednesday to the U.S. Senate seat left vacant by the death of Everett M. Dirksen. Smith, who promptly resigned from his legislative post, will be sworn in as senator in Washington today in time to help choose Dirksen's successor as Senate minority chief. Meanwhile, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania claimed enough votes Wednesday to win the three-way race for Senate Republican Leader. His two opponents said he was wrong. Scott claimed that he has the necessary 22 votes for election, "and more," but Sens. Howard H. Baker of Tennessee and Roman L. Hruska strongly disputed Scott's count. The election will be held a week from Wednesday with a full complement of 43 Senate Republicans expected to attend.

U.S. TOLL HEAVY AS COMMUNISTS OVERRUN MARINE UNIT

COMMUNIST TROOPS partially overran a U.S. Marine unit near the Demilitarized Zone early Wednesday, killing or wounding nearly 40 Americans and forcing the Leathernecks to call in mortar and artillery fire on their own positions. Hundreds of miles to the south, two high-ranking U.S. officers were among 12 Americans killed in the collision of two helicopters near Saigon. Seven Vietnamese civilians were killed and 17 wounded in the Mekong River Delta when they were hit by machine gun bullets and rockets fired from American helicopters whose crewmen mistook them for fleeing Viet Cong.

ISRAELI WARPLANES ATTACK TARGETS IN EGYPT AND JORDAN

FOR THE SECOND consecutive day, Israeli warplanes attacked targets in Egypt and Jordan Wednesday. Artillery duels flared along the Suez Canal and in occupied Jordan. The air strikes were the eighth against the Arab states in nine days and an Israeli government source said there would be no letup. The fighting continued as reports hinted at domestic troubles in Egypt and Lebanon. The right-wing Beirut newspaper Al Jarida said Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser was purging his administration to frustrate "a Soviet conspiracy" to oust him from power. The newspaper said a key figure was a former premier, Aly Sabry. A major crisis appeared in the making in Lebanon where troops were reported to have surrounded Palestinian refugee camps following months of government efforts to stop guerrilla raids across the border into Israel.

N. VIETNAMESE PLEDGE TO FIND OUT IF HUSBANDS ARE ALIVE

THE NORTH VIETNAMESE delegates to the Paris peace talks told four U.S. Air Force wives Wednesday that inquiries would be made to find out if their husbands, shot down over North Vietnam, are alive. The wives met with the diplomats from Hanoi for 2½ hours and received the pledge from Xuan Oanh, an official of the delegation. Disclosure of the pledge came shortly after the women, appearing very serious, left the building housing the North Vietnamese delegation and drove in a rented car back to their hotel. The women's husbands are among about 1,200 American servicemen listed as missing in action in the Vietnamese War.

600,000 GALLONS OF OIL PUMPED FROM FLOUNDERING TANKER

THE COAST GUARD said Wednesday 600,000 gallons of diesel oil were being transferred from the floundering tanker Florida to another boat in an effort to quell a leakage that began when the barge went aground Tuesday off Falmouth. Officials said much of the leakage had been curtailed by noon Wednesday after the barge was towed from a position off Falmouth to calmer waters off Nantucket Bay. Nevertheless a three-mile stretch of beach on Buzzards Bay remained soaked in pungent oil. Officials said the oil also posed threats to shellfish and lobster beds in the area.

A new bus express service for commuters between Riverside Station on the Green Line and downtown Boston at Chauncy and Summer streets swung into operation last Monday, September 15, at 7:30 a.m.

The 75-cent premium fare for the 23-minute high-speed, non-stop ride was approved last week by the Advisory Board of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority.

Headstart Day Proclaimed By Mayor Basbas

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has proclaimed that Thursday, October 2nd will be observed as "Newton Headstart Day." In commenting on the Newton Headstart Program, Mayor Basbas stated that the program of Headstart for economically disadvantaged pre-school children is based on the philosophy that a child can benefit most from a comprehensive interdisciplinary attack on his problems at the local level. The need to involve the family as well as the community in solving the child's problems, was emphasized by the Mayor.

"Many people," he added, "assume that the federal government pays all costs of its poverty programs. Actually, funds are provided up to 80 per cent by the Federal Government towards the Newton Program. The additional support must be provided by the community and is referred to as local share. In Newton we are most fortunate to have had a 'Headstart Program' in its present form for the past two years and are now entering our third. The local program, under the authority of WEM-BROCK, the applicant agency, of which Newton Community Action, Inc. is a member is administered by the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc.

In observance of this special day, an Open House and a Concert by the Myrtle Baptist Gospel Chorus under the direction of Mr. Samuel Turner has been scheduled for 8:00 p.m. on the 2nd of October. The Concert will be held at the First Unitarian Society, 1326 Washington Street in West Newton. Headstart facilities in the church complex will be on display and refreshments are to be served.

There will not be an admission charge. However,

Former blood donors are being asked to check their calendars. If it is over 6 weeks since they last gave blood, they are eligible to give again. Anyone between the ages of 18 and 65 may donate blood.

If everyone able to donate blood gave at least every 3 months, there would never be a blood shortage, and Massachusetts hospitals which need a minimum of 100 pints of blood a day, would be able to serve their patients without the need to call on family and friends at the last moment.

Giving blood is a sound investment. It assures that blood will be available when it is needed. Blood is a living tissue and cannot be manufactured, this is why it is everybody's business to keep the source of supply going.

Federal Funds Aid City In Acquiring Open Space Land

Mayor Monte G. Basbas announced today that he had been notified of approval by the U.S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation of an application for 50 per cent matching funds for the acquisition of 10 acres of prime open space land adjacent to the Cold Spring Playground.

The amount of the grant is not to exceed $53,000 under the B.O.R.'s "Land and Water Conservation Fund" and must be matched by local funds.

Plans for the use of the acquired land call for it to be added to the existing 36 acre Cold Spring Playground as an integral part of a major recreation facility to be developed on low land now primarily unused.

Preliminary plans had been developed for a municipal golf course in conjunction with a playground and related service facilities.

The Newton Recreation Commission has contracted with a firm of recreational planning consultants to prepare detailed plans for this and four other recreation areas in the City.

Mayor Basbas noted that the Cold Spring land acquisition was the fifth major open space acquisition undertaken by the City in the past two years.

During 1968-69 Newton was authorized over $700,000 in assistance under the Federal "Open Space Land Acquisition Program" and the Massachusetts "Self-Help Program" to acquire the 103 acre Webster tract. In addition, the City has acquired, the 305 acre tract of lowland bordering the "Newton at 128 Industrial Park" near the Charles River; a 5 acres tract of vacant land adjacent to the Massachusetts Turnpike in Newton Corner; and a 3 acre tract belonging to the Turnpike Authority near Myrtle Baptist Church in West Newton.

Mayor Basbas emphasized that these open space land acquisition and recreation development programs are fundamental components of the City's "Comprehensive Plan" developed by the Newton Planning Department and scheduled for publication about October 1st.

Boys' Clubs of America

One of the organizations which has had a great deal to do with creating some of the most important things that are right about our nation has been the Boys' Club of America.

Founded 109 years ago, this movement has grown until it now offers companionship, guidance, sports and educational opportunities to well over 750,000 boys, from 7 to 17, who belong to more than 750 Boys' Clubs in every part of the nation. Each club is supervised by full-time professional career youth workers, dedicated to the job of providing boys "A place to go . . . a way to grow."

Boys' Clubs provide professional assistance to boys who need a hand in establishing worthwhile goals in life and some motivation and encouragement in reaching them.

It is remarkable that this movement is entirely dependent on public support, receiving no federal, state or municipal operating funds.

The organization's goal of establishing 1000 clubs to help a million boys is made more difficult by the fact that too few people are really aware of the full scope of the Boys' Clubs of America, how clubs may be organized and what they can mean in giving the youth of practically any community, large or small, a real lift along the way when they may need it most.

Boys' Clubs are among the things that are right with America.

They deserve the broadest national recognition, as well as the support and interest of more concerned individuals and organizations in every one of the 50 states of these United States.

The New Fiscal Breeze

A new fiscal breeze is blowing through the land and evidence of its impact is seen in the report that the federal budget, after eight years of red ink, ended fiscal 1969 with a surplus of more than $3 billion. This is a sharp reversal from fiscal year 1968, when the federal government recorded a budget deficit of $25.2 billion.

Of course it remains to be seen whether any long-term control of federal spending levels will be politically possible. The brakes are on; they are being felt and not always with pleasure by those who are affected.

Controlling inflation means such things as high interest rates and difficulty in financing home buying. It means greater resistance to costly settlements in labor negotiations. It means the slowing of business expansion and, finally, even though 1970 is a congressional election year, it means restraint in expansion of federal programs and services in which millions of people, who are also voters, have a vested interest.

Only the people of the United States, by their patience, understanding and support of control and common sense in federal spending policies, can assure that a few years from now the dollar will still be worth somewhat more than the paper on which it is printed.

Everything presently indicates that the 1970 Democratic State conclave will be held in the more austere setting of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst in accordance with the suggestion of State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue.

No final or official decision on the matter has yet been made by the Democratic State Committee which decides such things, but the fact is that at this late date there isn't much of any place else the convention could be held.

Boston's hotels are booked solidly for the period when the convention would be held. While it is still possible to rent the Memorial Auditorium for a Democratic conclave, it no longer is possible to reserve accommodations where the out-of-town delegates could sleep overnight.

So the Democratic delegates will journey westward next June to the beautiful campus of the University of Massachusetts to settle the battle between Mayor Kevin H. White and Senate President Maurice A. Donahue for the convention endorsement for Governor.

Some political pundits, incidentally, believe Donahue will be helped because the convention will be staged in his home Western Massachusetts area.

That doesn't seem likely. The University of Massachusetts is about as neutral a setting as you could get.

Virtually all the delegates will have made up their minds how they will vote before they converge on the convention site. There are few, if any, on-the-fence delegates when the gavel falls to open any conclave.

From the standpoint of helping one candidate or hurting another it doesn't really matter where a convention is held unless one of the contenders has booked up all the hotel rooms.

The bands, the signs, the other fanfare, if staged at next year's convention, would be strictly ballyhoo for public consumption. They don't impress the delegates.

Whether either the University of Massachusetts or the Democratic politics will ever be the same after this experience in the bucolic setting of Amherst is something only time will determine.

There will be no back rooms to fill with smoke unless some of the smaller classrooms are used for that purpose.

One Hub politico is wondering out loud whether militant UMass students might stay on after the college closes next June and picket the convention for one reason or another.

The strange thing is such a thing is more likely to happen in Boston than in the college town of Amherst.

The Republicans will hold their convention in the War Memorial Auditorium at the Prudential Center. The shortage of hotel rooms will not seriously trouble them.

Their convention will last from about 10 o'clock in the morning on a June Saturday until approximately 4 in the afternoon, and their big problem will be creating enough excitement to keep all the spectators awake during the six-hour period.

That GOP conclave will be a pretty dull affair. It will be Governor Sargent's show. He will be endorsed by acclamation, and so probably will be the members of the supporting cast he picks.

At this point it seems unlikely there will be even one contest on the GOP agenda although it's remotely conceivable.

Most of the delegates will drive from their homes to Prudential Center on the morning of the convention.

A few from the extreme western reaches of the Commonwealth will stop overnight at motels on the way to Boston and then finish the journey in the morning. They will be starting home by 4 in the afternoon.

At noon they'll be allowed to purchase box lunches so it will not be necessary for them to leave the convention.

The Republican delegates, incidentally, do not go in for all-night conventions as the Democrats do.

In 1962 Edward W. Brooke defeated Elliot L.

Richardson for the Republican endorsement as Attorney General at a convention in Worcester because he had better luck than Richardson in keeping his delegates in the hall.

Richardson would have won if all the delegates had remained to perform the business and duties for which they were elected. But some of his supporters were on their way home when their delegations were polled, and their votes were not counted. That changed the pattern of developments for some years in the Republican party in Massachusetts.

League Head Gives Unusual Reasons For Cutting House

Mrs. Howard Scharfman of Lexington, president of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, made some unusual statements the other day as she sought to rally support of the League's idea that the size of the House should be reduced from 240 to 160 members.

One reason she gave to warrant this action is that the League "is an effective force in Massachusetts because we have won some important issues. The House cut is another test for us as an organization."

That assertion would suggest that Mrs. Scharfman is concerned that a blow would be dealt to the League's prestige if its proposal for cutting the House membership is not adopted.

This does not appear to be adequate reason for revising the State Constitution.

In order to get a little more oomph into the League's drive to throw some 80 House members out of their jobs, Mrs. Scharfman suggested to the League members that they write letters to newspapers, call radio talk shows, talk to their neighbors and even use their husbands' contacts.

If the idea of reducing the membership of the House were as good as some of the League members claim, it would not seem this sort of synthetic ballyhoo would be necessary.

The suggestion for using their husbands' contacts is a rather intriguing one. When the League members supported a proposed change in the State Constitution to allow a graduated State income tax, many of them could not get their own husbands to vote for it.

A second reason given by Mrs. Scharfman for cutting the House to 160 members is that the League of Women Voters members across the Commonwealth overwhelmingly favor such a step. A third is that the League made a commitment to the people of Massachusetts to place the issue on the ballot.

"A House of 160 members is large enough to reflect the people of the Commonwealth and yet small enough to be paid adequately, to have a staff, to give each representative an opportunity to participate," Mrs. Scharfman declared.

"Single-member districts pinpoint responsibility, let the people know who is in charge and give minority groups the best possible chance for representation," she asserted.

There is merit in her statement about single districts. But that really is a separate issue.

It is difficult to recognize the magic the League president sees in the number "160" or to understand how 160 members would do a better job or provide better public service than 240 members. The financial saving would not be significant.

One argument in favor of maintaining a 240-member House is that it is too big to be controlled and for that reason is likely to vote more in the public interest than would a smaller body.

House Speaker David Bartley of Holyoke intends to stand up and fight the League next year on the question of reducing the House. It will be interesting to see how the encounter develops as well as the impact made by the pressure drive the League president is trying to mount.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

Children's TV

Editor of The Graphic:

As most parents know, there are pitifully few good programs on television for young children. Captain Kangaroo is one of these — a gentle hour of joy, humor and exploration.

For some reason, however, the local CBS outlet WHDH (Channel 5) has decided to use only 30 of the 60 minutes of this program offered each weekday by the network. Now, the final 30 minutes of the 8-9 morning hour, so long the domain of the good Captain, will be filled by Bozo the Clown.

Action for Children's Television (ACT) was organized to help improve the quality of children's television. We deeply regret this action by WHDH and urge all those who agree with us to write WHDH's program manager. Children deserve all, not part, of Captain Kangaroo.

Military Blunders

Editor of The Graphic:

In the September 4 editorial which carries your by-line you give notice with emphasis to what J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI is alleged to have written or stated. You quote him . . . just as soon as the firebrands can muster a caucus of dissidents, we will witness a continuation of a senseless plunder which caused more than $3 million in damage to colleges and universities in the last academic year."

No reasonable person holds much brief for mindless, destructive disrupters, but your editorial would have had better balance if it had also called attention of the thousands of millions, i.e. billions, wasted in senseless plunder and blunder each year by the Military.

Demagogic Device

Editor of The Graphic:

At a time when vexing and technical problems demand our calm and most intelligent judgement, it is especially disappointing to observe an aspirant for office indulge in indiscriminate charges and emotional posturing at public hearings.

Urban Redevelopment which gives our city benefits not otherwise available, is by its very nature controversial because of differences of opinion and legitimate concern for personal impact. Free of political opportunism, the normal process of review usually results in fair solutions in our city, notwithstanding the problems.

It is therefore a matter of grave concern when a candidate for office resorts to the demagogic device of recklessly calling for the resignations of unpaid commission members.

We here in Newton have been most fortunate in involving more than twelve hundred men and women through service without compensation on city boards and committees. Our community is all the better because of the benefits derived because of their abilities and dedication, something money cannot buy.

Reckless charges and demands for resignation certainly offer no encouragement for men and women of high dedication to remain in public service. Indeed, it will drive them out of government and will make recruitment of volunteers of ability difficult if not impossible. Subjecting good men and women to abuse and distortion destroys the very base of good government in our community.

Fact is that the members of the Authority who participated in the development of the plans submitted for review and approval are men of high competence and qualification for the task. They are good, respected citizens of our city, fully sensitive to human values and needs.

Far from attacking them, we owe them our thanks for doing our work and can only hope they will not grow discouraged with the problems we have thrust upon them.

Theirs must be the deep satisfaction of knowing the worth of their work and that the vast majority recognizes the value of their contribution to the betterment of life in Newton.

Sincerely,
David A. Lurensky

Lower Falls Issue

The Graphic:
As a former officer of the Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association and Civic Committee Chairman interested in the betterment of all of Newton, I was surprised to note the tenor of your lead story in the issue of September 11th.

One of the nicest "small villages" in the City — the "Falls" — has always been plagued by the bad appearance of old lower Washington Street with its barroom, broken down homes and inadequately maintained properties. One had to pass before reaching the lovely Pine Grove section off Grove and Concord Streets.

The history that can be told by those who know the Jackson Homestead, St. Mary's Church and the old Creche Estate is among the proudest in the City.

The Hills and Falls Cooperative nursery school, serving Newton, Wellesley and Weston, has been a model for others for more than three decades.

Thus it was no wonder that we who knew this history were excited when it was learned sometime ago that Federal funds would be available both in Lower and in Upper Falls for Urban Renewal.

Here was a chance to spruce up the community, provide better housing for low income families and add to the already improving nature of commercial and modern light industrial development, where once were old mills and gravel pits.

What a pity then to read in the paper that this improvement has been made an issue by the new politicians of recent years. Newton has long enjoyed devoted service of business and professional men, often at economic sacrifice to themselves.

I, for one, cannot accept the suggestion of another citizen that the "Newton Redevelopment Authority resign in the interest of the City." To suggest lack of trust in this Authority and its professional consultant looks like the purest form of political demagoguery.

Finally, I am convinced, after some investigation of the nature of the Improvement Association's meetings, that if a broader cross section of the community were heard from a larger majority would favor area improvement. The Board of Aldermen should be able to "iron out the wrinkles" before the September 30th Federal deadline for local approval.

Opening Convocation of Newton Junior College Held This Week

The Opening Convocation of Newton Junior College was held at the Newton War Memorial Auditorium Tuesday with the student body being addressed by President Charles W. Dudley whose words were relevant to today's educational situation.

President Dudley said, "There is now developing a principle of 'shared participation' on the part of the important constituent elements of the collegiate enterprise, giving rise to a tripartite form of government made up of administration, faculty, and students." He added that "such arrangements must take into account legality, professional prerogative, experience, and continuity, among considerations."

President Dudley emphasized that students today "express a concern about the way in which they are educated. They want, and should have, some meaningful voice in decisions affecting them, not the least of which are the academic."

In acknowledgment of those students who are most concerned with this issue, he stated: "The prescription for responsible student participation lies in the construction of a viable, important, and respected form of student government, — a much larger, more comprehensive and definitive concept of 'government by students' than ever before, with a proper delegation of certain responsibilities to appropriate representative devices, such as student council, student senate, student judicial court, and a variety of committees, but always with maximum High.

500 Supporters Open Fishman's Mayoral Bid

More than five hundred campaign workers for Rep. Irving Fishman's Newton mayoral campaign crowded the ballroom of the new Marriott Motor Hotel on Commonwealth Avenue, Auburndale, last Thursday evening to listen to the candidates and his aides give the background of the campaign to the present time and the plans for the future.

Representative and Alderman H. James Shea, Jr., the first speaker, stressed the significant and crucial nature of this election in determining the future make-up of City Hall, and indeed the future vitality of the city itself.

Fishman and his campaign co-chairmen, Rep. Paul Malloy and Sidney Bronstein, emphasized two key concerns for campaign workers: get Irving Fishman's name before the public and inform people of his stand on the issues.

Copies of issues summaries with Fishman's proposed solutions were distributed and are available to the public; these issues include taxes, municipal services, community participation, land use, school buildings and a central library.

Rep. Fishman has opened headquarters at 1185 Washington Street, West Newton and visitors are welcome. He plans, he said, to do as much as possible of the clerical work of the campaign mechanically, using computers and magnetic tape, so that his workers can get out and talk to the people about Irving Fishman's candidacy and the importance of this election to the City of Newton.

Registration Open For Children's Creative Art

Elementary School children may now register for the Creative Art Program at the Newton Community Service Centers, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, Mass. Applications and information sheets are available for unique classes for children in Kindergarten through grade 6 by calling 969-5906 or 969-5907. Classes will begin Oct. 6, but early registration is recommended.

The aim of the Creative Art program is a wide - open experience for all participating youngsters. With this orientation the staff draws on natural sciences and experimentation, improvisation, body movement, feelings - all culminated in the art experience.

The atmosphere is one of discovery, as children are challenged to solve problems in new ways. Under consideration is the use of light and shadows, discovery of environmental space, natural life forces (water, wind, air) the art of sound, etc. Color, design and an appreciation of aesthetic concepts will permeate these areas.

A wide variety of two and three dimensional media will be used. Also materials from the Children's Museum, E. S. I. film libraries, etc. However, it should be noted that the emphasis is not on the media, but rather on the interests and needs of the individual and the group. The goal is not the finished product, but rather the total experience within the child.

If your youngster is drawn to projects which tap the intellect, the senses, the emotions, the body - indeed involve him totally as a person, he or she will find this program very exciting and lots of fun. This is a continuing program. Second term builds on the experiences introduced the first semester with the understanding that has been gained of your child.

For the greatest individual growth the Art staff urges parents to plan on a year for their youngster. (Two twelve session blocks). Registration for the first semester (12 classes) is open now. The first session for all groups is designed for parents and children. Everyone is cordially invited to participate. DR. MELVIN HOWARDS
Dr. Howards Is Candidate From Ward 8

Dr. Melvin Howards, 94 Shady Hill Road, Newton Highlands, today announced his candidacy for School Committee from Ward 8. Dr. Howards is a Professor of Education at Northeastern University; Chairman of the Reading Department; Director of the Center for Reading Improvement; Director of the Center for Educational Development.

Dr. Howards has been a professional educator for twenty years. He has been a classroom teacher, Director of Student Teaching, college professor, and a consultant to a wide variety of educational programs all over the country with advantaged and disadvantaged populations. He has published numerous articles and has one book on the market entitled "Read Your Way Up." A second book, to be published by Macmillan Company, is for parents of school children.

Dr. Howards has appeared on innumerable radio shows in the Boston area, and has made numerous TV appearances on various subjects related to education. He was writer and instructor for a series of 30 TV presentations for NBC last summer. This series, called "Read Your Way Up," was seen nationally and is currently being rerun in several cities including New York and San Francisco.

Among the many projects and programs Dr. Howards has initiated and directed in the past seven years at North-eastern, was a school for high school drop-outs in Boston. This successful school developed its own curriculum, and served more than 1100 youths in Boston during the 3 1/2 years of its existence. Dr. Howards has taught at all levels, in every size and type of school. He has also been involved in many in-service training programs for teachers in the Metropolitan area.

Dr. Howards served as president of the Medfield (Mass.) PTA for one year, and he served on the Executive Committee of the Meadowbrook Junior High School PTA for two years. He has also served on the Board of Directors of the Huntington Avenue Y M C A. He is a member of professional organizations, and has held a committee chairmanship in the International Reading Association. Dr. Howards and his family are members of the West Newton Unitarian Church.

Dr. Howards has two children in the Newton Schools; one is attending South High and the other is attending Meadowbrook Junior High School. He enjoys the following about education in Newton and the School Committee post for which he runs:

"All educational problems and issues are very closely interrelated so that it is not possible (nor honest) to discuss any one without giving serious and thoughtful consideration to the others which affect it, and which are affected by it.

For example, Newton wants to keep its very best, most sensitive and creative teachers, and it also wants to be able to attract more such persons, but that problem is closely related to taxes and how we pay the salaries necessary. If we are concerned with the quality of the curriculum in the elementary, junior and senior high schools, we need to consider the quality and background of the teachers we have to implement this curriculum.

In addition, we must consider what kinds of books, materials and other equipment and resources, necessary to make the curriculum we want work.

All of these considerations, and many more, must be seen in the context of what parents want for their children. Anyone who would suggest to parents or teachers that it is possible, and reasonable, to deal with one problem or one aspect of a problem, without giving careful and thorough consideration to the related issues, is playing a political game, which will only harm our children and their teachers.

Newton schools are concerned about curriculum development and curriculum revision, about pupil services, about costs, and above all else, the quality and the relevance of education for its children. Discipline in the schools, grading systems, freedom or lack of freedom in the schools, the unrest of students, are not easily resolved, and never can be with emotion only.

I want to serve on the school committee so that I can encourage parents and students to participate much more fully in decision-making processes which directly affect their lives and their tax money. I would like to work toward the development of a coalition of parents, students, teachers and administrators in Newton which will focus its attention upon the quality of education for ALL in our schools.

This coalition would be active and would participate fully in offering advice, making suggestions, criticisms and providing help in solving the problems of our children and our schools.

The education and full development as persons of our children is much too precious to be left only to one or another group of adults who have a "pet" theory for solving the complex problems we face. Schools are everybody's business and major concern - but you cannot be concerned in theory or from the sidelines; concern must be translated into informed, collective action. The School Committee can serve as the anvil on which can be forged just such a coalition as I have mentioned. Newton has excellent schools, but there are problems of great importance yet to be solved. I offer my years of experience in education, and my desire to participate more fully in dealing constructively with the problems issues we all face. They simply won't fade away, nor will they be talked away."

School Board Re-election, Beckwith Bid

Chairman of the Newton School Committee, Manuel Beckwith, today announced his candidacy for reelection to office of School Committee Member from Ward 4.

Beckwith has represented Ward 4 on the School Committee for seven terms and during the present two year term he has been Chairman. He also has in the past served as President of the Burr-Williams Murray Road P.T.A. and was first President of the Newton High School P.T.S.A.

In addition to being president of Boston based corporations, he also has been president of several trade associations, as well as being on the Advisory Board of Capital Bank and Trust of Boston. Beckwith also owns the Holly Antique Shop of Boston.

In his statement Beckwith listed some of the accomplishments of the present School Committee:

1. Greater participation by the community in both the program and in Committee meetings.

2. Successful negotiations with all members of the staff with no breakdowns or loss of confidence by all parties concerned.

3. Greater liaison with the Mayor and Board of Aldermen creating a purposeful harmonious relationship to the benefit of the community as a whole.

4. The employment of the outstanding candidate, Aaron Fink, to be Superintendent.

5. The reestablishment of the School Committee as the policy making body.

6. Application of tighter financial controls to hold the budget increase for 1969-70 to where the overlay for 1970-71 will show a reduction for the first time in many years.

7. Support and encouragement to administration and faculty so that Newton children can receive the benefit of inspired and quality teaching.

Beckwith stated that the new School Committee faces greater tasks than ever in this fast changing society. He went on to describe the necessity of greater teacher, parent, and student involvement in developing program, innovative as well as established.

The members must, with the administration, supervise the expenditure of every dollar for education so that in this squeeze of inflation the Newton community can get one hundred cents worth of education out of every dollar appropriated.

In closing his remarks, Beckwith paid tribute to the present Committee, stating that no Committee in the past had spent the hours or did the research that this one had in setting policies for the Newton Schools.

No Committee ever had to face the problems or meet them with the capable and positive thinking that the Newton School Committee of 1968-69 has done.

"I have never been so proud of being a member of the Newton School Committee as I have been during the last two years," said Beckwith.

Wyoming highway police said the exact cause of the accident has not been determined. The car went off the multi-lane, divided highway onto a median strip, came back on the road, then left again, turning over twice.

Police said they were investigating the possibility the driver might have become over-fatigued from driving for an extended period of time. Lipp had been visiting friends in California.

Y Has Courses In Pre-Flight, Jazz Guitar

An aviation pre-flight course for both youth and adults will be one of the new headline topics offered by the Adult division at the Newton YMCA beginning the week of Sept. 15.

This class - a real generation gap breaker - is an FAA guided program instructed by Albert Mahegan, a certified flight instructor for the Wiggins Airways.

The course is the "in thing" for fathers and sons, mothers and daughters, who would like to fly or just want to learn the rudiments of flight. This college level instruction for 16 year old and upward could open the way to a pilot's license.

The Newton Y also announces a new class in pop-jazz guitar in addition to its regular folk classes, beginning Sept. 18. The course is for the advanced beginner or intermediate guitarist who has a basic knowledge of music reading and of the fret board. Advanced chords, harmony, and arranging will be covered. Volunteers Are Needed For 'The Happies'

Newtonites are invited to join a new group called "The Happies" which meets every Thursday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Church of Our Redeemer, Lexington. The group is comprised of patients, former patients of the Metropolitan State Hospital and volunteers from the Mystic Valley Mental Health Association whose aim is to provide a bridge for the patients from hospital to community living.

These are very gentle, likeable, pleasant people - with just a little more need for other people than you and I. They are dependent upon those who could care enough to help them gain confidence to re-establish a healthy life.

Can you sew, paint, cook, set hair, sing, laugh, chat, provide transportation or just be there and get to know someone to whom your friendship would be very important? For these people the difference between just existing and truly enjoying life could be made by someone like you...

Won't you come and see for yourself? Join us for coffee at our OPEN HOUSE on Thursday, September 25th from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the Church of Our Redeemer, Lexington. We look forward to meeting you.

Please call the Mystic Mental Health Office, 186 Bedford Street, Lexington 862-1496 if interested or just come.

Physical Conditioning For Football Is Rough

By Jeff Grossman

When you ask most people what "double sessions" means to them they will most likely answer very unemotionally something about overcrowded schools or school lunch programs. Pose this same question to a Newton High School football player, especially in the last week in August and the first week in September, and you will get a pained you - really - know - how - to - hurt - a - guy look.

It is as if they had just swam the English Channel trying to break the world record and you have to explain how you dropped the watch in the water halfway across. Most believe it is a character builder, although there are some who feel it is legalized torture sponsored and endorsed by the coaches.

The attitude of most towards double sessions is typified by one prominent lineman who, when asked if he was in shape after an intensive running and weightlifting program during the summer answered rather dryly, "you can never really be in shape for double sessions."

The morning of the first day is occupied with giving physicals and getting equipped. In the afternoon a physical test is given.

Situps, pull ups, dips on the parallel bars are tested. A 40 yard dash and a half mile are also run. These exercises are done quickly back - to - back so a best result isn't achieved in each. For some, particularly the heavier linemen, this test takes on the dimensions of an Olympic decathlon.

The next morning full equipment is donned and the hitting begins. First though, the team runs and does calisthenics. Calisthenics are just calisthenics but not in double sessions. Bob Hyland, a star at Boston College and a player under Vince Lombardi at Green Bay once said that Coach Lombardi made the calisthenics so tough that the players were forced to make it through the rest of the practice solely on pride. This seems to be the NHS way also.

Alternating running in place, flopping down on the ground, doing pushups while wearing fifteen pounds of equipment with the temperature in the 80's can get tiresome.

After the calisthenics there are four stations the players must go through: sled, isometrics, ropes and agility. Some would prefer a good old Chinese water torture.

At agility there are three exercises. There is mirroring the ball or running in the direction in which the ball is pointed. Secondly, the player acts as if he has been hit, falls down and scrambles up quickly. Finally, the monkey involves three players. All lay on the ground and continuously rotate by jumping over each other.

The sled has seven metal bars and a coach who sits on the sled and cajoles, criticizes, encourages and generally lets the players know he is there while they are pushing the sled and him around the field.

Next comes the ropes. The ropes are small boxes and are located in the middle of a sand dune and after the first man goes through everyone else is breathing 100 percent dust the rest of the time. The players run through it straight, sidesaddle, and hop through it.

Finally, there are isometrics where the players pull on a heavy string to strengthen the arms. And then, if the coaches deem it necessary there is the dreaded, hated hill, a seemingly innocent, short but very steep stretch of ground. This year a new policy has been instituted for the hill. The coach will ask for a volunteer to run up the hill for everyone else. Most everyone volunteers but only one is picked and he races up the hill seven times while the others watch. With this idea the coaches hope the players will learn to sacrifice for others and for the team as a whole.

In the afternoon only shorts shoes and helmets are worn. After warming up, the line and backfield break up and go through specific assignments so players know exactly what their assignment is on each play. Everything is done on the run so the afternoon isn't exactly easy either.

For two weeks this pattern is followed and by the end of that time the Coach hopes that a good deal of the molding he was planning on doing is done.

FRANKLIN N. FLASCHNER

Flaschner Is Candidate For Another Term

Franklin N. Flaschner has filed nomination papers for reelection as Alderman-at-large from Ward 5 in Newton.

Mr. Flaschner is Vice President of the Board of Aldermen, Chairman of the Land Use Committee and a member of the Public Works and Traffic Committees.

He was formerly a member of the Finance Committee for six years and was the Chairman of the Committees on Planning and Police Study.

Mr. Flaschner has served as Newton's representative on the Metropolitan Area Planning Council since its organization in 1965 as the statutory regional planning agency for Metropolitan Boston.

Now in his second term Mr. Flaschner succeeded Father Seavey Joyce as president of MAPC in 1967.

On the statewide level Mr. Flaschner has been the Special Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Bridgewater Release Project, the operation of which has been primarily responsible for the reduction in the patient population at the Bridgewater State Hospital from over 600 to about 200 in a little over two years.

Mr. Flaschner also serves as Vice Chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Correction.

Notwithstanding his civic activities outside of Newton and his full time law practice, Mr. Flaschner's primary civic involvement for the past twelve years has been his service as a Newton Alderman.

He has concentrated his interests on the Board on behalf of City Planning and Land Use. His advocacy has played a key role in Newton's 1963 Community Renewal Program, the creation and support of Newton's Planning Department, the creation of Newton's Renewal Authority, the expansion of the purposes of the Newton Housing Authority, the Planning Department's study of low and moderate income housing, many of the recent open space acquisitions by the City, and most of the amendments to the zoning ordinance since 1958 including the orders of the Board granting or denying petitions for changes in zone and permissive use of land.

The program was first initiated by Auditor Buczek to give students the opportunity to work under supervision on various audits.

Newton Represented In International TB Conference in N.Y.

Executive Director of The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association is attending the 20th annual conference of the International Union Against Tuberculosis now in session in New York.

Speakers at this convention come from such diverse countries as the Ivory Coast, Mali, Brazil, Madagascar and Czechoslovakia and discussion will range over many subjects such as the use of drugs to cure and prevent TB, training TB teams in developing countries, recent findings in mycobacterial genetics and new ways to make decisions about controlling TB.

TB germs plague people everywhere. Especially the world's poor.

Crowded housing conditions, inadequate diet, and poor general health make people more susceptible to TB and other germs. Once they are infected with TB germs, they are less able to fight off and contain the infection.

The problem in South America, the Far East, India, and other parts of the developing world is enormous. And earlier this year in the Congo, Dr. Haldan Mahler, Danish chief of the TB unit of the World Health Organization, told Africans that more than half the people on that continent were infected with virulent TB germs.

Controlling TB is an international problem. And an American one. Last year, over 40,000 new active cases were found in this country. May of these cases come from the nations poor.

POP WARNER CAPTAINS — The Newton Tigers will be competing in the South Shore League Pop Warner League this year. The Tigers gave it a good try in the opener Sunday but bowed to Norwood 24-0. Leading Tigers this season are, left to right: Dennis Cameron, Joe Donlan, John Vizakis, and Matt Sabetti. Tigers face Framingham, another new entry in League, this Sunday afternoon at Newton Highlands Field. (Don Silva Photo)

Job Open At South High For a Basketball Coach

By Lew Freedman

In a somewhat surprising move, Newton South High varsity basketball coach Warren Bechtold, last week resigned from his post.

Bechtold held the position since the 1961 - 62 season and compiled a 45-92 record.

Bechtold has been a member of South's physical education department since the school's inception and will continue in his teaching capacity.

The former varsity basketball and baseball player for Springfield College stated that the reason for his resignation was to spend more time with his family.

Athletic Director George Winkler has indicated that Bechtold's successor would be someone from outside the school.

Bechtold's resignation was the second received by Winkler in recent months. Shortly after the end of his third outdoor campaign, track coach Richard Geist stepped down.

Geist's move coincides with the reappearance of the Newton South track scene of Donald Sutherland.

Sutherland took a new indoor track team in 1962 and in two seasons built it into a state champion. In his four years as Lion track coach, he won two state championships and was runner - up once.

Sutherland returns to teaching this fall after a three year absence and will assume his indoor track coaching responsibilities once more.

Don Shelton, Sutherland's three - year replacement, will be his assistant coach indoors and will be head coach outdoors after three years as an assistant.

Mike Coleman, assistant coach indoors, last winter, has been asked to be an assistant outdoors.

Meanwhile, Mr. Geist retains his post as Cross - Country mentor.

After this thoroughly confusing shuffling process Newton South's track coaches shape up this way: Cross - Country — Head Coach Richard Geist; Indoor Track — Head Coach Don Sutherland, Assistant Coach Don Shelton; Outdoor Track — Head Coach Don Shelton, Assistant Mike Coleman.

Another outdoor assistant will probably be added.

Not to mention, Newton South is still short one baseball coach.

Mrs. Brick Is Contender For School Board

Mrs. Jeanette Brick of 60 Russell Road, West Newton, Ward 3, announces her candidacy for the Newton School Committee.

She is experienced in the business world, a business school graduate, Presidents of M & B Inc., mother of three, two in college and one in the fifth grade, she points out.

Mrs. Brick has resided in Newton for sixteen years and is serving on the Newton Drug Committee. She is a member of the Executive Board of the Government Center Association of Boston.

She has regularly attended Newton School Committee meetings for years which she states has helped to spark her conscience into this area of public service. She sees an overwhelming need for effective citizen interest to safeguard education in Newton as perhaps never before in its history.

The candidate warns that the dollars are limited and must be protected.

"These dollars belong to the voters and must buy the very best education for our children and less unproven experimentation. In the administration of education every step must be taken to profit by the experience of other communities in areas where studies are conducted or programs instituted. Economy compels unbiased utilization of such proven opportunities to build up our system at a minimum cost," she said.

Mrs. Brick emphasizes that good programs can be afforded. While some educational experiments have proven beneficial, other innovations may have caused too many Newton children educational and psychological damage. And this without the express consent of the parents, she points out.

Mrs. Brick believes that highly desirable and when discovered, should be implemented in all of the schools in Newton, not simply in one

Little League Sports Night

Several Boston Red Sox stars will be on hand at the Newton South Little League Sports Night to be held next Thursday, Sept. 25, at the Waban Neighborhood Club.

Trophies will be awarded to the Waban Colts, Newton city champs, as well as to league graduates.

Midget Tigers Lose; 'B' Team Takes 6-0 Tally

The first game of the Newton Tigers was held at Monsignor Daily Field, Brighton. Newton hosted a team from Norwood.

From the opening kick-off it was apparent that the bigger Norwood squad would be in control of the game. Norwood scored once in each period. In the first period, quarterback Mike Smith, scored from the four yard line.

In the next period, Mark Oldham scored on a five yard run. Steve Nolan, a big fullback, scored the last two touchdowns for Norwood. Only on the last touchdown was Norwood able to make the conversion. The final score was Norwood 25 and Newton 0.

The Newton "B" squad saved the day by pulling a 6-0 last minute win. The first half started out the same way. Neither team was able to move the ball.

Until the last two minutes of the game Newton recovered a Norwood fumble on their own 47 yard line. On the next play quarterback, Ken Shulman, handed off to halfback, David Proia to start what looked like a run. Before David got outside he stopped and threw a pass back across the field.

There were only two people there. One was a Norwood man, the other was a Newton man. The Newton man deflected the ball but Jack stayed with it and caught it. He then dodged one man and ran into the end zone. Newton defense held on for the last fifty seconds of the game. The final score was Newton 6 and Norwood nothing.

She believes that all innovative programs should be carefully discussed with the parents who volunteer their children to participate in such programs.

"The parents in Newton are intelligent, sincere, well educated, co-operative and abundantly able to take part in determining what is best for their own children whom they themselves know best," she said.

Discipline she says cannot be lax. It must start in the home but must also be extended into the atmosphere of the school.

Mrs. Brick states that she will follow with a watchful eye the new elementary school lunch program which the Newton parents were almost four years in achieving.

Mrs. Brick, Chairman of the Working Mothers Committee of Newton, feels that an injustice has been done to the working mothers and other mothers of the City, and that a five hour school day including lunch in school is best for the children.

If elected Mrs. Brick pledges to reflect the will of the people, protect their tax dollars, and still accomplish educational excellence for all of the children in Newton.

Pottery Proves He's No. 1 In Cross Country

Chuck Pottey proved beyond a shadow of doubt that he is number one man on the 1969 Newton South Cross-Country team, last Friday.

Pottey's torrid 14:34 over Mr. Ida Jr. College's scenic 2.6 mile route carried him home almost a full minute ahead of Dick Dickinson's 15:30 in an inter-squad time trial.

The long-legged junior lowered his personal best on the course by 21 seconds, and the season hasn't even begun yet!

Following Pottey and Dickinson were senior Dave Glaser, 15:46; junior Mike LeBlanc, 15:56; senior Ron Schneider, 16:02; Captain Steve Sahl, 16:23; and junior John Seiler, 16:48, none of them living up to expectations, except perhaps Sahl, who has sat out a year of competition with a back injury. Steve Reef, from whom big things are predicted, sat out the trial with an injury.

Chestnut Hill Residents Protest New BC Dormitory

More than 50 residents of fact that the Boston Patriots from the parking area, he added. The Chestnut Hill area are now using the Alumni Stadium for their football games. Planning Board member Stanley Miller expressed the opinion that parking should be provided on the upper campus because of the natural inclination of people to try to park their cars as close as possible to where they want to be. He indicated that the parking lot on the lower campus would not really solve the problem of congestion in the streets bordering the upper campus.

Rev. Shea declared that this might not be possible for space and aesthetic reasons. Alexander S. Beal of 419 Beacon St. said he represented himself and his neighbors who, he maintained, are not hostile to the college, but "still want to live and enjoy our homes." He asked that neighborhood representatives be invited to participate in discussions concerning Boston College's long range plans for the area.

Rev. Shea expressed the opinion that since the student population at Boston College will not be increased by construction of the new facility, the regulation shouldn't apply.

He added that Boston College in the past 12 years has accelerated its growth at a rapid pace and as a result has not had an opportunity to develop a parking policy.

However, Rev. Shea continued, plans now call for eventual removal of all parking from Newton and onto the lower campus which is the Planning Board that parking MDC reservoir and has been now being built on the lower campus and should be ready by the end of next week. The construction is being expedited, he pointed out, by the Beal said, and the heavy traffic and parking represent hazards.

Sidney Katzman of 30 Priscilla Road declared, "No one can convince me that putting more buildings on the hill will reduce the population or traffic density."

"There is a kind of injustice involved," Katzman said. "Boston College has the legal privilege to introduce problems into the community which they have made no plans to correct."

"The general deterioration of the traffic and noise situation and the inability of Boston College to do very much about the problem constitutes a real kind of community pollution," Katzman added.

Thirty two property owners in the area raised their hands to indicate opposition to the petition. None were in favor.

In other action a hearing was held on a petition by Clay Chevrolet Inc. for permissive use of security lighting at an existing parking lot on 50 Crafts St. in Newtonville.

Speaking for the neighbors David Berkeley of 33 Central Ave. said they had no objection to the lights but wanted to reiterate their desires for rehabilitation of the area.

Also heard was a petition by Comet Supermarket at 275 Centre Street, Newton Corner for permissive use for a change in the lettering of a sign formerly identifying Sklar's Market.

Art For Everyone At Community Center

"Art For Everyone" is the theme of the fall-winter Creative Arts Program at the Newton Community Service Centers, 429 Cherry Street, West Newton.

Art Director Linda Janower announces a full program of activities which include the smallest tot (age two and up) children of elementary age, handicapped youngsters, teenagers and adults.

Opening week is Oct. 6 but early registration is strongly recommended.

FOR MOTHERS AND TOTS This class offers the child his or her first introduction to Creative work through the special effort of mother and teachers. Children will expand their sensory perception by experimenting with many forms of art media, (visual and tactile) in an atmosphere free of restraint and worry about mess. Mothers gain ideas for home use with children, as well as a new perspective for themselves on the potentialities for an adult's use of the so-called "children's media." Seeing mothers and children (ages 2 and up) involved in mutual creative efforts like puppet making, splashing in paint with bare feet to music, building constructions from boxes, etc., has made it clear to us that the values of togetherness and creativity make this venture doubly meaningful.

This group was so successful when we started it last year that two additional class sections were added. (As far as we know this is the only venture of this type offered in the Boston area.) It would be helpful if you could indicate a second choice of hour for this semester, in case the class you request is filled. Also, this gives us an opportunity to group the two year olds and three year olds together, making a more homogeneous class. Register early; spaces fill quickly.

Monday - beginning Oct 6; Jackie Melissas, Instructor, Bea Lewis, Assistant

9:20 a.m. - 10:20 a.m. - MOTHERS AND TOTS, age 2 years and up

10:40 a.m. - 11:40 a.m. - MOTHERS AND TOTS, age 2 years and up

1:00 p.m. - 2:00 p.m. - MOTHERS AND TOTS, age 2 years and up

3:15 p.m. - 4:15 p.m. - MOTHERS AND CHILDREN (Kindergarten age and up)

Additional information: Classes are limited in size to insure individual attention, and places are filled in the order in which forms are received. Do not delay. Register now. The Center regrets there can be no refunds. There are no make-up sessions due to illness. Please note: We follow the Newton Public Schools sessions. If there is no school due to a holiday or inclement weather, then there is no art class. Monday holidays or snow days which fall on Monday will automatically meet on Friday of that week at the same hour. All other make up classes will be held in the form of special double sessions either for an art event or field trip. This type of activity has been very successful in the past and adds another dimension to the art program. Call 969-5906 or 969-5907 for information sheet.

FOR ELEMENTARY CHILDREN This program is an unusual offering. We are interested in a wide-open experience for all children. Our experienced staff is geared to building a child's awareness of himself and the world around him. With this orientation we draw on natural sciences and experimentation, improvisation, body movement, feelings - all paths of communication and perception open to him and all culminated in the artistic experience.

The atmosphere is one of discovery. Your child will be challenged to solve problems in new ways. We are considering the use of light and shadows, discovery of environmental space, natural life forces (water, wind, air, exploration of feelings, etc., Color, design and an appreciation of aesthetic concepts will permeate all of these areas.

There is a great variety of two and three dimensional materials used. We use many community resources such as Match boxes from the Children's Museum, materials from E.S.I., film libraries, etc. However, our emphasis is not on the media, but rather on the interests and needs of the individual and the group. Our goal is not the finished product, but rather the TOTAL EXPERIENCE within the child.

If your child is drawn to projects which tap the intellect, the senses, the emotions, the body - indeed involve him totally as a person, he will find this program very exciting, very meaningful and a great deal of fun!

This is a continuing program. Second term we will build on the experiences we introduced and the understanding we have gained of your child's needs during the first semester. For the greatest individual growth of your youngster, we urge you to plan on a year with us. (two 12 session blocks).

The first session for all groups is designed for parents and children. We cordially invite you to participate. Carpools can be arranged at this time.

Creative Art is a two-semester program of twelve sessions each semester. New people may join the second term if spaces are open.

Drug Investigation Finds 'Hippie Subculture' Here

Four Newton youths and a district court this week on a variety of drug charges stemming from a continuing investigation.

Involved in the investigation has been a 19-year-old underground agent who infiltrated the Newton "hippie subculture," so-called.

In court testimony he said he became acquainted with a number of youths in the Newton Corner vicinity. He testified he bought $20 worth of hashish from one of the youths and $15 worth from another. The latter purchase included an ounce of marijuana. The purchases occurred Aug. 23 and 28 in the Newton Centre area.

In two instances the "buys" were made in automobiles. The youthful undercover agent said one purchase was set up at the seller's request, across the street from a gathering place in Newton Centre.

The agent said then, by a pre-arranged signal, he indicated to Newton detectives they should follow him. They did and the arrests resulted.

The Randolph man was turned over to Middlesex Superior Court on charges of sale of a narcotic drug and intent to sell a narcotic drug.

Sentencing on all of the guilty findings was continued by Judge Julian L. Yesley until Sept. 15.

School Board some time ago. Herbert F. Regal of 155 Homer street is unopposed for election as Berman's successor.

But in most cases there has been a rush of candidates to contest for the positions of those who will leave public office.

Principal opponent against Mayor Monte G. Basbas in the November election will be Representative Irving Fishman. However, David F. Evans of 152 Adams street, retired city worker, also submitted nomination papers and qualified for a place on the election ballot.

Other contenders in that fight are Alderman Robert Tennant of 189 Mount Vernon street, Richard J. Costello of 194 Parmenter road, and Robert P. Freeto of 91 Hillside street.

Opponents in a three-way contest for election as Alderman - at - Large from Ward 1 are Alderman Adelaide B. Ball of 35 Waban street, Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell of 655 Centre street and Joseph R. Burke of 29 Woodrow avenue.

Another interesting fight will be waged for election as Alderman - at - Large from Ward 2, where Alderman Auryansen is retiring. Alderman William H. Wolf of Newtonville is a candidate for reelection. In the field against him are T. Burke Doherty of 35 Court street, Peter F. Harrington of 137 Lowell avenue and Wignmore A. Pierson of 101 Walker street.

Aldermen Louis I. Egelson, Jr., and David W. Jackson are unopposed for reelection as Aldermen - at - Large from Ward 4.

Also unopposed are Franklin N. Flaschner and Harry L. Walen, Aldermen - at - Large from Ward 5.

Two aspirants are striving for the position as Alderman - at - Large from Ward 6 which William L. Bruce is relinquishing. They are Michael Lipof of 110 Oxford street and Stephen S. Mandile of 48 Lanern lane. Alderman Sidney T. Small is standing for reelection.

Another lively battle looms for the post as Alderman - at - Large from Ward 7 now held by William E. Hopkins who is leaving the Board at the close of the year.

Candidates for the two positions, in addition to Alderman Jason Sacks who is seeking another term, are Harry H. Crosby of 43 Ruthven road, George W. Lowell of 124 Hunnewell avenue and Ronald S. Wilson of 41 Brackett street.

Aldermanic President Wendell R. Bauckman and Alderman Elliot K. Cohen are unopposed for reelection as Aldermen - at - Large from Ward 8.

Two present Ward Aldermen are unopposed for reelection. They are Andrew Magni in Ward 1 and Ernest F. Dietz of Ward 6.

Former Alderman William Carmen, candidate for Mayor four years ago, will return to the board on which he once served. He is unopposed for election as Ward Alderman from Ward 7, a position now held by Representative - Alderman H. James Shea, Jr.

Opponents for election as successor to George L. Hicks as Ward Alderman from Ward 2 are Thomas B. Concannon, Jr., of 279 Linwood avenue and Peter E. Ryan of 313 Cabot street.

Seeking the position as Ward Alderman in Ward 3 are Charles Aucoin of 84 Adella avenue and Richard J. Bullwinkle of 15 Lindbergh avenue.

An eight - candidate battle will be waged for the post as Ward Alderman from Ward 4 which William P. Matthews is giving up.

In that field are Sheila Farnese of 92 Lexington street, Leonie B. Frazier, of 10 Owatonna street, William E. Halliday, Jr., of 222 Islington road, Nicolo V. Nardone of 39 Sharon avenue, Daniel Rakov of 11 Grayson lane, Arthur H. Sullivan of 48 Newell road, John T. Underhill of 17 Otis street and John E. Young of 2313 Washington street.

Alderman Edward C. Uehlein of Ward 5 is being challenged by Nicholas Bibbo, Jr., of 54 Indiana terrace.

Alderman Alan S. Barkin is opposed in Ward 8 by Judith R. Shapiro of 182 Brookline street.

School Committeemen unopposed for reelection are Francis P. Frazier of Ward 1, Edwin Hawkridge of Ward 2 and Vincent P. Stanton of Ward 7.

Opponents for the position as School Committee member from Ward 2 from which Mrs. Mintz is retiring are John T. Evans of 85 Otis street and Eleanor S. Rosenblum of 15 Bemis street.

School Committeeman Richard M. Douglas of Ward 3 is being challenged by Jeanette Brick of 60 Russell road.

Committeeman Manuel Beckwith of Ward 4 is opposed by Charles A. McCarthy of 3081 Beacon street.

Melvin Howards of 94 Shady Hill road is running against Alvin Mandell, the School Committee member from Ward 8.

EGYPTIAN MINISTER INDICATES AGREEMENT ON PEACE MEETING

FOREIGN MINISTER Mahmoud Riad of Egypt indicated Wednesday that his country would accept an eventual direct meeting with Israel to finalize a Middle East peace settlement. Riad, emerging from a meeting in New York with U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, was asked if the United Arab Republic could accept a meeting with Israel along the lines of the 1948-49 "Rhodes Formula." The 1949 Arab-Israeli armistice was worked out by mediator Ralph J. Bunche between the two belligerent sides on the island of Rhodes. In the final stage, the negotiators signed the armistice in a hotel room. Riad declared a Mideast settlement could be thus settled, "if the Israelis make it clear they are renouncing expansionism." Meanwhile, Israeli air force planes Wednesday streaked across the Eastern and Western fronts three times to bomb and strafe Arab guerrilla bases in Jordan and military targets in Egypt, military spokesmen in Tel Aviv reported.

ALLIES REPULSE COMMUNISTS IN ATTACK ON SAIGON OUTPOST

AMERICAN and South Vietnamese defending an outpost 35 miles from Saigon repulsed attacking Communist infantrymen Wednesday, killing 10. Two Americans were killed and 25 wounded in that battle and other Communist raids. Far to the north of Saigon, the heavy cruiser USS Boston turned its guns on the Demilitarized Zone to silence a North Vietnamese mortar position used to shell Allied troops south of the buffer strip. Reports said salvos from the Boston hit the mortar emplacement Tuesday about 400 yards south of the Ben Hai river that cuts the DMZ in two.

VICE PRESIDENT THANG TO SUCCEED HO AS HANOI LEADER

HANOI Wednesday announced the election of Vice President Thang to succeed Ho Chi Minh, a Lenin Peace Prize winner, as president of North Vietnam to succeed the late Ho Chi Minh. A veteran revolutionary, Thang has served under Ho for decades. A biography earlier released by Hanoi said Thang is widely known among North Vietnamese children as "uncle Ton" and claimed he is neither of the pro-Moscow or pro-Peking factions in the 11-man hierarchy that rules North Vietnam.

PRINTING PLANT BLAST KILLS AT LEAST 4, INJURES DOZENS

A MAMMOTH PRESS exploded in Chicago Wednesday, sending terror through one of the world's largest printing facilities. At least four persons were killed and dozens injured. The blast hurled rolls of paper weighing 2,000 pounds through gaping holes onto the street. Seconds later dazed workers came out of the hole. Some wandered about the area in shock. Others made their way, on their own, to hospitals to be treated for their injuries. There were at least 28 injured, six seriously. The site of the explosion, at the R. R. Donnelly and Sons plant, is at the fringe of the downtown area. The firm publishes telephone directories, national magazines and mail order catalogues. Fire Marshal John Casey said the explosion may have been touched off by a spark that ignited vapors of chemical solvents used to clean the presses.

HUGH SCOTT PICKED BY GOP AS NEW SENATE LEADER

SENATE REPUBLICANS shattered decades of conservative domination Wednesday by picking eastern liberal Hugh Scott as their new leader. The Pennsylvania defeated Sen. Howard E. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, the conservative-backed candidate, 24 to 19 in a secret ballot to select a successor to Sen. Everett M. Dirksen as Senate GOP leader. His Senate colleagues elevated the 68-year-old Scott from the post of assistant Republican leader, or whip. Immediately after the vote, President Nixon telephoned his congratulations to Scott and the new GOP leader assured him the tight, two-way race had evoked no bitterness among Senate Republicans.

TV INDUSTRY ACCUSED OF 'APPALLING' EMPHASIS ON VIOLENCE

A PRESIDENTIAL COMMISSION accused the American television industry Wednesday of an "appalling" emphasis on violent entertainment shows with particular harm to their most faithful viewers — children and the poor. The strongly worded indictment by the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence was tempered only by an observation that this emphasis seemed to be starting to wane in the networks' current fall lineup of shows. "We welcome this trend and urge its continuance," the commission said in a 7,500-word study report based on findings completed about a year ago.

CINCINNATI BANK ROBBERS KILL 4 WOMEN 'IN COLD BLOOD'

THREE YOUNG MEN robbed a suburban Cincinnati savings and loan office Wednesday, then herded two women customers and two women employees into a vault and killed them "in cold blood," police reported. The gunmen fled in a 1954 model automobile with an undetermined amount of money, police said. Roadblocks were set up in the Ohio-Kentucky-Indiana border area and at all bridges across the Ohio River. Three of the women were the only persons in the Cabinet Savings and Loan Assn. office when the robbers entered. The fourth victim entered the office while the robbery was in progress, police said.

DONAHUE SEEKS LEGISLATION TO PERMIT RENT CONTROLS

SENATE PRESIDENT Maurice A. Donahue said Wednesday he would file legislation granting cities and towns of Massachusetts the right to impose rent controls as a "temporary solution" to "unconscionable and unwarranted" rent increases in some communities. The Holyoke Democrat, an unofficial candidate for governor, told newsmen that Boston, Cambridge and Brookline may be the center of such "unwarranted practices" by landlords. At the same time, he said "there are undoubtedly many local communities where rent controls are not needed and cannot be justified."

MISS KOPECHNE'S PARENTS FILE 2ND BID TO BAR AUTOPSY

THE PARENTS of Mary Jo Kopechne filed a seven-point petition Wednesday in a second attempt to bar an autopsy on the body of their daughter, who was found drowned in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's submerged car. Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Luzerne County Court in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., set arguments on the petition for next Monday, prior to hearing one already scheduled on an amended autopsy petition filed by Massachusetts Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis' request for an autopsy on the 28-year-old blonde secretary was filed with Brominski last Thursday. It differed from the one filed five weeks earlier by alleging that blood was found on the clothing and in the mouth and nose of Miss Kopechne after her body was removed from the submerged car last July 18. The Kopechne motion, filed by Atty. Joseph Flanagan, pleaded for a dismissal of Dinis' amended petition and requested a bill of particulars, including copies of blood tests and the names of all witnesses.

Debate Stalls Action On Renewal

Two hours of debate on parliamentary procedures finally resulted in the postponement of a vote on the proposed Newton Lower Falls urban renewal project by the Board of Aldermen on Tuesday night.

Some forty to fifty residents of the area sat in the aldermanic chambers at Newton City Hall until after midnight vainly waiting to find out what is slated for their neighborhood.

Alderman H. James Shea imposed a charter objection on the Newton Redevelopment Authority's request for aldermanic approval of plans for a sizeable federally aided urban renewal project in Newton Lower Falls.

of this unique move the charter upheld by a vote of the board.

Shea explained that his original charter objection was imposed not to hold up the renewal project but to prove the right of any aldermen to use this device if he deemed it necessary to consider an issue further before voting.

The board finally decided to request Mayor Monte G. Basbas to call a special meeting of the aldermen next Monday, Sept. 29, to debate and vote on the redevelopment program. The federal government has stated that Sept. 30 is the deadline for local approval of the project.

Several of the aldermen who agreed with the legality of Shea's right to impose a charter objection on the matter of the urban renewal program, also expressed that his move was an unfortunate one.

They maintained that the issues have been thoroughly aired and that since so many people had turned out for a meeting and were waiting for a decision on the matter it should not be postponed further.

Mayor Lashes Back At "Veiled Hints"

Termed "veiled hints and insinuations," Mayor Monte G. Basbas said this week that "under no circumstances will I ask for anyone's resignation."

He was replying to a demand by Ald. Rep. H. James Shea, Jr., that the mayor should request Newton Redevelopment Authority Chairman Mario DiCarlo's resignation.

She indicated that DiCarlo, who he said was a close political associate of Basbas, should be replaced by a more "community-oriented" citizen because DiCarlo's "conflicting

Police Play Tag At Pats' Game Sunday

It was a sad day all around last Sunday for fans attending the Patriots - Kansas City Chiefs football game at Boston College stadium.

It cost some football fans as much as $11.50 to see the Pats get walloped 31-0 by the Chiefs.

Writing tickets faster than the Patriots gained yardage, Newton police tagged 331 cars for parking violations and most of them were $4 fines because the cars were in "restricted areas."

Request Regal Be Appointed To Post

School Committeewoman Norma J. Mintz urged the Committee Monday night to request a joint meeting with the Aldermen to appoint Herbert Regal School Committeeman from Ward 6.

Regal, she pointed out, is the only candidate who has filed in the primary for the Ward 6 school post. "Since it is obvious that this candidate will be elected," she said, "appointing him will serve to make him a more important meeting member sooner."

She pointed to a "quasi-precedent" several years ago when a candidate elected to the School Committee was appointed immediately after the elections so as to work during November and December.

Spry Local Lady 100 Years Young

Miss Kieser, a member of the Baptist Church, Newton Center, for more than seventy years, would prefer to celebrate her birthday in a quiet manner but she is going to have a party on Wednesday, October 1, from 2-4, sponsored by her many friends and admirers and Mayor Monte Basbas of Newton, will present her with a "key to the city."

Miss Kieser says, "I love life. It's been a very rich experience."

EGYPTIAN MINISTER INDICATES AGREEMENT ON PEACE MEETING

FOREIGN MINISTER Mahmoud Riad of Egypt indicated Wednesday that his country would accept an eventual direct meeting with Israel to finalize a Middle East peace settlement. Riad, emerging from a meeting in New York with U.S. Secretary of State William F. Rogers, was asked if the United Arab Republic could accept a meeting with Israel along the lines of the 1948-49 "Rhodes Formula." The 1949 Arab-Israeli armistice was worked out by mediator Ralph J. Bunche between the two belligerent sides on the island of Rhodes. In the final stage, the negotiators signed the armistice in a hotel room. Riad declared a Middle East settlement could be thus settled, "if the Israelis make it clear they are renouncing expansionism." Meanwhile, Israeli air force planes Wednesday streaked across the Eastern and Western fronts three times to bomb and strafe Arab guerrilla bases in Jordan and military targets in Egypt, military spokesmen in Tel Aviv reported.

ALLIES REPULSE COMMUNISTS IN ATTACK ON SAIGON OUTPOST

AMERICAN and South Vietnamese defending an outpost 35 miles from Saigon repulsed attacking Communist infantrymen Wednesday, killing 10. Two Americans were killed and 25 wounded in that battle and other Communist raids. Far to the north of Saigon, the heavy cruiser USS Boston turned its guns on the Demilitarized Zone to silence a North Vietnamese mortar position used to shell Allied troops south of the buffer strip. Reports said salvos from the Boston hit the mortar emplacement Tuesday about 400 yards south of the Ben Hai river that cuts the DMZ in two.

VICE PRESIDENT THANG TO SUCCEED HO AS HANOI LEADER

HANOI Wednesday announced the election of Vice President Ton Duc Thang, 81, a Lenin Peace Prize winner, as president of North Vietnam to succeed the late Ho Chi Minh. A veteran revolutionary, Thang has served under Ho for decades. A biography earlier released by Hanoi said Thang is widely known among North Vietnamese children as "uncle Ton" and claimed he is neither of the pro-Moscow or pro-Peking factions in the 11-man hierarchy that rules North Vietnam.

PRINTING PLANT BLAST KILLS AT LEAST 4, INJURES DOZENS

A MAMMOTH PRESS exploded in Chicago Wednesday, sending terror through one of the world's largest printing facilities. At least four persons were killed and dozens injured. The blast hurled rolls of paper weighing 2,000 pounds through gaping holes onto the street. Seconds later dazed workers came out of the hole. Some wandered about the area in shock. Others made their way, on their own, to hospitals to be treated for their injuries. There were at least 28 injured, six seriously. The site of the explosion, at the R. R. Donnelly and Sons plant, is at the fringe of the downtown area. The firm publishes telephone directories, national magazines and mail order catalogues. Fire Marshal John Casey said the explosion may have been touched off by a spark that ignited vapors of chemical solvents used to clean the presses.

HUGH SCOTT PICKED BY GOP AS NEW SENATE LEADER

SENATE REPUBLICANS shattered decades of conservative domination Wednesday by picking eastern liberal Hugh Scott as their new leader. The Pennsylvania defeated Sen. Howard E. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, the conservative-backed candidate, 24 to 19 in a secret ballot to select a successor to Sen. Everett M. Dirksen as Senate GOP leader. His Senate colleagues elevated the 68-year-old Scott from the post of assistant Republican leader, or whip. Immediately after the vote, President Nixon telephoned his congratulations to Scott and the new GOP leader assured him the fight, two-way race had evoked no bitterness among Senate Republicans.

TV INDUSTRY ACCUSED OF 'APPALLING' EMPHASIS ON VIOLENCE

A PRESIDENTIAL COMMISSION accused the American television industry Wednesday of an "appalling" emphasis on violent entertainment shows with particular harm to their most faithful viewers — children and the poor. The strongly worded indictment by the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence was tempered only by an observation that this emphasis seemed to be starting to wane in the networks' current fall lineup of shows. "We welcome this trend and urge its continuance," the commission said in a 7,500-word study report based on findings completed about a year ago.

CINCINNATI BANK ROBBERS KILL 4 WOMEN 'IN COLD BLOOD'

THREE YOUNG MEN robbed a suburban Cincinnati savings and loan office Wednesday, then herded two women customers and two women employees into a vault and killed them "in cold blood," police reported. The gunmen fled in a 1954 model automobile with an undetermined amount of money, police said. Roadblocks were set up in the Ohio-Kentucky-Indiana border area and at all bridges across the Ohio River. Three of the women were the only persons in the Cabinet Savings and Loan Assn. office when the robbers entered. The fourth victim entered the office while the robbery was in progress, police said.

DONAHUE SEEKS LEGISLATION TO PERMIT RENT CONTROLS

SENATE PRESIDENT Maurice A. Donahue said Wednesday he would file legislation granting cities and towns of Massachusetts the right to impose rent controls as a "temporary solution" to "unconscionable and unwarranted" rent increases in some communities. The Holyoke Democrat, an unofficial candidate for governor, told newsmen that Boston, Cambridge and Brookline may be the center of such "unwarranted practices" by landlords. At the same time, he said "there are undoubtedly many local communities where rent controls are not needed and cannot be justified."

MISS KOPECHNE'S PARENTS FILE 2ND BID TO BAR AUTOPSY

THE PARENTS of Mary Jo Kopechne filed a seven-point petition Wednesday in a second attempt to bar an autopsy on the body of their daughter, who was found drowned in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's submerged car. Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Luzerne County Court in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., set arguments on the petition for next Monday, prior to hearing one already scheduled on an amended autopsy petition filed by Massachusetts Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis' request for an autopsy on the 28-year-old blonde secretary was filed with Brominski last Thursday. It differed from the one filed five weeks earlier by alleging that blood was found on the clothing and in the mouth and nose of Miss Kopechne after her body was removed from the submerged car last July 18. The Kopechne motion, filed by Atty. Joseph Flanagan, pleaded for a dismissal of Dinis' amended petition and requested a bill of particulars, including copies of blood tests and the names of all witnesses.

Debate Stalls Action On Renewal

Two hours of debate on parliamentary procedures finally resulted in the postponement of a vote on the proposed Newton Lower Falls urban renewal project by the Board of Aldermen on Tuesday night.

Some forty to fifty residents of the area sat in the aldermanic chambers at Newton City Hall until after midnight vainly waiting to find out what is slated for their neighborhood.

Alderman H. James Shea imposed a charter objection on the Newton Redevelopment Authority's request for aldermanic approval of plans for a sizeable federally aided urban renewal project in Newton Lower Falls.

of this unique move the charter upheld by a vote of the board.

Shea explained that his original charter objection was imposed not to hold up the renewal project but to prove the right of any aldermen to use this device if he deemed it necessary to consider an issue further before voting.

The board finally decided to request Mayor Monte G. Basbas to call a special meeting of the aldermen next Monday, Sept. 29, to debate and vote on the redevelopment program. The federal government has stated that Sept. 30 is the deadline for local approval of the project.

Several of the aldermen who agreed with the legality of Shea's right to impose a charter objection on the matter of the urban renewal program, also expressed that his move was an unfortunate one.

They maintained that the issues have been thoroughly aired and that since so many people had turned out for a meeting and were waiting for a decision on the matter it should not be postponed further.

Defends DeCarlo In Issue

Mayor Lashes Back At "Veiled Hints"

Termed "veiled hints and insinuations," Mayor Monte G. Basbas said this week that "under no circumstances will I ask for anyone's resignation."

He was replying to a demand by Ald. Rep. H. James Shea, Jr., that the mayor should request Newton Redevelopment Authority Chairman Mario DiCarlo's resignation.

She indicated that DiCarlo, who he said was a close political associate of Basbas, should be replaced by a more "community-oriented" citizen because DiCarlo's "conflicting roles are indelicate and not in the public interest."

Defending DiCarlo, Mayor Basbas said, "Setting aside the obvious political overtones of Mr. Shea's inferences, I should like to point out that my predecessor, former Mayor Donald L. Gibbs - and not I - appointed Mr. DiCarlo to the Authority, obviously because he must have thought that Mr. DiCarlo was sufficiently "community oriented."

The Mayor cited DiCarlo's record of service in various

Boston Univ. Students Pay High Tribute to a Murderer

From where we sit it was poor taste and unpatriotic for a group of Boston University students to hold memorial services honoring Ho Chi Minh, the late Communist leader of the North Vietnamese.

In our opinion, it also was bad judgment for a Boston University dean to allow students to use the Marsh Chapel for that purpose. It is doubtful that any funeral director in Boston would have rented his facility for such a ceremony.

The dean's explanation was that he customarily grants permission to "any responsible" students to use the chapel for any kind of religious service. His use of the term, "responsible," in this instance is open to question.

Police Play Tag At Pats' Game Sunday

It was a sad day all around last Sunday for fans attending the Patriots - Kansas City Chiefs football game at Boston College stadium.

It cost some football fans as much as $11.50 to see the Pats get walloped 31-0 by the Chiefs.

Writing tickets faster than the Patriots gained yardage, Newton police tagged 331 cars for parking violations and most of them were $4 fines because the cars were in "restricted areas."

The total area involved, which was purchased for $300,477.50, amounts to 34.09 acres.

Request Regal Be Appointed To Post

School Committee woman Norma J. Mintz urged the Committee Monday night to request a joint meeting with the Aldermen to appoint Herbert Regal School Committee member from Ward 6.

Regal, she pointed out, is the only candidate who has filed in the primary for the Ward 6 school post. "Since it is obvious that this candidate will be elected," she said, "appointing him will serve to make him a more important meeting member sooner."

She pointed to a "quasi precedent" several years ago when a candidate elected to the School Committee was appointed immediately after the elections so as to work during November and December.

Grossman has been a leader of PAX, which he says is a similar, but separate organization, from the new Vietnam peace group which he started. The latter now has headquarters at 44 Brattle St., Cambridge, near the FAX office.

The group proposes to increase the number of days of the strike each month unless action is taken to pull American troops out of Vietnam within the next six months.

BC Grid Games Cause Traffic Problems Here

"A recent exhibition football game played at Boston College several weeks ago resulted in many patrons parking illegally on the streets in the vicinity of the college," Chief William F. Quinn stated today.

Chief Quinn further said that although the stadium is in Boston most of the illegal parking was on Newton streets.

He further stated that he has assigned an adequate number of men to enforce the parking rules and that special emergency ordinances will be in effect on Sunday, September 21, 1969 for the first game.

Chief Quinn asks that all patrons attending the football games at Boston College to please see that they obey all parking rules and regulations.

School Board Chairman Denies Warren Jr. High Over-Crowded

Charges that the Warren Junior High School are overcrowded were contradicted in a lengthy statement issued by School Committee Chairman Manuel Beckwith this week.

Beckwith directed his reply to Mr. and Mrs. Champe A. Fisher, co-chairmen of the Warren PTA, which has submitted a study to the School Board protesting alleged overcrowding at the school.

Mr. Beckwith indicated that he was sympathetic to the concern of parents about facilities at the school but that its building and staff were satisfactory by comparison to other schools and accepted State standards.

Beckwith declared, "on behalf of the Newton School Committee I want to thank you for the report of the Warren PTA Board on your efforts as co-chairman during the past year, and also to respond to several matters of substance which you have brought out."

"I believe it is especially important to try to put the problems of Warren into a wider context than was possible in your report, but which is the School Committee's obligation to take into account through its collective responsibility for the relative condition and special needs of 30 different schools in a very large system."

"Surely no one can deny that Warren is a heavily congested school, or that its problems have been made worse by the fact that both elements of the building are rigid and inflexible."

"Nor is there any doubt that a way can be found, as part of a larger plan, to reduce the current size of the student body of the school."

"Yet we cannot accept the statement that Warren is 'relatively more overcrowded' than the Weeks or Day. The designed capacity of Warren is 1200, and the surplus during the past year was 76 students."

"The designed capacity of Weeks is 800, and the surplus was 149. Although one can very plausibly argue that the rated capacity is excessive in each case, the fact remains that congestion at Weeks is twice what it is at Warren in absolute terms, and proportionately far greater."

"If the test of square feet per pupil is used, as it is by the State Department of Education, the figure of 102 square feet per pupil at Warren would have to be compared with 95 at Day. Other comparable figures are 163 at Meadowbrook, 185 at the new Bigelow, 72 at Underwood, 72 at Angier, 78 at Cabot, 156 at Memorial and 167 at Hamilton."

"Let me turn now to one fundamental feature of the recent history of this problem. While the total student population in Newton has remained constant or even dropped by roughly 100 students during the past five or six years, the distribution of this number through the schools has been shifting steadily during this same period."

"It has been moving in trends which are in direct contradiction to the best professional forecasts available when the South Side Elementary School Study and the North Side Elementary School Study were made between 1959-1962. Projections developed in these two studies were based on the fact, at that time, that the average number of children in public schools in grades 1-6 was 55.6 per hundred on the south side, and only 29.4 on the north side.

"Projections of 'potential' elementary school membership by 1963-1964 for the south side were 2500 children, where the actual number enrolled last year was only 1777. Projections for elementary schools north of Washington Street by 1963-1964 indicated a total of 2200, whereas the actual enrollment for 1968-1969 in that area reached nearly 3000. The error of prediction for the south side was 725 too many, and the error of the north side was 762 too few."

"The point here is not to fault either of these two independent studies, but rather to remind you that the problem at Warren reflects conditions which are far more complex and larger than the case of Warren alone. In merely the past two years, for example, the pupil membership at Meadowbrook has declined from 994 in 1966 to 858 in 1968, while the population at Warren has increased from 1163 to 1250 during the same period."

"What we regard as unfortunate in your report is the suggestion that the predicament at Warren is either unique or indisputably the most serious. It is neither, and the remedy would be simple."

"But regrettably, the problem of localized congestion is vastly more involved than you suggest. Let me point out, for example, that population growth in the Lincoln-Eliot district has been such that the school - in order to gain classroom space - has found it necessary to give up and convert the entire auditorium, the arts room, play room, health room, and even the principal's own office. Comparable conditions could be described at Underwood, Davis, Cabot and Emerson. And we have recently received a long, detailed study by the Weeks PTA Board about problems of serious congestion and obsolescence there."

"Your report of June 12 lists pupil-teacher ratios at Warren for the past year. Listed below are the ratios set late this spring by the School Department for the year 1969-1970:

Bigelow 16.5
Day 16.6
Meadowbrook 14.4
Warren 17.1
Weeks 13.4

"The average of 16.0 is very respectable indeed. The public teacher advisory committee in Massachusetts recently recommended 'a standard toward which the schools should progress as quickly as

Promotion Of Brenner Made By Stop and Shop

Robert Brenner, 29, of Newtonville has been promoted to training specialist for the Bradlees division of Stop & Shop Inc., according to an announcement by Robert Futoran, president of Bradlees.

He will be responsible for the coordination of all training programs designed specifically for the 52 stores in the Bradlees division.

Brenner received his Bachelor's degree from Curry College and is a veteran of the Air Force National Guard.

He is a member of the Knights of Pythias, is married and the father of two children. Stop & Shop Inc. is a diversified retailing corporation which operates 138 supermarkets, 52 Bradlees self-service department stores, and five Medi Mart drugstores throughout New England, New York and New Jersey.

possible, "and specifically recommends the ratio in junior high schools of 21.4 to 1. Warren at 17.1 is well below the future goal recommended throughout the state by this committee. (The recommended figure for high schools, incidentally is 16.7. Newton High has a current ratio of 16.8, Newton South has 16.4.)

"Moreover, it is absolutely essential to point out that Warren since 1964 has received 43 percent of all additional teachers in the junior high schools in Newton, for a total of 24.7 new positions. F.A. Day is second with 16.9, while Meadowbrook is last over this five-year period with 2.9. Since 1966, Warren has obtained 20 new teachers to meet an increased enrollment of 152 students. Meadowbrook received no additional appointments in the 1968-1969, and its faculty will be reduced by 5.9 positions for 1969-1970. Warren received 7.2 new positions in 1968-1969 and will receive an additional 7 in 1969-1970."

Newton as part of the International Student Weekend.

This is the fifth year this event is being held, under the sponsorship of the Newton Community Peace Center and the chairmanship of Mrs. Simon Scheff of Newton Center.

"The value of International Student Weekend is threefold," reports Mrs. Scheff. "First, it enables students from abroad to learn about America at the grass-roots level. Second, the host families gain first-hand information on the countries and cultures of their guests. Third, one learns a tremendous amount about America simply by interpreting it to a visitor, thus seeing it through his eyes."

Activities, varying with individual families and guests, will include football games, country drives, dinner parties, political meetings and religious services. On Saturday, October 4, a square dance at Meadowbrook Junior High School, will climax the weekend for hosts and guests.

The Newton Community Peace Center worked closely with the International Students Association (ISA) of Cambridge in planning the weekend in Newton.

The ISA serves as a cultural and social center for students, foreign and American, in the Greater Boston area. Students may still be placed for the weekend. Interested families may call Mrs. Scheff, 332-5406, or the Peace Center, 969-7900.

Block Party Is Voted Success In Newton Ctr.

Garland Road from Homer Street to Brentwood Ave., Newton Centre, was the scene of a block party Sunday afternoon, Sept. 7th, totally planned and arranged by a self-appointed committee of three neighbors; Arthur Sherman, Sidney Horblitt, and Dr. H. Bernard Fisher.

The gentlemen who had this idea in a backyard conversation one Sunday morning, pursued it to the point of canvassing neighbors, planning the food and doing all the cooking, charging a minimum fee to each family to cover the costs.

Eighty people were in attendance which included children of all ages who played in the stretch of three or four adjoining yards which were used for the highly successful event.

It proved to be a congenial group with the long time residents of 31 years greeting newcomers of one month.

Constitution Is Honored By DAR Program

Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, DAR, observed Constitution Week with a window display in New Highlands Square. Eyecatching with its background colors of red, white, and blue, it presented a large copy of the Constitution, as well as the Mayor's 1969 Proclamation setting aside the week of September 17-23 to honor the Constitution.

A print of the famous painting showing the signing was also on display, as were American flags (both contemporary and 18th century), and a DAR flag.

Mrs. Harry L. Walen, Regent, arranged the window as a beginning of the season's activities. She will entertain the Local Board of Management at a coffee on Thursday morning, September 25, when officers and committee chairmen will discuss the various projects to further the work of the DAR.

The first regular meeting of the Chapter will be held on Monday, September 29, in Mrs. Walen's home. Following a one o'clock dessert and social hour, and a business session, Mrs. Elliot P. Thayer, State Chairman of the American Heritage Committee, will present a program. Mrs. Leslie W. Irwin and Mrs. Harrison Meserve are to be in charge of refreshments.

Simmons Club Fall Meeting September 30

The first, Simmons Club of Boston fall meeting will be held Tuesday, September 30, at 8 p.m. in the College's Faculty Lounge, 300 the Fenway.

Dr. David C. Lewis will be the featured speaker talking about "Drug Education". Dr. Lewis is a noted leader in drug rehabilitation, drug use and abuse. He was the founder of the Tree clinic at the Arlington Street Church; gaining most recent fame from establishing THE PLACE — a 24 hour rehabilitation half-way house type drug clinic manned by a volunteer staff of twenty doctors in South Boston.

Members, husbands and families and friends are invited. Program Chairman is Mrs. Stella Kaye, 756 Hammond Street, Chestnut Hill.

Parents' Weekend

Douglas Ross, son of Dr. and Mrs. Matthew Ross of 333 Commonwealth Avenue, Chestnut Hill, is co-chairman of Parents' Weekend to be held at Tufts University October 10 through 12. Mr. Ross is a senior political science-French major at Tufts where he is residential advisor in his dormitory and a member of the Committee on Student Life.

He is also captain of the swimming team and holds four Tufts swimming records. After graduation, he plans to attend law school. Following an interest in urban affairs, Mr. Ross worked this past summer as a VISTA Associate for the Tenants' Association of Boston, a tenants' right organization.

Registration Sunday For Unitarian Church School

In preparation for the opening of the First Unitarian Society in West Newton Square spent an overnight at the Clara Barton Conference Center in North Oxford, Mass. The theme of the weekend was "Discovering Yourself Through the Discovery Method."

Mrs. Arthur S. Laughland, Minister of Education, and Mrs. Floyd H. Gilles of Waban designed experiences for the staff to emphasize the importance of the interaction between children and their leaders. The overnight is the first of a series of encounters for the teaching staff.

This term the Church School will offer elective courses for Grades 6, 7 and 8 dealing with the Old Testament, Unitarianism, Universalism and Decision Making. Another new experience being planned for this age group is "Windows on the World" in which young people will be interviewing people who are involved in interesting professions or have had unusual travel experiences, in an attempt to discover how ethics and value priorities affect their daily lives.

Ninth Grade and High School seminars will examine contemporary social issues, viz., poverty, pollution, etc. An intensive program of sex education will be offered as an elective program for 8th and 9th graders beginning in November, under the guidance of the Unitarian Universalist Association, Dept. of Education, which is developing new curriculum materials in this area.

Boys and girls in Grade 5 will be planning a camping trip to Cape Cod to begin the year's program by experiencing — with some measure of reality — the feelings of a Bushman from the Kalahari, as they consider the basic elements necessary for survival and sit about the campfire listening to and creating original "myths." This will initiate this course dealing with basic religious customs and ways in which they have been answered by various cultures from primitive to modern scientific. Fourth Graders will be discovering man as a creature of the continuing process of evolution; the wonder of the human body and the sense through which we learn as well as man's continuing responsibility for the conservation of natural resources.

In the primary unit, First Graders will consider concepts of growth and change, with experiences which will deal with the development of many living creatures, as well as ideas that relate to the children's own birth and potential for growth. Second Graders will be focusing on the importance of understanding feelings — anger, fear, joy and sorrow — as they become more aware of themselves and their relationship to others. Third Grade will be reaching out to the world around them as they think about stores from other times and other cultures.

Bowen Nursery School Changes Class Schedule

The directors and members of the Bowen Nursery School have recently voted to change the class schedule.

The new schedule allows for all classes to meet in the mornings instead of the previous half-year afternoon sessions.

The Bowen Nursery School is a non-profit co-operative school which meets in the Bowen School kindergarten classroom Cypress St., Newton Centre. The school for twenty youngsters employs one certified teacher, Mrs. Beryl Clark, and one assistant, Miss Joan Otis.

The parents of the Bowen Nursery School voted the change because they believe it will be more beneficial to both the children and the parents.

Rabbi Warns Of "Gusts Of Vulgarity" in Modern Life

In a special message on the occasion of the sacred Holy Days now being observed by Jewry, Dr. Beryl D. Cohon, Rabbi Emeritus of Temple Sinai, Brookline, called for "personal discernment, insight, independent judgement and the capacity to withstand the gusts of vulgarity that threaten our social structure."

Deplored the "all-pervasive rot in our popular novels," Dr. Cohon declared: "Our cities are physically deep in garbage; avalanches of refuse are threatening to bury us. Garbage everywhere. Smog everywhere. Chimneys, cars, airplanes, are belching exhaust all around us. Our air, our lakes and streams are polluted. Our lungs are black with soot."

"Even so, it is in our intellectual and moral lives. Garbage is everywhere; torrents of sex depravity are inundating us. Our minds like our lungs are black with soot."

Asking "What can an obscure ordinary individual do," Dr. Cohon urged "responsible men and women to speak out boldly and make known their objections — by writing to editors, TV and radio stations, their congressmen and other officials."

"A letter," Dr. Cohon noted, "even from the humble citizen is an effective weapon. It is astonishing how powerful the average individual can be if he bests himself."

"Turn off the psychotic killers, the sex maniacs, the degenerate on our TV sets; boycott the ill-smelling novel."

"To do this we need discernment and will. For that we must shake ourselves loose from the cheap, easy

Changing Policy

The continued pullout of American troops in South Vietnam emphasizes the changing character of United States' policy in Asia. The outlines of this change were stated by President Nixon during the course of his trip through that part of the world a few weeks ago.

With most public support for such action long gone, there is to be no further major commitment of American forces to a land war in Asia. While this is the essence of the new policy, President Nixon has assured Asian nations, "The United States is a Pacific power" and that we will continue to play an important role in that region, but with different responsibilities and reactions.

There will not be virtual automatic commitment of American forces to counter communist pressure. Asian countries must now individually or in collective agreement shoulder the responsibility of preserving their own security.

"The people of Asia must seek Asian solutions to Asian problems," although the United States will assist with military equipment and supplies, if necessary, to aid a nation threatened by communist inspired guerrilla warfare.

But even in this circumstance, as reported in the National Observer, "... the dispatch of American military supplies ... would depend on how forcefully that nation sought to eradicate the political, social and economic deficiencies that enable insurgencies to germinate and bloom."

American forces will be committed if any nation is threatened with nuclear attack, but otherwise only with thorough consideration of the particular country involved and its importance to the United States in view of our national and international problems.

In short, the United States will honor its treaty obligations in Asia, but it will do it by different means than previously used with a sharper eye out for our own national interests, as well as the performance of our Asian allies — all of which seems to make eminently good sense.

Sino-Soviet War Threat

A very real threat exists that Russia and China might go to war.

The signs are apparent — massing of troops of both Communist giants on their respective borders, the surprise meeting between Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Soviet Premier Aleksei Kosygin and, most important, the hint dropped by a Soviet newsman who frequently acts as a pipeline abroad for the Kremlin.

Victor Louis, a Moscow correspondent who forecast the fall from power of Nikita Khrushchev in 1964, gave the hint in the London newspaper, the Evening News.

Pointing to a possible Czechoslovakia type Soviet intervention, Louis said it was "quite possible" that forces opposing Chinese Chairman Mao-Tse-tung could force a leader who would ask other socialist countries for "fraternal help."

"Events in the past year have confirmed that the Soviet Union is adhering to the doctrine that socialist countries have the right to interfere in each other's affairs in their own interest or those of others who are threatened," Louis wrote.

"The fact that China is many times larger than Czechoslovakia and might offer active resistance is, according to these Marxist theoreticians, no reason for not applying the doctrine."

"Whether or not the Soviet Union will dare to attack Lop Nor, China's nuclear center, is a question of strategy, and so the world would only learn about it afterwards."

No Soviet newsman would dare write such an article unless he had clearance from the top. Remember, too, this is the same man who let the world know that Khrushchev was on his way out when no one outside the Kremlin suspected it.

Something is brewing and it may be war.

Brooke and Kennedy Both Show Up As Strong on Poll

Senator Edward W. Brooke showed up surprisingly strong on the results of a poll made by the Becker Research Corporation for the Boston Globe.

The survey returns indicated that Brooke is slightly more popular than Senator Edward M. Kennedy, with 80 per cent of the people polled registering their approval of Brooke's record and 78 per cent approving of Ted Kennedy.

The poll listed five per cent disapproving of Brooke, with an eight per cent disapproval of Ted.

That represented a two per cent rise in Brooke's popularity since last March and a nine per cent drop in Ted's political stock.

A political pollster usually allows a three per cent margin of error, so for scientific purposes Senators Brooke and Kennedy are roughly tied in popularity.

Few pollsters would claim that they could pinpoint their popularity findings to 80 per cent for one public figure and 78 per cent for another.

However, both Ed Brooke and Ted Kennedy are in pretty good political shape at those figures, and if that popularity stands, anyone thinking in terms of challenging either of the two Senators would do well to forget it.

If Ted Kennedy still wins the approval of 78 per cent of the people of Massachusetts after all the unfavorable and damaging publicity he has received, much of it seemingly unfair, he will win reelection overwhelmingly next year unless something develops in the inquest to hurt him.

Senator Brooke is nearing the half-way mark in the six-year term to which he was elected in 1966. He could still lose some of his great popularity before he runs again. But Brooke has demonstrated an ability for staying out of political trouble.

Ironically, one of the few soft spots revealed in Brooke's popularity was among the blacks in Boston. They did not believe he was doing enough to advance the interests of the blacks.

There was little in the poll to offer any encouragement for those Republicans thinking in terms of possibly opposing Ted Kennedy next year or those Democrats contemplating the feasibility of a run against Ed Brooke in 1972.

Ted Missed in North Shore Campaign For Bates Seat

So far the Republicans have done better than the Democrats at moving public celebrities into the North Shore's 6th congressional district where a battle for the seat of the late Congressman William Bates is nearing a close.

If Democratic Representative Michael Harrington eventually wins election over Republican State Senator William Saltonstall, it is highly improbable that it will be because of any swing generated by Senator George McGovern of South Dakota or author Jimmy Breslin of New York's better barrooms.

If politicians were swapping celebrity cards the way kids do pictures of baseball players, the rate of exchange probably would be one Congressman Margaret Heckler for all the visiting Democrats.

What this points up, of course, is that the Democratic standard-bearer is being hurt by the absence of Senator Edward M. Kennedy from the campaign firing line.

If Ted were out beating the drums for Harrington, he probably would be a match for all the Republicans combined.

A public figure such as Ted Kennedy, Margaret Heckler or Ed Brooke does not deliver votes to a candidate. What they do is to arouse interest in a special election so that a bigger vote comes out, and they try to see it is in their party.

Representative Harrington, of course, has a great asset in the person of his cousin, and campaign manager, State Senator Kevin Harrington of Salem, who will draw out far more votes than will George McGovern and Jimmy Breslin put together.

But then there's an old warhorse named Leverett Saltonstall who is pulling out all the stops he can in behalf of his son. It's an interesting fight which will be decided next Tuesday.

9 Women-Sculptors Plan One-Night Library Show

Nine suburban sculptors will help the Newton Free Library take a new look at the new look in its Circulating Art Collection on Tuesday evenings, September 30, from 7 to 9 p.m., when citizens celebrate the first anniversary of the loan collection.

Coordinator and sculptor Polly Egelson of Newton Lower Falls has brought together a group of nine area women, all professional sculptors, who are lending the Library their works for a special one-night-stand to focus attention on the Circulating Collection.

The sculptors, who work with Mr. Pater Abate, head of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts Museum School of Sculpture Department, are Frances Henderson and Amy Blitzer of Cambridge, Ruth Robbins of Belmont, Marian Kofman of Natick, Rachel Cascio and Eunice Fox of Arlington, Blossom Newman of Framingham, Edith Wilson of Winchester, and Mrs. Egelson, wife of Alderman Louis Egelson, Jr.

In the first year of the Circulating Art Collection, which made news across the nation and even as far away as Vietnam via the Stars and Stripes, over one thousand dollars worth of original art has been sold through the Library's petite gallery.

Mr. H. Novack of Novack Gallery, the first Newton professional gallery owner to lend fine art works to the Library's Circulating Collection, feels as neighborly about the collection now as he did in September, 1968, when he was among the handful of charter artists who helped the idea of the Circulating Collection come to life.

The Collection works this way: a borrower picks out the picture he wants to take home and presents it, with his Newton Free Library card, to the reference librarian.

The librarian checks the picture out for one month, and the borrower may later renew it once for a month, if he wishes to. Sometimes he returns his picture, sometimes he buys it.

Pieces in the Collection are generally valued at under a hundred dollars, and include silk screens, collographs, monotypes, linoleum prints, wood blocks, photographs, some oils and acrylics, string pictures, pen and inks, and even an inkless relief print.

Artists and borrowers alike haunt the small gallery on the second floor — artists to see what's out a borrowers to see what's in.

City Librarian Henry E. Bates, Jr. and Assistant Librarian Virginia A. Tashjian agree solidly on the success of the Circulating Art Collection. More art books — how to do it, history of art, biographies of artists, color slides, etc., than ever before are circulating along with the original art works.

And other public libraries across the country recognize the Circulating Art Collection as a circulation booster. Their librarians write to Newton for advice on how to start a similar collection.

Form Bike Club

Editor of The Graphic:

For many years, I have enjoyed the pleasures of bicycling in and around Newton. I have also seen many other adults like myself cycling the streets of our city.

I presently belong to an adult cycle club with headquarters in Cambridge. However, I am sure there is enough interest in the City of Newton to start an adult oriented cycle club in our city.

It is a sport that almost anyone can enjoy at almost any age and is both healthful and relaxing. There are correct and incorrect ways to ride a bike and I have seen many people riding in the city who would probably get greater enjoyment with knowledge of correct riding techniques such as the proper height of the seat on the bike, proper tire inflation, etc.

This club if formed, could enjoy weekly rides starting with a very short ride and gradually increasing to longer rides. Information about bikes and related matters could be exchanged between members and eventually the club could decide to become affiliated with the League of American Wheelmen, a national parent cycle group who recently held their annual round-up in Rockport, Massachusetts, to which this writer rode from Newton.

Anyone interested in participation should contact me and if enough interest is shown an organizational meeting will be arranged of which notice will be sent to all interested persons.

Answers Colbert

Editor of The Graphic:

An article by James G. Colbert appearing in your paper last week prompts me to explain the League of Women Voters' reasons for supporting the proposed constitutional amendment which would reduce the size of the Massachusetts House from 240 to 160 members and establish single member districts. This proposed amendment is the result of an initiative petition and it must pass through two joint sessions of the Legislature receiving at least a 25 per cent affirmative vote, and then appear on the ballot to be voted upon by the electorate.

From a five year study of state government, has emerged a strong consensus by League members that a reduction in the size of the House will strengthen the Legislature. We feel that the smaller body would shorten and sharpen debate, making action easier to implement and it would focus attention and responsibility more effectively on individual members. In addition this proposed amendment would provide single-member districts to be drawn by the proposed fifteen member Apportioning Commission which would insure fair representation and minimize the possibility of gerrymandering.

In this age of participatory democracy the people should be given the opportunity not only to decide WHO but HOW MANY shall represent them. Participatory democracy is, after all, the right of the people to be heard. In this connection it is ironic that the leadership of the House, who put such emphasis upon popular representation, should attempt to deny the people of Massachusetts this choice. In view of the popular support this petition has received the League feels it is the obligation of the Legislature to allow this proposed amendment to be placed on the ballot next November thus giving the people the chance to make this decision.

Eugene McCarthy May Run For Senate in New York

Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota is a strange man of many moods.

He will retire next year from the seat he now holds as the senator from Minnesota, presumably because of his uncertainty whether he could beat back a challenge by former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

But he may move to New York and stand for election to the place in the U.S. Senate which the late Robert F. Kennedy held when he was gunned down in a Los Angeles hotel.

McCarthy also considers that he may be the presidential hope of the Democratic party in 1972. His reasoning seems sounds up to a point.

He rules out both Senators McGovern and Muskie, because he believes that McGovern couldn't get anywhere in pursuit of the presidential nomination and that Muskie wouldn't oppose Humphrey since it was the latter who brought him into the national spotlight as the nominee for Vice President in 1968.

McCarthy probably is right in minimizing the Presidential prospects of McGovern and Muskie. Where he seems wrong is in not placing himself in the same category.

Deputy Sealer Is Alternate To N.Y. Event

J. Ellis Bowen, Sealer of Weights and Measures of the City of Newton recently attended the 74th Annual Conference of the Massachusetts Weights and Measures Association, of which he is a past president, held at the Mayflower Inn, Manomet.

Robert E. Silver, Newton's Deputy Sealer of Weights and Measures was unanimously elected, to represent the Massachusetts Association, alternate delegate to attend the 1970 conference of the New York State Weights and Measures Association Conference.

Among the features of the Massachusetts Conference was an address presented by Robert Miller of the Engineering and Standards Laboratory of the National Bureau of Standards.

He spoke on "Our Programs in the Future," and a presentation by S. H. Christie, Jr., Deputy State Superintendent, Division of Weights and Measures, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey, "Licensing of Repairmen" outlining the administration and success of such program in New Jersey.

Weights and Measures officials are responsible for the testing for accuracy, and approval thereof, of everything from large capacity vehicle scales to very delicate prescription balances, fuel oil truck meters and gasoline pump meters, taximeters, the scales of the butcher, grocer and junkman; in fact any weighing or measuring device commercially used.

In these days of increasing publicity relating to "consumer protection" Sealer Bowen points out that not only does the consumer have an interest in accurate quantity determinations but so does the merchant.

Said he, "If a merchant unknowingly, or carelessly, gives long weight or measures he is giving away his profit, his livelihood, and over a period of time is inviting bankruptcy."

"To give short weight or measure is a two pronged evil. It not only cheats the buying public as surely as giving them counterfeit money in

Mann Praised For Work In Legislature

Representative Theodore D. Mann received the commendation of both Senate Chairman Philibert Pellegrini, and House Chairman Edward J. Dever, Jr. for his work on the legislative joint committee on insurance.

In a letter to Representative Mann the Chairmen said: "We would like to take this opportunity to express thanks for the part you played in making the Joint Committee the vital instrument in bringing about great social strides in the area of insurance."

"Your attentiveness and dedication has made our Committee a most effective tool in the legislative process."

Rep. Mann is now serving his third term as Representative to the Legislature.

He said that he has been active in Newton affairs since the 1931 campaign of Sinclair Weeks for Mayor and during that time he has come to know the desires and needs of Newton and its citizens.

"Change should not be made merely for the sake of making a change, but it should not be resisted because it is a change. Each section of the Charter should be carefully reviewed and if it can be improved in the light of modern municipal government and the present needs of Newton and its citizens a change should be recommended to the voters," he declared.

70 Apartments Voted For Auburndale Site

The Newton Board of Aldermen on Tuesday night unanimously approved a petition by Donato Cappasso for permission to erect 70 apartments in Auburndale with the provision that he set aside no less than 10 per cent of the units for low income housing.

A 52 unit apartment building will be constructed at 155 - 169 Lexington St. and an 18 - unit structure will be built at 89 Lexington St. in Auburndale. Aldermanic Land Use Committee Chairman Franklin N. Flaschner reported that the developer has agreed to construct five units of the 52 - unit development and two units of the 18 - unit development to low income housing which will be leased by the Newton Housing Authority.

Flaschner went on to explain that the developer has agreed to this condition even though the rentals for the low income units will be less than the normal prevailing market prices.

Cappasso has also agreed, Flaschner said, to make available up to another ten per cent of the apartment units if the rent subsidies currently paid by the federal government are raised to prevailing rates paid by other tenants.

Vietnam Peace Action Day Is Planned Oct. 15

About thirty Newton citizens were present at a steering committee meeting on Wednesday, September 17, to plan community action for the Vietnam Peace Action Day on October 15.

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McCabe of Waban. The local committee will coordinate activities in Newton as part of a nationwide day of peace action and a moratorium on "business as usual."

The goal is to persuade President Nixon to withdraw all troops from Vietnam within six months. Chairman of the Newton group is Jerome Grossman, president of the Massachusetts Envelope Company, and chairman of Mass. Pax. Highlight of the day in Newton will be a mass rally. Local candidates for political office are being invited to appear at the rally, the location of which will be announced later. Newton resident Dr. Richard Sterne, professor of English at Simmons College, is coordinator of the rally action.

He is being assisted by Mrs. Kay Stein, Mrs. Hilda Schwartz, Dr. John Perry and Mr. Fred King.

Other activities planned are leafleting at supermarkets and petitioning local officials to pass a Vietnam withdrawal resolution on the order of the anti-ABM statement issued by the Newton aldermen this summer. All businesses, schools and the city government are urged to close for the day or for part of the day, or to give employees and students released time to participate in the community events.

High school students are requesting time for seminars at their respective schools, and local college students and faculty will be active on their campuses and in the community.

Headquarters for the Newton action is the "Peace Boutique" located at 811 Washington Street. Further information can be had by calling the Boutique at 332-6507 or Mrs. Louise Bruyn at 332-1764.

Seminar For Nurses Starts October 6 At N-W Hospital

Newton-Wellesley Hospital and the Newton Chapter of American Red Cross are joining again on Oct. 6 to sponsor a four-week seminar for graduate nurses living in the western suburbs.

Designed for active and inactive nurses who want to brush up on current trends in medicine and nursing, the public service programs will be held in the hospital's Usen Auditorium on Monday evenings, from 8 to 10 p.m.

Dates of the classes are October 6 and 20, and November 3 and 10.

The opening session on the 6th focuses upon thrombosis. Current methods of detecting and preventing blood clots, as well as the management of a patient suffering from the condition, will be discussed by Michael Hume, M.D., of Boston. Dr. Hume is a professor of surgery at Tufts University School of Medicine and is the chief of surgery at Lemuel Shattuck Hospital.

On Oct. 20, a panel will offer a one-sided view of Geriatrics. R. Emerson Sylvester, M.D., of Auburndale, member of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital active medical staff, will lead a discussion. Serving on a panel with him will be a nurse, a dietitian and a physiotherapist.

Expanding horizons in X-ray is the topic on Nov. 3. Speaking will be Dr. James B. Dealy, Jr., of West Newton. He is a professor of radiology at the Tufts University School of Medicine and chief of radiological services at Lemuel Shattuck Hospital. The seminars conclude on Nov. 10 with an exploration of adolescent medicine. Speaking will be Dr. Robert P. Masland, Jr., of Needham, assistant clinical professor of pediatrics at Harvard Medical School and chief of the adolescent unit at Boston's Children's Hospital Medical Center.

While the seminar is offered free of charge, graduate nurses are asked to enroll by telephoning the Newton Red Cross Chapter House, 527-600.

Diet Workshop To Start New Program Oct. 1

The Diet Workshop announces the start of a new program, Mini-Loser Maintenance Workshop sponsored by Kehillat Israel at 385 Harvard street on Wednesday, October 1 at 9:30 a.m.

This course is designed for those people who have ten pounds or less to lose. For people who want to learn how to maintain their weight loss, this course will provide the tools by which they will be able to incorporate "formerly forbidden foods" into the basic Diet Workshop program.

The course is a preregistered one and will run for six weeks. It will meet every Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. For dieters who've tried unsuccessfully to lose weight the Diet Workshop offers a new concept to the problem of "hard core" failures - Diet Seminars which are limited to size and are individually tailored to each person's diet needs.

Information may be obtained at the main office in Newton, Corner.

Mrs. Herbert Kotzen, local chairman for Youth Concerts at Symphony Hall, announced today that subscriptions for the 1969-70 series of concerts must be returned by September 30. Applications for these subscriptions were distributed at all Newton schools, grades 5 through 9 on September 23, by the Creative Arts committee of the Newton P.T.A. Council.

The Youth Concerts, with Harry Ellis Dickson conducting members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, have been sold out each season since their beginning in 1959. Two series of three concerts each are presented on Saturdays at 11:00 a.m. at Symphony Hall.

Newton school children will attend the series scheduled for November 15, January 17, and March 21. Tickets are sold by the series only.

The hour-long programs are planned to stimulate interest among young people in good music, by presenting both classical and contemporary compositions played by members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in the tradition filled atmosphere of

The Nursery Department of the Weekday Church School in Newton Highlands began its third season on Monday, September 22.

Classes for three year olds are held at Dewey House on Columbus Street, while four year olds use the Newton Highlands Congregational Church nursery-kindergarten facilities. Both groups meet Monday through Thursday each week from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

The experienced, professional staff includes Mrs. Gordon R. Miller, Director of Christian Education at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church and Director of the Weekday Church School, who supervises the nursery program and is lead teacher for the four year old group.

O'Brien, Sidman Set New Records In 2.6 Mile Run

The Newton High Cross Country Team shattered the Newton South last Friday in the opening meet of the season for both teams at Mt. Ida Jr. College's 2.6 mile course as Newton's Mike O'Brien and Jay Sidman smashed the South course record while finishing 1.2.

O'Brien, a senior, and Sidman, a junior, ran 13:11 and 13:18 respectively breaking the previous record of 13:22 set by Waltham's Moe Bordenca.

Third was Newton's captain Doug Tomb who's practice time has been somewhat limited until this time. Fourth was NHS' Dave Blake and sixth in the race and rounding out the scoring for the Tiger's was junior Steve Cargiano.

While the variety was pinning a near shutout on the South Harriers, the Newton Junior varsity did shutout the South side j.v. as they took the first six places.

Leading the Newton parade was junior Jim Boates in 15:01. Junior John Dichter was second sophomore Ken Gorfinkle and Dave Frey were third and fourth respectively and junior Joel Reisman finished off the Newton shutout.

The varsity count was 16-47. Tomorrow the Harriers will travel to Weymouth to meet the Maroons on their home course. The orange and black will have some added incentive because Weymouth clobbered Newton last year in a dual meet.

Egelson Seeks Third Term As Alderman From Ward 4

Alderman-at-Large Louis I. Egelson Jr. of Newton Lower Falls has filed for re-election to a third term on the Newton Board of Aldermen from Ward 4.

During his present term he has served on the Land Use, Public Works, and Street Traffic Committees. He previously has served on the Legislation and Kenrick Fund Committees and on the special study committee on Low Income Housing.

He also has been appointed by the Mayor to serve on its Technical Advisory Committee on Data Processing.

LOUIS I. EGELSON JR.

A resident of Newton for seventeen years, and of Lower Falls for thirteen years, Alderman Egelson has followed the progress of urban renewal in that village closely and with concern for the interests of the individuals who are directly affected by these projects.

"With the enlightened and intelligent citizenry that we are fortunate to have in Newton, we should be able to resolve the human as well as the technical problems associated with urban renewal; and I believe that we will solve them successfully," he said.

"It is uncertainty that is the major stumbling block in any urban renewal project. When it is determined to be in the public interest to take a man's property by eminent domain, it is our obligation to protect his interests and to minimize the impact that this 'taking' has on his life.

"At the very least we should be able within the law to remove all financial impact that such takings might cause," Alderman Egelson added.

Along with other community leaders, Alderman Egelson urged that the Newton Redevelopment Authority include in their plans for the Lower Falls Project a moderate rental apartment complex, that would provide housing units in addition to the estimated number required for relocation of tenants from present and future urban renewal areas of the City.

"As one of the conclusions of our aldermanic study of Newton's low income housing needs, we observed that if we were to provide new housing for persons now forced to live in sub-standard dwellings without simultaneously providing for removal or drastic renovation of those facilities that they vacate, we would only serve to compound our

Several Boston Red Sox stars will be featured at the featured 11-year-old Fred Berezin with an era of .095 and 6 wins, Don Birmingham with 3 important wins in relief and Ken Corbett with 5 wins including the City Championship Final game. Shortstop Bob Alevizos won 2 of the Newton Little League City Series among six league champions.

The Waban Colts, managed by Prof. John P. Alevizos and Dr. Harold Stalvey were undefeated in league play winning 16 games including the Newton City Championship.

With a phenomenal .381 team batting average, only two Colts batted under .300 with five batting over .400. The Colts were also a well-drilled defensive team averaging less than one error per game with 12 double plays on the season. Opposing teams averaged less than 3 runs while the Colts scored 9 runs per game.

Don Birmingham's play at third base was extraordinary. Only 11 years old, Don batted .325 in the important lead off spot.

Karl Hubel was nicknamed "The Vacuum" for his smooth first base play. Karl batted .323 and homered in an extra-inning game to save the Colts winning streak.

Johnnie Whelan led the Colts sluggers with a hearty .510 average followed by slick fielding Larry Stalvey's .467. City Series batting star Joe Henley and the four-position playing Kevin Corbett had identical marks of .422. Kevin also led the team in runs scored with 20.

Important cogs in the Colts smooth defense were two ten-year olds Bob Alevizos (.342) at shortstop and Carson Milgroom (.333) behind the

The Sports Nite program, in addition to movies and refreshments, will be highlighted by presentations of "Outstanding Performance" awards to 42 graduating little leaguers. Red Sox stars will also make presentations of two championship trophies to each Colt player and Minor League championship trophies to each member of the Newton Highlands Colonels.

Managed by Herman Freedman and Bill Priante, the Colonels also scored 16 straight wins to top Newton South's minor league division title.

Kenny Jacques, Joe Kinch and Richie Priante were the Colonels' slugging stars with Matt Freedman and Allen Jacques the Colonels' unbeaten pitchers.

Newton H. Football Team Set For A Winning Season

By JEFF GROSSMAN

After three scrimmages against Boston College High, Milton and Natick, four very definite conclusions can be reached about the 1969 edition of the Newton High football team.

A - The offensive backfield has the size, strength and speed to make many defenses look porous.

B - With a rookie quarterback and an experienced corps of receivers the passing is somewhat questionable at the moment.

C - The defense appears to be solid with seven of last year's starters returning.

D - If the team avoids injury to frontline personnel then a season comparable to last year's performance is possible.

Probably the most exciting unit for the Tigers will be the trio of Bob Wargin, Mike Butts and George Norcross in the backfield. Wargin and Butts weigh 180 pounds each and as Coach Ronayne said "It will take more than an arm tackle to bring them down."

Both are fast however and are quite capable of turning the corner as witnessed by the Milton scrimmage in which both slammed 80 yards.

Norcross, while weighing in at only 145 compliments the others well with his quick, darting type of running.

The passing is in the improvement stage right now with Brian Keefe, who backed up Colin Clapton last year in the vital signal caller position.

Possible targets for Keefe will be Wargin, Skip Fawson, Dan Murphy, Jerry Beatrice and Chuck Pendegast.

With seven starters back, the defensive unit has been effective against the pass and run. Ray Ball, Jerry Coleman and Mark Lennon hold down the secondary while John Myerson, Steve Frager and Mac Simon return in the interior line. Mike Butts goes both ways and plays linebacker.

The Tigers will open their season at Dickinson Stadium Saturday against Everett. Everett is made up mostly of sophomores and Coach Jim Ronayne hopes to score early and unnerve the very inexperienced Crimson.

Variety Of Programs Set For Local 'Y' This Fall

The Newton Y.M.C.A. is beginning its fall schedule soon, and has a variety of programs available to the Newton community and surrounding areas. Included in this fall schedule are such courses as scuba, boys' judo, weightlifting, and a boys' and girls' youth fitness program.

Openings are still available in the scuba course beginning October 7. Classes will be held on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30, and will be open to men and women 15 years of age and over. The course will be conducted by Dom Leone, a certified Y.M.C.A. scuba instructor, and includes 23 hours of instruction, at the conclusion of which all those passing the course will become certified Y.M.C.A. scuba divers.

The cost of the course for members and non-members includes the use of the instructor's equipment. There are only a limited number of spaces available in the class, so registration should be made at the "Y" in person as soon as possible.

Judo for boys ages 8-15 will be beginning this fall also, on October 11, and will run every Saturday at 10:30 a.m. for a period of 10 weeks. This is not a course in hard core defensive tactics, but one of sport judo, and the cost is $10 for members of the "Y" only.

In addition, a weightlifting program geared to the junior and senior high school level will be offered to "Y" members at no cost. The

Freedman Runs For Place On Charter Board

Former School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman of 118 Homer St., Newton Centre, is asking for election to the Charter Commission this November.

Freedman served with distinction as a member of the Newton School Committee from 1950 to 1965 and was chairman from 1958 to 1965.

An attorney and member of the Boston law firm of Brown, Rudnick, Freed and Gesmer, Freedman is clerk of the Massachusetts Council for the Humanities, Inc., a director of the Newton South Co-operative Bank, a trustee of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and is General Counsel to the Massachusetts Teachers Association.

Atty. Harrington To Run For Ald.-At-Large Post

Atty. Peter F. Harrington, of Newtonville, is seeking election as Alderman-at-Large, the position to be vacated by Ald. Winslow C. Auryanssen who is retiring. Harrington was runner-up to Auryanssen in the 1967 election.

Harrington's announcement came as a surprise to many of his supporters, who have worked with him during the summer planning his campaign for the position of ward alderman, also vacant.

In explaining his decision to expand his campaign and seek city-wide support, Atty. Harrington said, "My past experience leads me to believe that a city wide candidacy is the best way a concerned citizen can expose to the public his ideas for meaningful improvement of city government.

"This belief is partly based upon the success enjoyed by Charter Review after I became the first candidate for public office in Newton to call public attention, in 1963, to the need for charter review."

Harrington, 33, lives at 157 Lowell ave. with his wife, Joan, and their three children, John, 7, James, 5, and Maurea, 4.

He is a partner in the Newton law firm of Matthews, Nicolazzo and Harrington with offices in West Newton, and is a member of the Newton Citizens Advisory Committee.

Atty. Harrington has been cited by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as receiving the S.P.O.K.E. award in 1964, and by the Massachusetts Jaycees in 1965, when he was awarded a certificate of merit for outstanding service.

He believes that Newton should be the nation's leader in solving the dilemma of low-middle income housing "By passing an ordinance requiring that newly built municipal low-middle income houses be marketed on a condominium basis, thus returning to the city its initial capital outlay and interest expense, thereby not actually increasing our bonded indebtedness."

Baton, offers young people the opportunity to participate in an increasingly popular, healthy and enjoyable activity, poise, bearing, grace, and physical dexterity instill the child with the ability to follow directions, split-second commands, showmanship and build personal security in the presence of others.

Creative Arts offers a wide-open experience for children, building the child's awareness of himself and wonders around him, drawing on natural sciences and experimentation, improvisation, body movement, feelings - all culminated in the art experience.

Youngsters are challenged to solve problems in new ways by using light and shadows, discovery of environmental space, natural life forces, sound, color, design and an appreciation of aesthetic concepts and a wide variety of 2 and 3 dimensional media will be used, as well as materials from the Children's Museum, E. S. I., Film Libraries, etc.

Mothers and Children, is a course to introduce children to creativity through the special efforts of mothers and teachers, experimenting with many forms of art media in an atmosphere free of restraint and worry about mess.

Bullwinkle Enters Contest For Wd. 3 Aldermanic Seat

Richard J. Bullwinkle, 15 Lindbergh Avenue, West Newton, today announced his candidacy for election to the office of Alderman in Ward Three.

Bullwinkle is a cum-laude graduate of Boston College Evening Division, and holds a degree from Bentley College of Accounting and Finance, also earned evenings.

Bullwinkle is employed by Raytheon Company as a Manufacturing Manager, where he has also completed many management training programs.

Active for many years in West Newton community affairs he is currently in Ward Three Democratic chairman a member of the Davis School P.T.A. and is an usher at St. Bernard's Church.

In the past he has participated in charity drives for the Jimmy Fund, Heart Fund, Cerebral Palsy and is an active supporter of the Boys Club and Newton West Little League activities.

He has also served as chairman of St. Bernard's Cub Scouts and was United Fund Chairman for Raytheon's Power Tube Operations in 1968.

Bullwinkle declared: "I believe that problems of West Newton demand active representation. I will therefore vigorously contest for Alderman on these issues."

"Some of the issues are: The Dolan Pond situation in which the interests of local citizens have been allowed to go unanswered by a strange sort of silence."

"The Davis school, which is a forty-year old facility, has not kept pace physically with modern educational concepts. The school is in serious need of a remedial reading room, arts center and science center. The fact that children must be bussed to the Hawthorn Gym in Nonantum speaks volumes for the addition of a gymnasium."

"Overcrowding at the Warren Junior High School and again an older facility at the Franklin must not be overlooked. The Mayor, School Committee and the Board of Aldermen have equal responsibility in providing those tools to the children of this area that allow them to become better students and citizens. A new order of priority is needed to plan and implement these needs by the School Department."

"Because West Newton was one of the areas recommended in the original Community Renewal Plan our ward alderman must devote careful attention to Urban Renewal. He must join in the effort to achieve not only quality physical planning but also community orientation through real citizen participation."

"The escalating cost of local government is a keen concern for all of us. While I obviously do not have any panaceas for these problems I will carefully analyze appropriations to assure that we maximize our tax-used dollar, but at the same time avoid false economies that would cut back or eliminate essential services."

"I support open spaces legislation which would provide protection for areas like Woodland Golf Course and the Dolan Pond area. In a more general sense I will do all I can as alderman to conserve our environment and assure a quality life style."

"While we have a planning Department in Newton, I believe we need more quality planning resources and that our leaders on the Board of Aldermen should rely upon these resources to a greater extent."

Bullwinkle lives at 15 Lindbergh Avenue with his wife, the former Betty Colletti of Newton, and their four children.

Sacks Seeks Re-election As Alderman from Ward 7

Alderman Jason Sacks of 50 Dolphin road in Newton Centre, Mr. Sacks has served on the Public Works and Street Traffic Committees as well as the very important Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

A long time resident and businessman in Newton Centre, Mr. Sacks has served on the Public Works and Street Traffic Committees as well as the very important Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

He was instrumental in working with the Mayor and retiring Alderman William Hopkins in securing the Hummell Hill land from the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority for recreation purposes for the children of that area.

In his reelection announcement Sacks said: "My work on the Board of Aldermen has been one of the most satisfying experiences I have ever had. The number of hours given unselfishly by so many men for no personal gain has been a revelation to me. Every Newton citizen should take opportunity to visit at least one public meeting of the Board. It is most interesting."

"Those members of the Board who are retiring this year deserve the thanks of every citizen in our city for the great contribution they have made."

Mr. Sacks was graduated from the University of Michigan and attended its Graduate School, During World War II he served with the U. S. Navy as a Lieutenant.

He is married to the former Betty Sherer of Newton and they are the parents of three sons, Robert, William and Michael.

Aucoin Is Candidate For Seat As Ward 3 Alderman

Charles E. Aucoin of 84 Adella Avenue, West Newton has announced his candidacy for ward alderman from Ward 3 in Newton.

Mr. Aucoin stated: "Living in Newton all of my life has given me a keen perspective of the problems that we as residents of Ward 3 and the entire city of Newton face."

"The spiralling tax rate is not a myth, but an economic fact of life that we all must face. My background in the field of accounting and finance plus my graduate research studies in municipal spending should prove a valuable asset in enabling me to approach the financial problems facing our community on sound economic principles."

"As a resident of Ward 3 for the past twenty-five years, I am especially concerned with the problems revolving around the level of business activity and the growth of automobile traffic in the already congested area surrounding West Newton Square, the safety of our children in the areas adjacent to Cheesecake Brook, the maintenance of property rights, and the rate of crimes against personal property."

Aucoin is a graduate of Newton Public Schools, having attended the Franklin, Frank Ashley Day, and

Rakov Announces Bid For Alderman From Ward Four

Daniel B. Rakov of 11 Grayson Lane, Newton Lower Falls has announced his candidacy for the Ward 4 Aldermanic post.

A practicing attorney, Mr. Rakov is a native of Newton and a graduate of Newton High School. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Harvard College and later graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

Upon acquiring his present residence in 1961, Rakov became active in the Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association during one of its most significant periods, and after service upon the Board of Directors of that organization, was elected its president in 1964.

During his presidency, he had the opportunity to become familiar with the particular problems facing Ward 4 and appeared before the Board of Aldermen on several occasions to put forth the views of his community.

Active in civic work in the Ward, he has served as United Fund Village Chairman for the past five years and is a Board Member of the Hamilton School P.T.A. Earlier this year he was elected a Ward Four representative of the newly-formed Newton Citizens for Education, serving as Chairman of its first nominating committee.

Mr. Rakov has expressed his deep concern for city-wide matters by accepting appointments to the Transportation Advisory Committee and the Urban Beautification Committee, both groups functioning as official advisory groups to the city administration.

In announcing his candidacy, Rakov stated that his professional experience with regard to Urban Renewal, both from the standpoint of the land-taking Authority and those who face displacement through eminent domain proceedings, should be of great assistance to him in responding to the needs of those whom he would represent.

In addition, he felt that his background in real estate matters would be valuable in determining that the proper disposition of Newton's remaining open land.

Mr. Rakov is married to the former Lucy Simon of South Bend, Indiana.

An accomplished mathematician, Mrs. Rakov played an important role in the first Man in Space program, Project Mercury, and presently heads the Mathematics Department at Lasell Junior College in Fisher attended the Newton public schools and graduated from Newton High School in 1946. He received his B.A. from Yale University where he majored in political science and received his L.B. from Harvard Law School in 1955.

Since that time he has practiced law with a Boston firm. Fisher and his wife, Pat, have four children in the Newton Public Schools, three of whom attend the Peirce School, while the oldest attends Warren Junior High.

In announcing his candidacy for the Charter Commission, Fisher affirmed that the City Charter should be reviewed because of Newton's becoming an urban community and because of the continuing need to make local government responsive to the problems of the community.

Concannon Enters Contest For Alderman From Ward 2

In response to the wishes of many Newton citizens, Thomas B. Concannon, Jr., has announced his candidacy for election to the seat being vacated by retiring Ward 2 Alderman, George Hicks.

Concannon, who was named Newton's outstanding young man in 1968, stated: "After discussing Newton's problems with many present alderman and citizens I feel that Newton must foster a total city concept and create a realistic master plan designed to further the Garden City environment of which we have been so proud."

With respect to city planning, Mr. Concannon states "Our development plan must be continuously reviewed so that such malpractices as spot zoning and the construction of municipal facilities without regard to population changes and use factors will not occur."

Mr. Concannon continues: "We must exercise foresight in structuring Newton's zoning changes. Commercial development and multifamily dwelling construction areas must be spelled out in advance with careful consideration given to the effects of such development on privately owned property."

"I believe that we must also use more imagination in determining sources of municipal revenue. Further, we should take the leadership in steps to produce greater cooperation with metropolitan services where feasible."

Mr. Concannon further asserts, "An active urban beautification program should be started immediately, without necessarily waiting for federal funds. Whenever we have the chance to create new recreation facilities or to conserve any open land, we should give this high priority."

Mr. Concannon has served his community in many civic endeavors. He is currently a director of the Newton Jaycees, president of the Newton Young Democrats Club, and is Newtonville Chairman of the Massachusetts Bay United Fund.

A life-long resident of 279 Linwood Avenue, Newtonville, Mr. Concannon was graduated from Newton High School in 1957.

He received his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Boston College; his Master's degree in Education from State College at Boston; and his Doctor of Jurisprudence from Suffolk University Law School.

Mandell Is Candidate For School Board Re-election

School Committeeman Alvin Mandell announced today that he will be a candidate for re-election to a second term as the member representing Ward 8. He also indicated that he will be a candidate for election to the Charter Review Commission.

Mr. Mandell resides at 287 Spiers Rd., Newton Centre, and is a Registered Professional Engineer with Bachelor and Masters degrees in Electrical Engineering from CCNY (1942) and Northeastern University (1955).

In addition to being employed in the Program Management Organization at the Missile Systems Division of the Raytheon Co., he has been a member of the evening faculty of Northeastern University since 1949, and a volunteer advisor on curriculum development to the Blue Hills Regional Vocational Technical School. Mr. Mandell is also the secretary of the Big Cities Committee of the Mass. Association of School Committees.

Mr. Mandell has three children all of whom attended the Newton schools: Carolyn, age 22, a 1967 graduate of Boston University and winner of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences Woman of the Year Award; Robert, age 18, a sophomore at Boston College, majoring in Biology; Sue Ann, age 11 in grade 7 at Beaver Country Day School.

Mr. Mandell is a combat veteran of World War II and retired with the rank of Lt. Commander from the United States Navy Reserve.

Mr. Mandell indicated that during his first term in office there has been considerable improvement in relations between the citizens of Newton and the School Committee, and a general improvement on the part of the Committee to act as a responsible and more responsive School Board.

He stated that, "Some of these improvements can be attributed to the changes I introduced to the School Committee Rules and Regulations whereby: (1) a minimum 10-minute open discussion period is held at the end of each open committee meeting which allows citizens in the audience to ask questions or make comments. (2) Five meetings must be held in different locations throughout the city during each year."

In addition to the rules changes, he supported programs to improve reading and to aid perceptually handicapped (dyslexic) children; introduced the successful resolution to evaluate the innovative Meadowbrook Junior High School; initiated resolutions for a 5-day uniform day in the elementary schools with a no charge to parents lunch program; succeeded in passing a 3-day elementary school lunch program but with shorter hours every day; chaired a subcommittee which has recommended better fiscal controls by the adoption of Program Budget techniques for preparation of the 1970 school budget; supported open enrollment to equalize opportunity across the city; improved School Committee relations with the Mayor, members of the Board of Aldermen, and the City Department Heads.

He supported the establishment of a firm policy on drugs and the handling of drug users with maximum built-in protection for the rights of everyone; supported the Metco concept but with the proviso that it must not increase costs to the taxpayers; supported stronger administration control of curriculum and curriculum development which is used throughout the school system; strongly supported the efforts to expedite construction of the new Newton High School and F.A. Day Jr. High School; pushed for a boundaries study.

He initiated studies to find new ways to reduce the costs of the Newton Jr. College and still maintain its facility to serve the community; opposed adoption of the 18.7 million dollar school budget for 1969.

He further stated that, "The Challenges of the past two decades by the problems of the future. A School Committee member must be sensitive to the needs of the entire city and must retain his integrity by serving objectively the needs, desires and requirements of all the people he represents. The Citizens of Newton deserve more than just candidates who glibly state problems without offering creative solutions."

In closing his announcement, Mr. Mandell stated that he desired for Newton an educational system which is capable of turning out educated, mature and well adjusted individuals dedicated to the principles on which our American Democracy is founded. "I sincerely believe that Newton can accomplish this task more efficiently than it has in the past without bankrupting the city."

Crosby Seeks Election As Ward 7 Alderman-at-Large

Professor Harry H. Crosby announced his candidacy for Alderman-at-Large from Ward Seven with the following statement: "Years of living in Newton and being involved in community affairs have given me a perception of the quality of municipal government we need and should have."

"Our citizens have extraordinary ability and resources. We pay high taxes, but to have this quality of municipal government, the people of Newton must take their turn at contributing to it."

"Newton has its share of problems," Dr. Crosby said. "We must provide efficient and excellent city services. We must solve the housing shortage for our lower and middle income groups. We must preserve our open spaces, and untangle traffic congestion."

"Our city government must be open, and it must be responsive. We must bridge the communication difficulties which set citizens against administration and village against village."

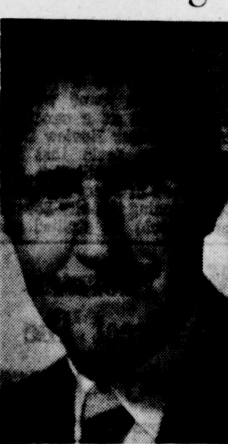

"We must find solutions to these problems, all the while remembering that family dollars must also pay for food, clothing, housing, and education. This will take dedication, the new ideas, hard work, and government officials who are responsible to their constituents."

"If I am elected, when my phone rings I will answer it. I will listen. I will do my best to fulfill the needs and protect the rights of Newton's people."

Dr. Crosby is Professor and Chairman of the Department of Rhetoric at Boston University. He earned his B.A. and M.A. at the University of Iowa and his Ph.D. at Stanford University. He has written and edited textbooks, magazines, and newspaper articles, advertising films, and television scripts. He and his wife Jean have four children, Stephen, April, Jeffrey, and Rebecca, who have attended Newton public schools. He lives at 45 Ruthven Road.

Professor Crosby has long been active in Newton affairs. He was president of the P.T.A. at Bigelow Junior High and Newton High School.

He was Newton Corner chairman of the 1967-68 United Fund and for the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Advance Fund Building Drive. He was chairman of the committee which wrote "The Teen-Ager in Newton" report which was published in Patterns.

HARRY H. CROSBY

For several years he was a representative to the Newton Interfaith Group of Catholics, Jews, and Protestants.

He is Junior Warden of Grace Episcopal Church and chairman of the church's Adult Discussion Group. He is chairman of the Ward Seven Democratic Committee and on the steering committee of the Newton Coalition for Participation Politics.

A lieutenant colonel in the Air Force during World War II, Mr. Crosby received a number of decorations including three Distinguished Flying Crosses, five Air Medals, the Bronze Star and the French Croix de guerre.

In 1965 Professor Crosby was a candidate in the closest election in the city's history, for Ward Seven Alderman. H. James Shea, Jr., won by four votes.

However, since this sharp contest, the two men have developed a deep mutual respect. Crosby has supported Shea, now State Representative, in recent elections, and Shea endorses Crosby in this election.

Miller Enters Charter Board Election Test

Stanley Miller, a member of the Newton Planning Board and the Newton Board of Park Commissioners for over ten years announced today his candidacy for the Newton Charter Review Commission.

Miller, who was Newton's "Young Man of the Year", in 1965, has long been active in community affairs. He has been General Chairman of the Newton United Fund, a director of the Newton Community Chest and the Newton Red Cross and Metropolitan Vice-Chairman of the C.J.P. Concerned with social issues. Miller was a founder and vice-president of the non-profit Foundation for Housing Innovations, an organization concerned with the housing needs of the disadvantaged.

Miller is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Business School and a Governor of both the Harvard Club and Harvard Business School Clubs of Boston.

Miller is founder and President of Spacemakes, Inc. His business was recently merged into the International Paper Company.

Mr. Miller's wife, Helaine, has also been active in community affairs as well as being the mother of three children attending the Newton Public Schools. The Millers have been active in the Franklin Clafin and Warren P.T.A.s.

The Charter Review Commission will have the task of reviewing the Newton City Charter and recommending changes to the electorate. Mr. Miller has stated that he is in favor of retaining the two-year term for Mayor since he feels that this keeps the mayor in our "strong mayor" form of government more responsive to the electorate than would a four (4) year term.

He also favors retaining the system whereby the School Committee and the majority of the Board of Aldermen are elected from each ward by the electorate at large.

This insures that while these representatives know the problems of each ward, their primary obligation is to the city as a whole. Mr. Miller is concerned about the logging and "ward politics" that would result if all elections were held at the ward level.

Mr. Miller asks for the support of all citizens concerned with responsive, responsible government in the City of Newton.

Costello Announces Entry In Alderman-at-Large Test

Richard J. Costello, 194 Parmenter Rd., West Newton, is waging a vigorous campaign for Alderman-at-Large from Ward 3.

Costello, making his first bid for public office, is thirty years old. He was educated in the Newton Public Schools and holds a bachelor's degree in Business Administration from Boston College. Currently, he is a student at the New England School of Law in Boston.

He is a life long resident of Newton and has had extensive experience in accounting, tax work and multi-line insurance.

He served in the artillery of the U.S. Army in the European Theatre for three years where his duties were battalion headquarters clerk and fire direction control.

He is a member of the Newton Chamber of Commerce and is a member of the Fernald Committee of the Arlington Street Church, which plans and conducts recreation for the children.

In declaring his city-wide candidacy, Costello stated: "As a long time follower of Newton politics, I can no longer remain inactive and permit the establishment, which has run this city since 1875, when we were incorporated as a city, to remain unchallenged."

"The conduct of the urban renewal operation in the Lower Falls program, to be subsidized by the state and federal government, as opposed to private development which has been attempted for the last year-and-a-half, must be brought to light."

"Can the city and its people afford approximately $348,000 as its share of one-sixth of the amount of the proposed program?"

"Also, what about the silentis the turquoise."

RICHARD J. COSTELLO

"tree farm" and the question of the kind of zoning for the remaining thirteen acres of the old Norumbega Park, and who will get it and for what price?"

"I was in favor of the Marriott Motor Hotel because of its location. Our escalating tax rate must be stopped with correct long range fiscal planning and better co-ordination between departments."

"If I am elected, I will bring a fresh, active and concerned outlook to aldermanic business, and will work to make Newton Junior College available for a full four year degree program."

"I think the people of Newton demand the best possible, and dedicated, service on the board of alderman more now than ever before," Costello stated.

Newton School Enrollment Is Down Slightly

School enrollment in Newton is 18,108, down 57 from last year's enrollment at this time.

Superintendent Aaron Fink said the figures reflect a three-tenths of one per cent change. Earlier, Fink had reported a two per cent reduction.

Figures from school to school continue to vary, Fink said, with schools on the north side tending to show an increase and those on the south side a decrease.

He said this supports some of the observations made previously and reflects the building needs, supporting the stand taken by the School Committee on Building Needs and the demographic study.

has supported Babe Ruth, and Little League Baseball programs in Newton, and continues to sponsor a team in the Newton National Twilight League.

Pierson Is Candidate For Ward 2 Alderman-at-Large

Wigmore A. Pierson of 101 Walker Street, Newtonville today announced his candidacy for Alderman-at-Large from Ward Two. In announcing, Pierson said, "I run as a concerned citizen."

Pierson is pleased and honored to have the active support of many members of both political parties including Alderman William M. Wolf, Alderman Edward C. Uehlein and Rev. Harold R. Fray, Jr.

"The problems facing Newton are many, and better solutions must be found if Newton is to provide optimum opportunity for all her citizens."

"There is a great need for new approaches in solving our transportation ills, and in eliminating the sources of pollution to protect our natural resources. Additional efforts must be made to provide realistic fiscal planning so that these and our many other needs can be met."

"Our community is likewise plagued by the problems of a society that has not advanced far or fast enough. The problems of our City require imaginative and creative attention. New approaches within the community must be found to deal with the special needs of our senior citizens, and the culturally deprived, of the mentally ill and others who have been left behind by an increasingly complex society."

"I believe that my past training and experience in public service qualify me to serve as Alderman-at-Large from Ward Two."

Pierson is a native of Newton and a product of the Newton Public Schools. After graduating from Lake Forest College he did graduate work at the Tuck School of Business Administration at Dartmouth College and at Boston University's Graduate School of Adult Education.

Currently, Pierson serves as Vice President - Administration and Assistant Treasurer of Pierson Industries, Inc. of Boston.

I run committed to devoting my best energies to the good of a better Newton for all her citizens to live in, to work in, and to raise their families in. I run committed to change, but firmly believing that change must be rooted in the lessons of the past, drawing upon our common experience."

He served in the U.S. Air Force during the Korean Conflict and held the rank of Captain.

Mr. Cohen was also a Federal Agent and Detachment Commander for the OSI from which department he received numerous citations for his investigative work pertaining to National security.

Interested in education, Mr. Cohen has been active in the Alumni Association of the University of Massachusetts, having been a Director of the association and Past President of the Newton-Brookline Alumni Club.

Dr. Parnes To Seek Charter Board Position

Dr. Leo Richard Parnes of 1734 Beacon St., Waban has announced his candidacy for Charter Commission.

Dr. Parnes feels that if the voters of Newton choose to have the city charter reviewed, they should elect candidates who will approach their task with open-minds - free of preconceived ideas, without predetermined solutions and not motivated by self-interest.

It is important that each commissioner review the charter with an eye toward making only those revisions that are essential if our City government is to be more responsive to the needs of the community. However, while charter review, reform, and revision may be the solution to some of the problems confronting our city, the people should focus their main attention on the offices of the mayor, aldermen, and school committee.

Charter revision will never cure the voter frustration that results from ineffective and unimaginative, inefficient and unresponsive elected officials.

In addition to his private practice of internal medicine, Dr. Parnes is Director of the Medical Clinic at Tufts - New England Medical Center, physician at the Harvard University Health Services and senior instructor of medicine at Tufts Medical School.

He is a graduate of the University of Vermont and University of Vermont College of Medicine.

Dr. Parnes is presently a member of the Ward 3 Democratic Committee and is on the State Board of the Massachusetts Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action. He is a former member of the executive committee of Newton Fair Housing and former chairman of its Education Committee.

As to why a physician should run for Charter Commission, Dr. Parnes feels that good government is dependent upon intelligent public participation. The people have for too long assigned the managing of governmental affairs to "the professional politician." It is time for concerned people from all walks of life to share actively in the responsibility of running our government.

5 Classes For Parents-to-Be Start Oct. 1st

The popular series of five free classes for expectant parents gets underway again at Newton-Wellesley Hospital on Thursday, October 2nd.

The classes meet in the hospital's Usen Auditorium from 7 until 9 p.m. on successive Thursdays and are jointly sponsored as a public service by the 260-bed teaching hospital and the Dy-Dee Service Company.

Classes cover a complete range of infant and maternal care, beginning with the care of a mother and infant following conception and continuing through the child's first year of development.

Instructions on infant feeding, diapering lessons for first-time mothers and fathers, films, discussions and visual aids are provided during the course. Diplomas are presented to parents enrolling in the course that meets on five Thursday evenings. Door prizes and refreshments are given at each class.

Parents may enroll regardless of the hospital they elect to use. Enrollment is possible in the office of any physician on the hospital's obstetrical staff or by telephoning the Nursing Office of the hospital directly.

He asked to resign.

Basbas said he could on presenting facts "which would only reinforce the basic truth that Mr. DiCarlo is a community-minded citizen giving of his time, his resources and his facilities to make Newton a better place. And he, like many others I have appointed, has done this for hours and years on end without compensation."

"Great progress has been made by the NRA to date," Basbas said, "but much does remain to be done. It is a complex and deeply difficult undertaking which is the responsibility not only of the Chairman and his fellow Authority members, but also of the Mayor, the Board of Aldermen and the citizens of Newton as a whole."

"If there are procedures that need to be improved, if there are other efforts that have to be made, they can only be made through cooperation - not obstructionism."

"Under no circumstances will I ask for anyone's resignation until someone, including Mr. Shea - presents facts, not veiled hints and insinuations, that prove impropriety or inability to get the job done."

Mitchell Seeks Post On Charter Commission

George H. Mitchell, defeated candidate for Mayor of Newton in the 1967 municipal election, has filed nomination papers with the Election Commission for one of the nine positions on the Charter Commission to be voted for in the November election. This group of nine will not enact a new charter for Newton, but merely submit their version of what it should be after public hearings and discussions, and the people will decide to accept or reject it at a regular election one or two years from now.

Mitchell was a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives from Dorchester in 1941-1942 and as a member of the Committee on Constitutional Law played a major role in the enactment of liberal legislation when the state was still Republican in both the legislative and executive branches.

Mitchell believes that the main need for change in the present charter lies in the method of electing aldermen. He recommends a continuation of the present plan of electing one from each of the eight wards by the voters of the ward, but would substitute for the present system of electing an additional sixteen at large from the wards the election of not more than eight by the entire city in one contest rather than in eight contests as at present.

He also believes that they should be paid, as they are in every other city of Massachusetts except Melrose. He believes that with today's inflation a salary of four thousand dollars per year would be fair.

Nora Irinova Resumes Ballet Classes Locally

Nora Irinova, internationally known ballet dancer and teacher, has resumed classes at her Ballet School, 6 Hartford St., Newton Highlands.

In addition to her studio in Newton, she teaches in New York, Philadelphia, the Andre Eglevsky School on Long Island, and at Radcliffe College, during the fall and winter.

In the summer she is in charge dance department at Belvoir Terrace, a fine arts center for girls in Lenox, Mass. Part of her time in Lenox is spent at Tanglewood where she teaches under the auspices of Boston University.

Nora Irinova began her studies with Leticia de la Vega, Esme Bulnes (current director of the corps de ballet at La Scala in Milan), and Michael Borowsky. After outstanding performances in March, 1955 in the Colon and Municipal theaters in Argentina, she left for what turned out to be an extremely active career in Europe.

She was presented at La Scala, performing the famous scene of Four Steps of Pugn. Invented by Tatiana Gsovsky, she staged the complete "Swan Lake" in Munich. She made her debut in Italy at the Florentine Music Festival, considered the peak of artistic dance expression in Europe. As first solo ballerine she danced the ballets of Aurel Millos, "Prometheus" by Beethoven and Glazunoff's "Four Seasons".

She appeared in the Venetian International Festival in Chieli, Temple Emanuel, an open air spectacle prepared by Margaret Walman on the Isle of Wight and choreographed for the ballet, "The Birds," based on the Italian "Lauda per la Navita Signore."

She also danced for both English and Italian television in Milan, doing choreography at La Scala concurrently, and performing as prima ballerina in "Manon" and many other ballets.

agreed with Mrs. Mintz saying that for all practical purposes Regal has no opposition and that the Committee needs another member.

Committeeman Frazier, Mandell, Douglas and Stanton urged caution about carrying out Mrs. Mintz's proposal.

Frazier expressed concern about "changing the rules of the game" and wondered whether someone might be deterred from running by the appointment of Regal.

Mandell suggested that the appointment be made the day after the election. "There is a technical possibility of a write-in," he warned.

School Committeeman Vincent P. Stanton recalled that he was appointed to the School Committee three years ago by a joint meeting of the Aldermen and School Committee to fill a vacancy created by a resignation.

He said at that time he was not aware of the degree of "resentment" against the procedure of appointing School Committee members to fill vacancies.

"It is difficult to believe that anyone is going to conduct a serious write-in campaign now," Stanton said. "But we should put very heavy emphasis on the fact that Mr. Regal is unopposed," he cautioned.

The Committee decided to postpone any action until after the November election.

Jerome Oleksiw of Weston, past president; Miss Carolyn Malkowski of Boston, junior group chairman.

Fiscal policy has been under study by the League of Women Voters for two years. On Monday, September 29, the League of Women Voters of Newton will meet at the Newtonville Library to reach a consensus on questions involving tax changes.

The 8 p.m. meeting, which will break into small groups to facilitate discussion, is in lieu of a set of separate units.

Members, already informed about state revenues, expenditures, and the budgetary system, expect that the consensus reached now will lead to League action on the recommendations of the Master Tax Commission and on funding measures brought before the Legislature. The Newtonville Library is located at 345 Walnut Street.

The Resource Committee includes Mrs. Richard Goldman, Mrs. Charles Lipson, and Mrs. Lawrence Rubin.

League members are urged to attend and register their views on the controversial issues of taxes. Husbands and guests are invited.

For further information call Mrs. A. Arthur Loewenthal, discussion unit chairman, 332-3008, or Mrs. Thomas Wolf, membership chairman, 332-8691.

Fishman Urges Swift Steps To Build New Main Library

Representatives Irving Fishman declared yesterday that Newton needs a new main library and has delayed too long in building one.

"If the library had been built four years ago, when it should have been, it would have cost only half as much," asserted Fishman who is opposing Mayor Monte G. Basbas for election as the city's next chief municipal executive.

"Further delay would be costly in every sense," Fishman asserted.

The problem of choosing a site for a new library was turned over to a committee more than four years ago, Fishman continued, adding that no satisfactory solution has been found.

"Now, the present Newton Corner location, because of the Massachusetts Turnpike and the construction of the Gateway Center, is becoming more and more inaccessible," Representative Fishman said.

"There are both traffic and pedestrian problems, and there is no room for any expansion," declared Fishman who expressed the conviction that expansion is essential to provide Newton with the library services it needs.

Fishman asserted that on the basis of his own study he believes Newton Centre is the appropriate place for the new main library.

"The Friends of the Newton Free Library, an organization which has been in existence for over five years, has studied the problem thoroughly and believes that the Centre location is the best, primarily because of its accessibility by many means of transportation, he stated.

"It has been reported that a site in Newton Centre has been offered for sale specifically for the purpose of building the new library, and the Friends are planning to raise money from the people of Newton and present the site to the city," Fishman reported.

"A new heart in the library system will pump new blood in the branch libraries," Mr. Fishman said. The branches are very important for the villages, and services to them could and would be improved if the facilities and personnel of the main library were extended and improved. In addition, serious study would be given to the use of bookmobiles for the elderly and for supplementing the needs of the elementary schools."

Door-to-Door Drive Sunday

Cystic Fibrosis Meeting Here Sets Campaign Plan

Mrs. Richard Barnett of Newton was hostess recently for a "Coffee for Cystic Fibrosis" at her home where 20 women heard Dr. Kon-Taik Khaw of the C/F Center at Boston's Children's Hospital outline recent progress in C/F research.

"Cystic Fibrosis, the most common serious lung disease has baffled a generation of doctors and scientists, but is at last beginning to yield up its secrets," Dr. Khaw said.

Cystic Fibrosis, which affects one in every thousand babies, is a disease involving the lungs and digestive system and rivals the many forms of cancer as a killer of children. It is estimated that one in twenty adults is a carrier of a "recessive" gene producing the malady for which there is presently no cure.

Dr. Khaw emphasized that advances in treatment have prolonged the lives and liveability of children afflicted with this disease.

The improvement is due in large part to the work done at the 110 C/F Centers throughout the country where more precise diagnosis, better therapy and promising scientific research has developed.

Mrs. Milton B. Gray, Brookline, a member of the Board of Directors of the Massachusetts C/F Chapter, described the Breath of Life campaign. This year the C/F research Foundation will broaden its services to include children with all chronic lung diseases closely resembling C/F.

A door-to-door drive is scheduled in Newton for Sunday, September 28th, the day Governor Sargent has proclaimed "Cystic Fibrosis Day."

Contributions will help finance research into the controls and cures for this as yet uncontrolled killer of children.

Great Books Discussion At Free Library September 30

What is this Great Books business at the Newton Free Library all about? Come to the September 30 open house from 8 to 10 p.m. at the Newtonville Branch and talk it over with leader Irving Sanders and assistant Esther Cimo.

The group meets on alternate Tuesday evenings throughout the year, and membership is open to anyone in the community.

Ionesco's "The Lesson" is the first work to be read and discussed by the group. Ionesco is the progenitor of the type of contemporary drama known as the theatre of the absurd, and is one of those writers whose plays of confusion have revolutionized the theatre.

His plays have no interest in plot, character, realistic dialogue, or any familiar standards of the theatre. Instead they aim at sinking the reader in a local dramatic situation where his own fears and hopes are acted out in an atmosphere as absorbing as a nightmare. The general impression of Ionesco is, nevertheless, that he is funny, and, of course, he is. Underlying the philosophical despair is a wild unpredictable wit which makes the reader laugh.

Ionesco will be followed by Freud on October 14.

Dostoyevsky on October 28, Mann on November 18 and Aeschylus on December 2.

Books read by the group are available for purchase in paperback at the Main Library.

Simple refreshments will be served at the September 30 open house at Newtonville Branch Library.

McPherson said he saw the car nearing and thought it was turning onto the overpass of the Massachusetts Turnpike.

Police said there 60 feet of skid marks on the road. McPherson was held for treatment at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

$35,614 Given Over To City By School Bd.

The School Committee voted formally to turn over $35,614.16 to the City of Newton at its Monday night meeting. The money was given Newton by the federal government under public law 81-874.

School Committeeman Edwin Hawkridge explained to reporters that the funds are a compensation regularly made by the federal government to communities where there are children of government employees who would not ordinarily live in those areas.

In separate action the School Board voted to request the Board of Aldermen to turn over insurance received on money stolen in April from the Bigelow School. The $400 stolen was covered by insurance.

School Committeeman Vincent P. Stanton objected to bothering the Aldermen with such routine matters. Mayor Monte G. Basbas, who is an ex-officio member of the School Board, explained that the action, although unimportant, was required by law.

Committee member Francis P. Frazier pointed out that School Committee policy requires that such money be kept in the school safe.

DeCarlo Issues Statment On Lower Falls Renewal Project

The following statement was issued this week by Mario DeCarlo, chairman, Newton Redevelopment Authority, in which he states his position in the current controversy involving the Newton Lower Falls renewal project. Following is Mr. DeCarlo's statement:

"In recent weeks there have been allegations made with increasing frequency and severity concerning actions and statements attributed to me as the Chairman of the Newton Redevelopment Authority which, if true, would indicate improper conduct and violation of the public trust inherent in my position.

"I have no wish to engage in a public name-calling contest, and I shall not do so. However, as Chairman of the Authority, I cannot remain silent.

"I refuse to let anybody compromise not only my own integrity, but that of other members of the Authority and of all the public officers who are in any way involved in the plans or actions of the Authority. The facts in the matter are these:

"The allegations have come from Mr. Martin J. Roach, of Wellesley, a former owner of a tract of vacant land that constitutes most of the acreage of the State-aided renewal project in Newton Lower Falls.

"This project was approved in May of 1968 by the residents of the area and by the Board of Aldermen. The Board's approval was unanimous, and at the public hearing that preceded it, no opposition was expressed by any resident or non-resident.

In due course, almost one year later (last April), the Authority gave notice to Mr. Roach of its intention to take the land by eminent domain in accordance with the state plan. Up until that time, Mr. Roach had been free to develop the land as he saw fit, within the existing zoning restrictions.

The land has always been zoned for single-family residences. It was this zoning that permitted the owner to buy the land for the relatively low prices he paid. It is this zoning that by law dictates the value of the land for the purpose of any taking by eminent domain.

The price which the Redevelopment Authority offered was based on appraisals made by independent, qualified appraisers acting in accordance with law.

Oddly enough, right up to the receipt a few months ago of notice of the Authority's intention to make a taking, neither Mr. Roach nor anyone acting for him, has ever brought before the Board of Aldermen a petition for rezoning of the land for more intensive, and hence more valuable, use.

Mr. Roach took no steps to develop the land within its present zoning. His only activity has been to sell and remove a sizeable amount of natural gravel that existed on the land.

Now that the plan has been adopted, and the land has been legally acquired by the Authority, Mr. Roach is trying to create the impression that he could have developed the land himself for commercial use (and thus realize a far higher sale price on the land). He charges that I, by the actions he alleges, illegally forestalled these efforts.

This statement is untrue.

Let me cite, as an example, one of the most serious charges that Mr. Roach has made. He claims that I advised representatives of a Boston based insurance company to wait until the Authority acquired title to the land because they could purchase it at half the price quoted by Mr. Roach.

This statement is so patently absurd that I chose to ignore it when it was first made because it did not deserve the dignity of a reply.

Representatives from the Boston based insurance company have refuted this statement made by Mr. Roach. But, this and other allegations, equally untrue, have been repeated many times since by Mr. Roach.

The rights of all property owners are fully protected under law, and the proper forum to air any allegations is the courts. It can only be surmised that, lacking a solid case in court, Mr. Roach has chosen to make damaging and utterly false statements in the public press in an effort to raise a public clamor to have the project halted.

It would be a tragedy if he were to succeed, not because of the failure of the project, but because of the loss of confidence such a result would entail in all of the public bodies involved in this process.

One man's reckless statements must not be permitted to discredit this Authority and to that end, I invite complete scrutiny of all my actions and those of the Authority by anyone who responsibly wishes to obtain all of the facts.

MARIO DICARLO
Chairman
Newton Redevelopment Authority

Delay Sought in Boosting Turnpike Extension Tolls

Representative H. James Shea, Jr., of Newton yesterday called for an eight-months delay in raising the toll rates for the Turnpike Extension.

Shea said he was requesting the delay in a letter to Turnpike Authority Chairman John T. Driscoll in order that he might seek action on a bill he is filing in the Legislature.

His measure, he declared, would permit the gasoline tax fund accrued from the toll road to be used to make up the Extension interest deficit.

Shea also expressed the belief that an eight-months delay in boosting the tolls might permit the Extension to become financially self-supporting.

He pointed out that "in 1968 the Extension's net revenue equaled 90 per cent of the interest cost. This represents a 15 per cent improvement over the 1967 figure of 75 per cent," he declared.

"I suggest that this figure may project in the near future to over 100 per cent making the toll increase unnecessary. This seems quite possible in that net revenues for the Extension increased from 1967 to 1968 by 18.8 per cent while your operating expenses increased by only 8.3 per cent," he said in his letter to Driscoll.

Shea concluded his letter to Turnpike Authority Chairman Driscoll by stating: "I suggest that the motoring public, your consumers and my constituents, deserve this consideration. Your cooperation would be appreciated."
